Games

Fine Arts...141

Music, drama, art, and creative writing are different aspects of the fine arts. One of the more popular games with the Drama students is to see who can count the most number of dots on the ceiling.

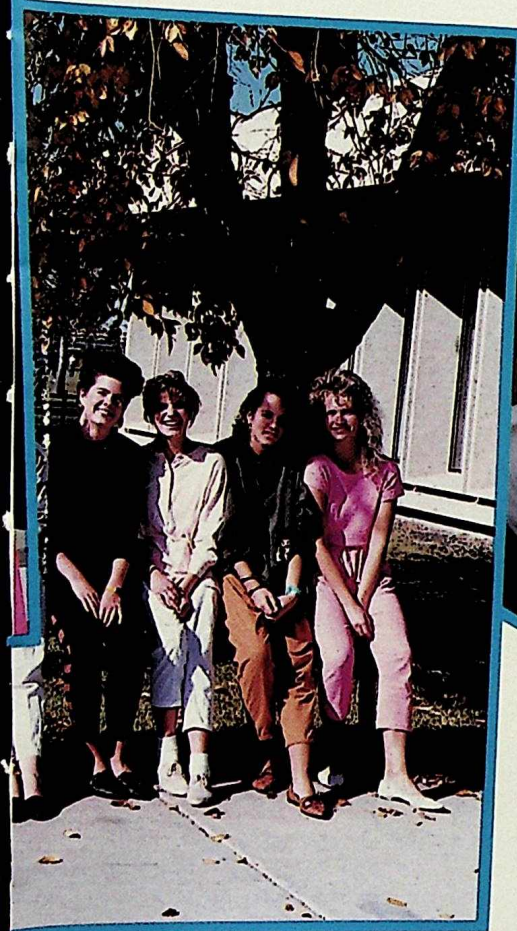

Athletics...17

There are many types of athletic events in the school. (You have to see some of them to believe them.) One of the popular pastimes of every team is looking for a teammate's lost contact lens.

Activities...74

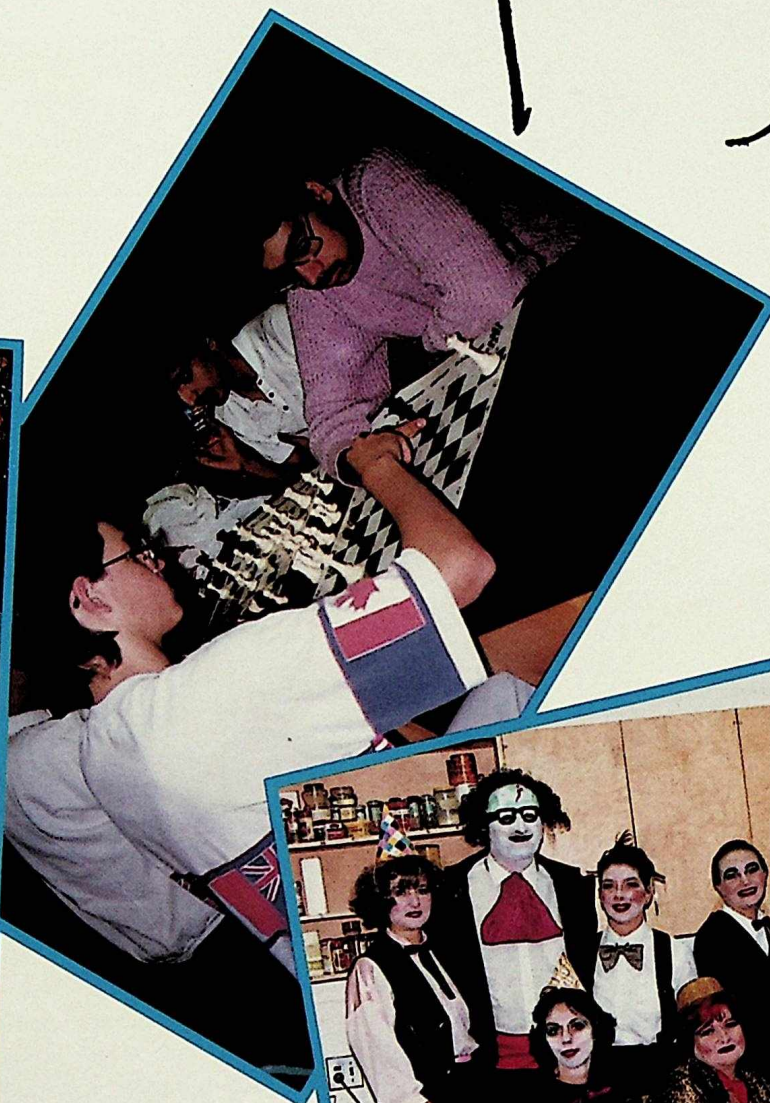

Hop around the book and take a look at the variety of activities that go on around our great school!

we play

Students...51 ...63 ...105

And they're off!... Grade tens fresh out of the starting gate, elevens heading for the home stretch, and grade twelves crossing the finish line.

Clubs...89

From Chess to Badminton to Debate, clubs play a wide variety of games. Look inside to see what they're all about!

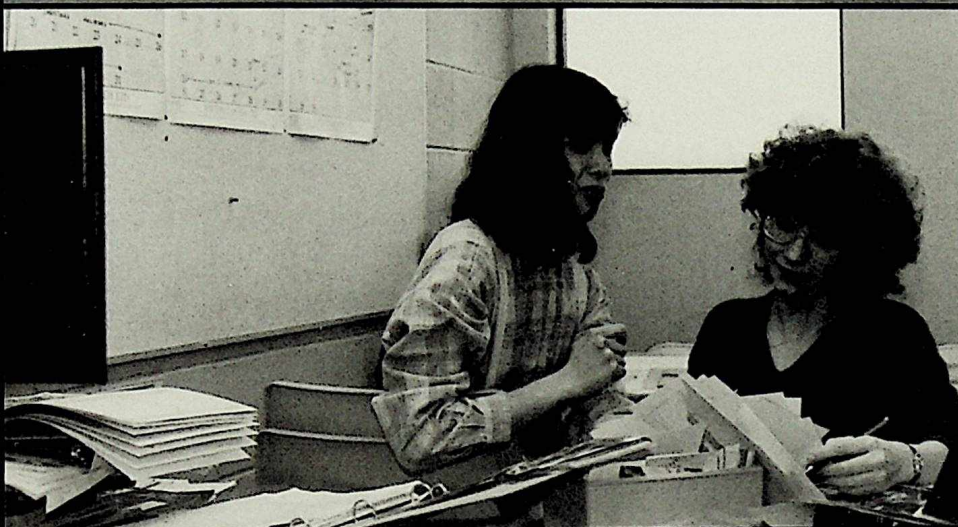

Staff...42

After a stressful day of teaching classes, teachers get together and play "Who Survived Burnout?". Tonight's winner is...

Things that you are sick of hearing us say:

1. We don't want this yearbook to be boring. (You're suggesting a yearbook can be interesting?)
2. We want good write-ups. (If I wanted to write, I would have joined the newspaper.)
3. When are you going to come in and work? (Stop nagging, I'll come in some time.)
4. We think it would be better if... (You mean that I actually have to change this?)

Things that we are sick of hearing you say:

1. Can you come here and look at this? (Yes, as soon as we see the ten people who were before you.)
2. HELPPPP!!! (Really, we're not hard of hearing.)
3. (blank layout in hand) What do I do with this?
4. Where should these go? (See the box labelled "Layouts" in large block letters?)
5. When do we need this stuff in by? (last Tuesday)

Editors' Message

"Editors of the Yearbook? You have got to be kidding!" These were our first thoughts when we were given the news that we were to be the editors of the '88 Yearbook. After we overcame our initial shock, we came face to face with another when we found out that we had to plan out every single page of the 168-page yearbook. Being rookies, we began the yearbook with lots of enthusiasm - we were going to have meetings every week, hundreds of students helping us out and the most marvelous yearbook the world has ever seen. However, we soon found out that these expectations were not quite realistic. True, we had meetings but less frequently. True, many students offered to help, but when it came down to the crunch, they suddenly could not find the yearbook room. As to the yearbook being magnificent, that's for you to judge.

As the first deadline approached, we realized that we would need to have afterschool work sessions simply because nothing was getting done. Thus, we began coming in every Friday to work (hint, hint) on the yearbook. We didn't plan it, but we somehow always ended up staying until the caretakers threatened to sweep us out. Our wackiest ideas sprouted from our fertile minds when we were too tired to think, let alone think properly. After a few hours, everything seemed hilarious (especially to Sandra, who couldn't stop giggling once she began, as those few hardy souls who stayed will verify). Working on the yearbook was so exhausting that we had to munch non-stop to keep our energy levels up. Slowly however, things did get done at these sessions.

As the first deadline passed, we began to work on the yearbook in the few minutes before the morning bell rang, in between classes, during lunch hour and after school. We even had to sacrifice (ha! ha!) some class time for the precious yearbook. Eventually, we managed to get it all in to Mr. Granger, the Friesen Yearbook Representative, before he turned blue in the face telling us to hand it in.

Working on the yearbook was frustrating at times and hilarious at other times, but never boring. We learned how to organize - we have made so many lists that we could make a very long list of the lists we made. We learned that procrastination is part of human nature, and that if we didn't frequently give out gentle (not so gentle?) reminders, nothing would ever get done. When we started, we hardly knew what we were getting into, but looking back, we feel that it has been an experience which has been worth all the toil and time we spent on it.

(Sigh) 243 days till the last day of school.

You can't be serious. This is what we'll be studying this year?!

Opening Ceremonies

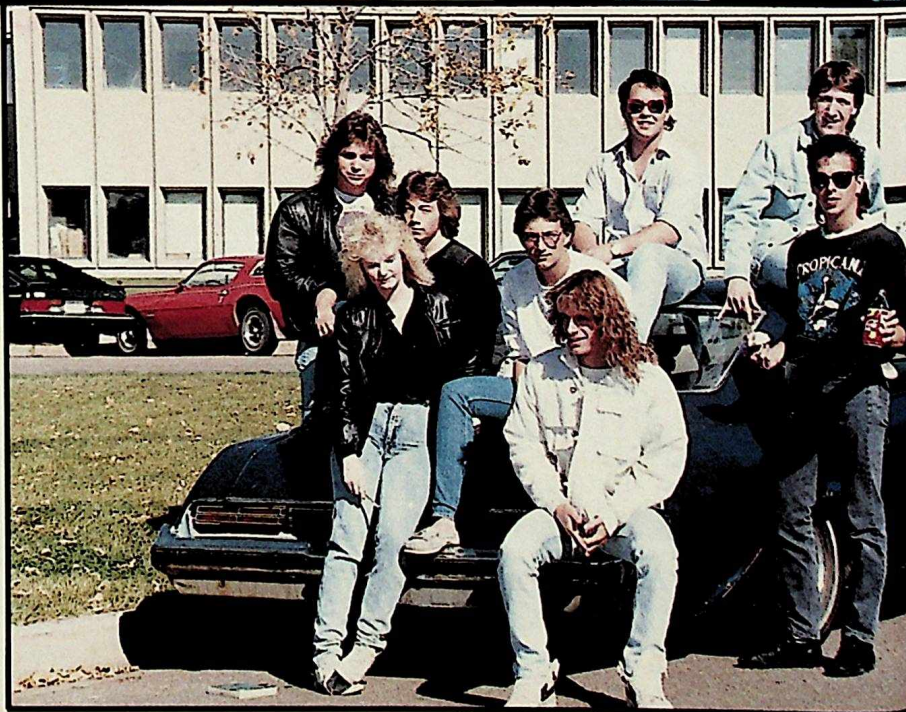

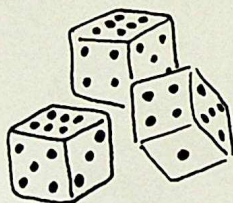

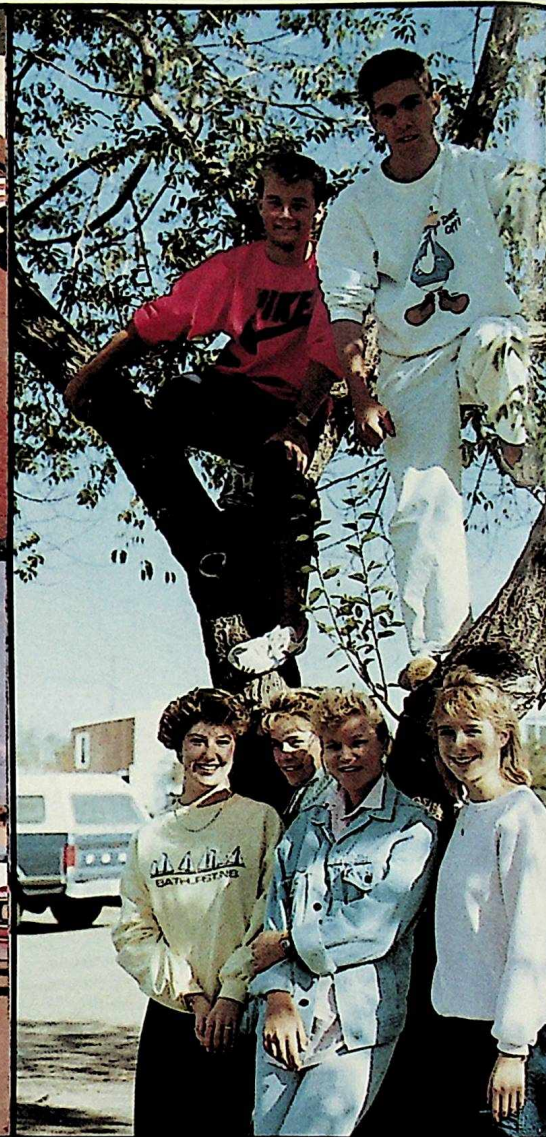

Beep, beep, beep, BANG!!! There, you've just shut off your alarm clock. As you get ready for the first day of school, thoughts of what you hope to do during the school year run through your mind. With school supplies in hand, you enter the hallways of McNally, wondering what lies ahead....

BIRDS OF A FEATHER . . .

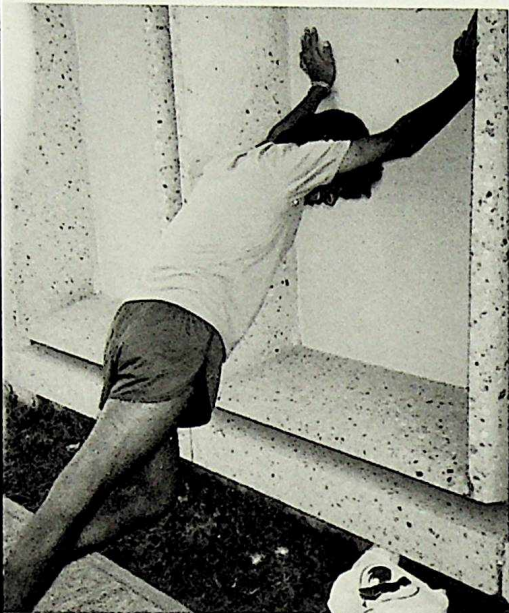

The McNally Turkey Trot, an event where one can join in friendly competition, endure a few miles of pain, and if you place well enough, win a frozen turkey!

Seriously though, this annual event brings people from all over the city to compete. Unlike a long marathon, the trot is designed for fun, not to see whether you win or lose, but more to enjoy some fresh air and good exercise.

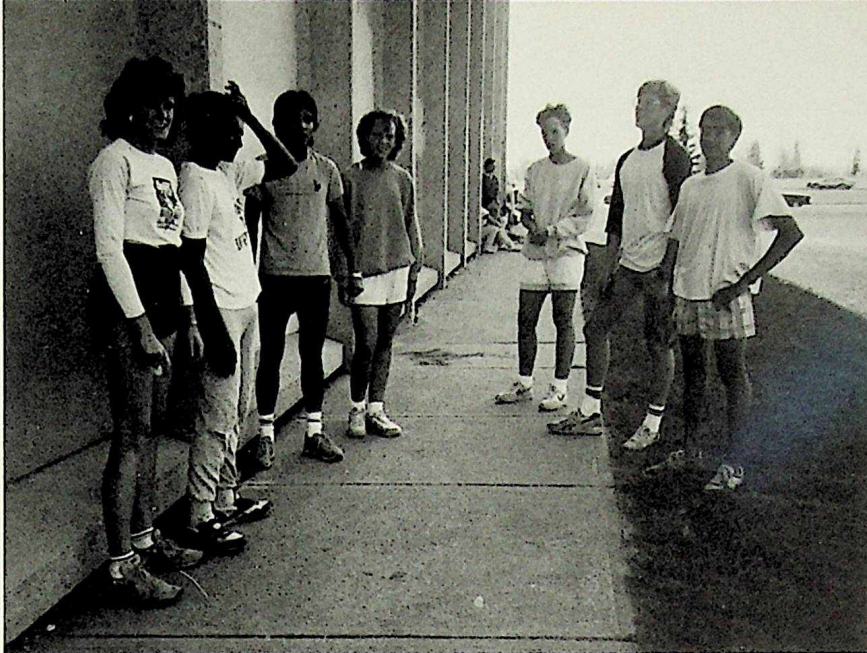

CROSS-COUNTRY RUNNING TEAM

Members: Carmen Bartman, Riyaz Bhairwala, Leigh Chapman, Jesse Coull, Craig Decoursey, Nola Huley, Sarb Khatra, Paul Kozak, Robb Massey, David McBride, Betty Morrison, Peggy Morrison, Greg Mossman, and Todd Pawlenchuk.

Try as he might, he could not move the wall.

UNACKNOWLEDGED

Let's hear it for your sneakers. You wear them to your gym class, to track practice, or to just walk in. Sneakers are the shoes that stay comfortable until they fall apart. They put up with the constant pounding and smell of your feet, as well as provide an alternative to wearing dress shoes all the time. (Ouch!) Amazingly enough, you never hear any demands or a word of complaint from them.

It's about time your sneakers got the recognition they deserve. So right now, go to your sneakers and tell them how much you appreciate all the hard work they do.

GOLFING TEAMS

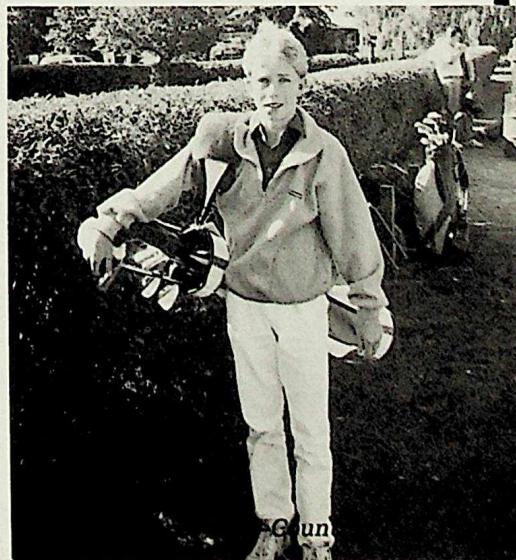

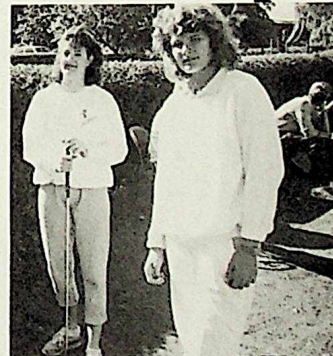

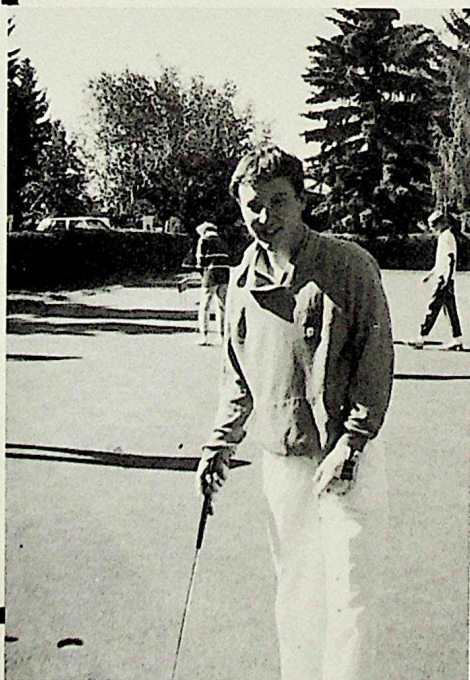

Team Members: Gordon Machon, Sherri Johnson, Kelly Peacock, Deborah Havrelock, Jason Davidson, Heather Lyttle, Miss Smith.

Teed Off!

Only a few minutes ago I was sitting with my friends talking about dimples. Then some golfer takes me and nearly drowns me in a golf ball washer. He's set me on a tee to dry. Now he's taking out a club. . . Hey buddy! Don't even think of hitting me with that.

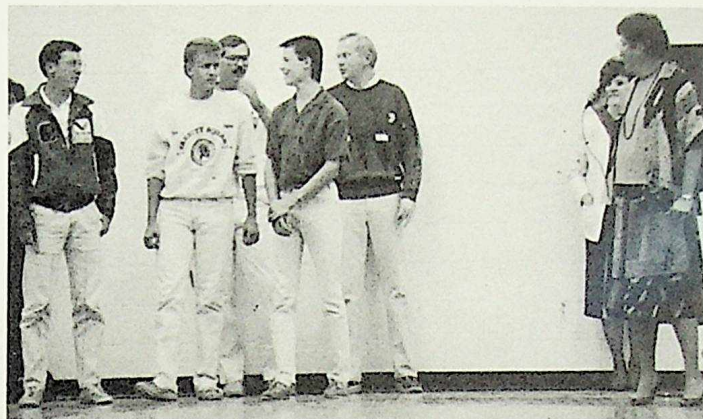

Those golf clubs hurt! What a great view from up here, I can see everything. Uh-ah! I'm starting to come down. Well, now I know one thing for certain; gravity worrrrrks! Oof!

Where's the ball?

AT PEP RALLIES

PYRAMID POWER

The Girls: Bottom Row: Sheryl Raivio, Michelle Mitchell (cap't), Nicki Pollon, Marnie Melnychuk, Niki Ranta (ass't cap't); Middle Row: Jodi Shewchuk, Mikaela Taylor. Top Row: Lisa Morris.

Teacher Sponsor: Eva Desze.*

This squad has combined pyramids, dance, gymnastic moves and traditional cheers into elaborate routines. They have performed these routines at pep rallies, at the Junior High Invitational Basketball Tournament, at Open House and at the occasional football and basketball game. The cheerleaders have represented McNally at various competitions: the CAPHER Tournament in December, the Tri-Regionals, the Cities and the Provincials held in February. They also qualified for the national championships held at West Edmonton Mall in April.

Front Row: Darren Chrapko (coach), Stephen Fay, Scott Shillington, Robin Mead, Senny Leong, Aleem Lalani, Han Lee, Jim Gilfillan (coach). Middle Row: Larry Dufresne (coach), Alex Beekman (coach), Tony Speers, Glenn Stevenson, Richard Wong, Keith Bain, Craig Southwick, Pat Sauve, Craig Needham, Phil Fay, Mike Weiss, Kevin Algajer, Jee Lee, Tim Rudiak, Gerald Kunyk (coach), Steve Holzer (coach). Back Row: Colin Roggeveen, Scott Jones, Jesse Monck, Stephen Day, Scott Ashton, Craig Smitten, Doug Axani, Rob Hopkins, Craig Horvath, Darren Kershaw, Clarence Nelson. Missing: Kelly Polzin, Troy Walker, Conrad Bodnar, Travis Griffin, Paul White, Gerry Ursulak.

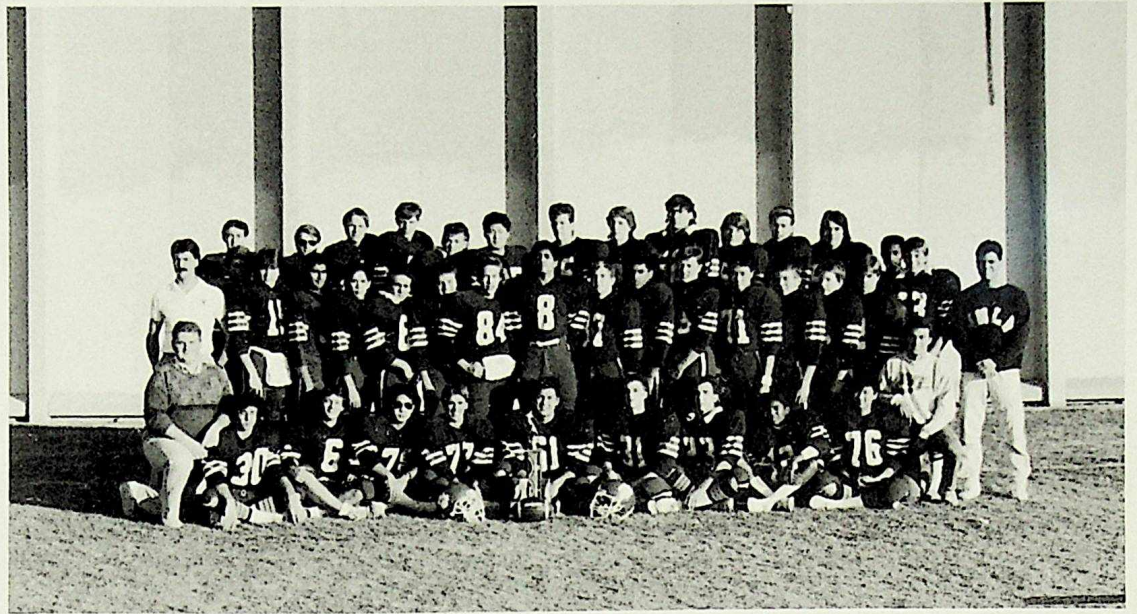

The first game against Scona was 0-0. For the next 4 games nobody could score against the Tigers. The Senior Tigers capped off an undefeated season with a 50-0 win over the Eastglen Blue Devils and won the Gilfillan Conference. A special moment was when Tiger defensive coach, Coach Gilfillan, presented the trophy, named in his honour, to the members of his team.

JUNIOR TEAM

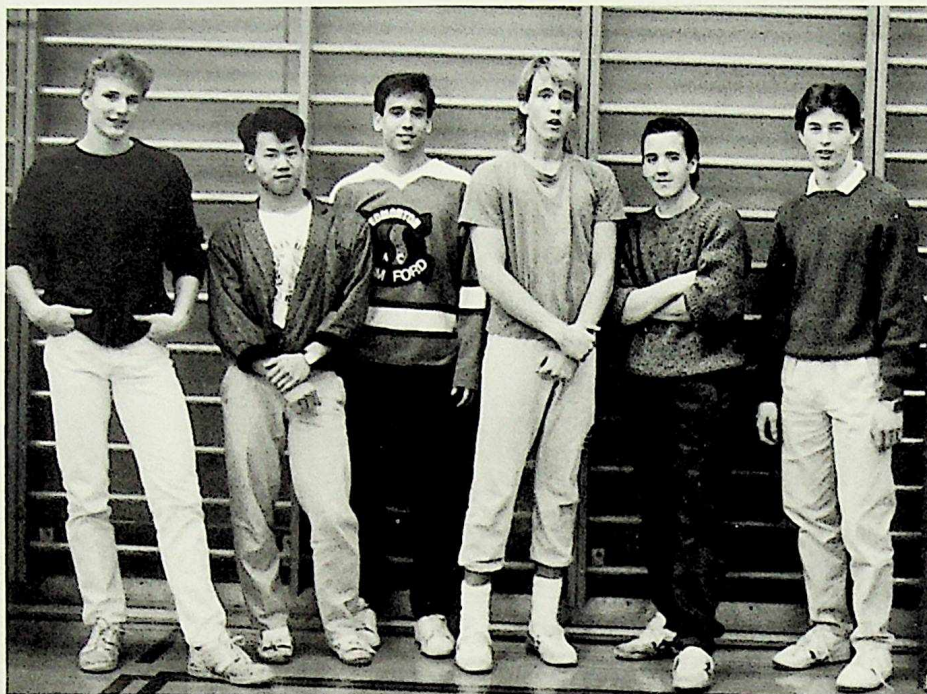

The Junior Tigers had a fantastic season with a record of 5 wins, 0 losses, and 1 tie (identical to the record of the Senior Tigers). They had a defence that didn't let the other teams score. In the final game, the Tigers fell behind in the first half to the Holy Trinity Trojans. The Junior Tigers exhibited a lot of heart and desire to come back and win the city championship by a score of 47-38.

Kent Richter (Manager)

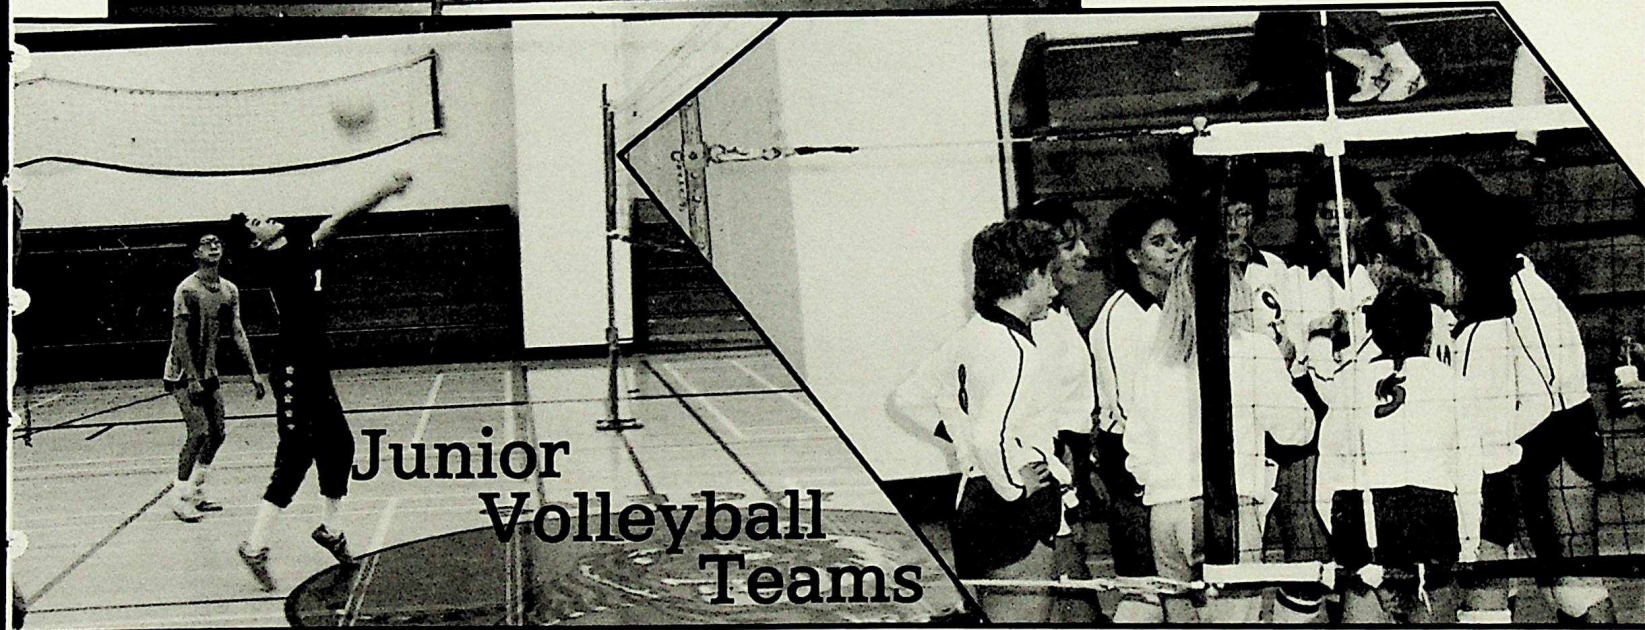

Junior Boys Volleyball Team

Back row: Rob Valpy, Dwayne Keehn, Gord Jones, Mark Tran, Haivan Tran. Front row: Ed Chan, Mark Jung, Daniel Devloo, Mike Youn, Alex Chaw. Missing: Kelly Huskie (coach).

Junior Volleyball Teams

Medal Winning Season

Although the medals the girls won were not gold, they came — oh so close. At the city finals played at Victoria C.H.S. the McNally Tigers played five exciting games against Harry Ainlay in front of a large group of exuberant McNally fans. The team placed second, and along with H.A. represented Edmonton in the Provincial Volleyball Tournament.

On the day the girls left for the Provincials, McNally Students and staff moved quietly to the large gym to give a SURPRISE pep rally before they boarded the bus (that contained the Scona boys team) for their trip to Grande Prairie. And again the girls proved to be fine representatives of McNally, and McNally spirit and pride.

Road Trip

During the season, McNally teams (volleyball, basketball, rugby) leave Edmonton to participate in tournaments. Here's a pictorial resume of the senior girls volleyball team's trip to Saskatoon to compete in a tournament at the U of S.

Junior Tigers

At the beginning of the season, both teams were not picked (by so called Eexperts) to do very well this season. But under the guidance of the coaches and with the boys determined effort and improved play, both teams were very competitive and made it into the playoff round. GREAT EFFORT TIGERS!!!

At the beginning of the season, the junior girls team was undefeated in City Conference play. This success elevated the team to competition within the Premier Conference. The team finished in 8th place in this top conference and made the playoffs. The girls were defeated in the quarter finals to end a very successful season under the guidance of Coach Melney.

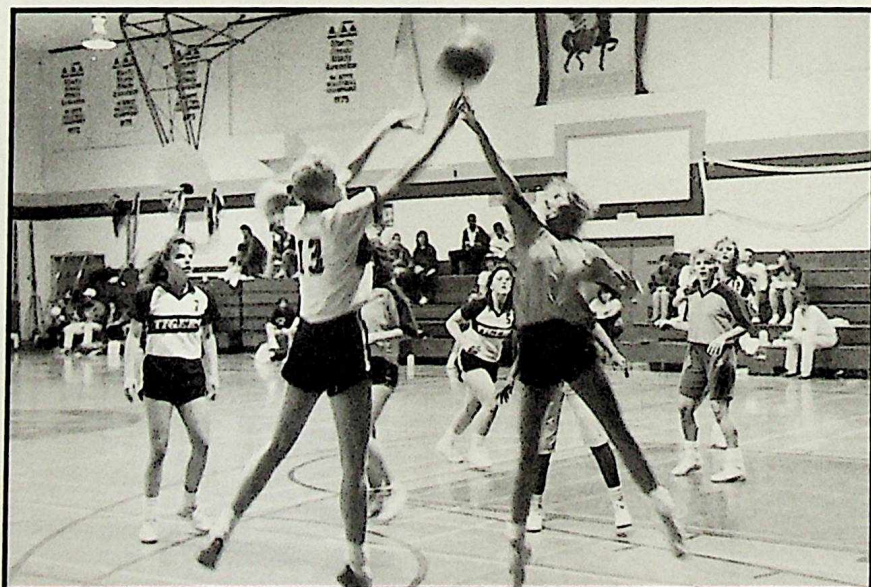

Senior Girls' Basketball Team

L to R: Cynthia Romaine, Donna Devloo, Lisa Morin, Sheryl Alger, Amber Park. Coaches: Leeann Lennon, Shelley Cranston, Wanda Johannessen, Leeanne White, Shauna Burns, Terri McLean.

The team finished 9th in their conference and missed a playoff position in a close game against Bonnie Doon at the end of the season. The girls showed a tremendous amount of pride in trying to improve their standing in the city conference — which they did. They had many close games throughout the year and were recognized as a competitive team.

Swim-Sync

The butterfly. The breaststroke. The backstroke. The individual medley. The freestyle. Do any of these words ring a bell? How about the doggie-paddle??

This is swimming (minus the doggie-paddle), and all the above (minus the doggie-paddle) are what the McNally swim team members do. Swimming, an exciting sport is ventured only by girls who take to the water better than they do to solid ground, and by guys who don't mind shaving their legs.

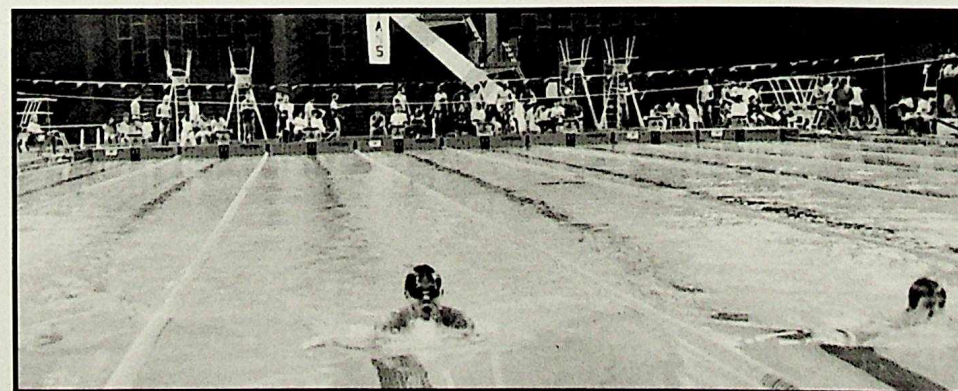

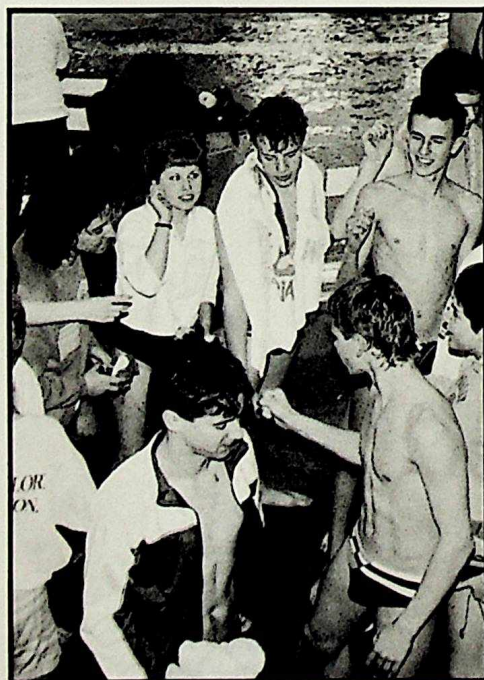

The team, coached by Mr. Kupchenko, had a good showing at their competitions, and completed a fine year. Next year it should be even better. And don't worry guys, the hair should grow in over the summer.

A Sweeping Success

The McNally curling team was very successful this year, winning a city championship. McNally had six teams (three senior boys teams, two junior boys teams, and one girls team) who competed in the Greater Edmonton's Teachers League. In league play, one of the senior boys finished 3rd in the A event, while the other two teams competed in the D event; one winning it and the other team tying for second place. Meanwhile, the girls team finished 2nd overall in the A event, and one junior boys team won the A event and team B came in 3rd in their division.

Then came the playoffs! Unfortunately, the senior boys and the girls team lost in the semi-finals, but gave it a great effort. However, the big news was the junior boys A team, who came through to capture the city championship. All in all, it was a great year and the curling teams should be proud. Good job Mr. Gilbey and all team members!!!

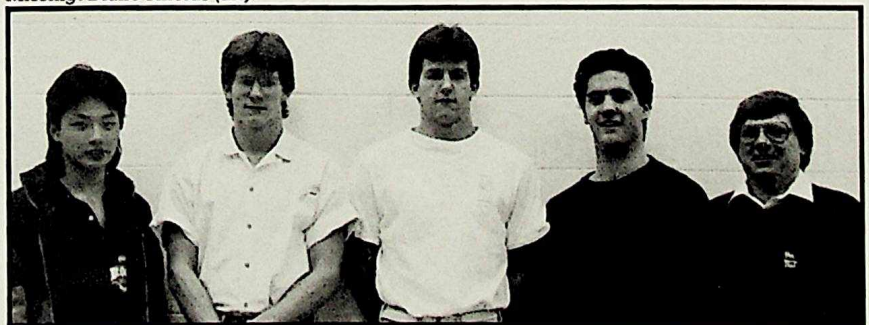

JUNIOR BOYS: TEAM B

Steven Flak (skip), Rob Massey (third), Daryl Gurin (second). Missing: Mahaboob Manji (lead).

GIRLS TEAM

Mel Zimmerman (skip), Janet Meger (third), Sheri Johnson (second), Cari Smith (lead). Missing: Diane Shields (alt).

SENIOR BOYS: TEAM B

Senny Leung, Steven Fay, Phil Fay, Gerry Ursulak (skip), Mr. Gilbey (coach/advisor).

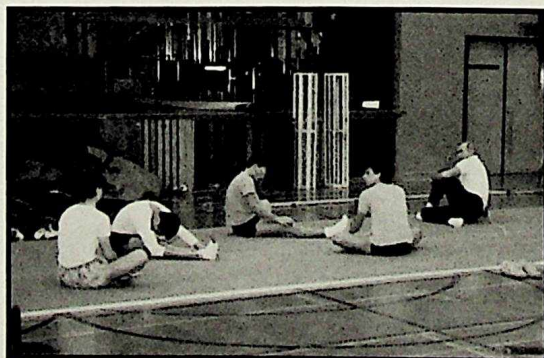

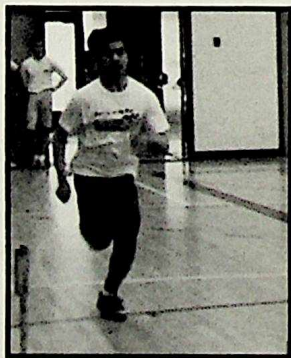

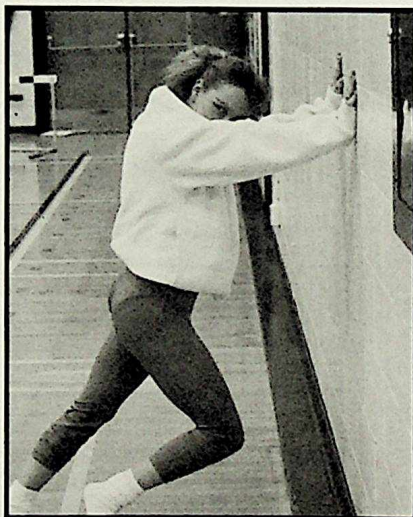

Practicing — practicing

Track and Field

Rugby

Track and field athletes started conditioning for their events in mid-March. Students were seen practicing hurdles, pole vaulting, discus throwing and other track and field events in the small and large gyms. Head coach D. Johnston and other coaches from the phys. ed. department were preparing the competitors for meets to be held in late May and early June. One of the biggest problems facing some of the team members is the fact that Grad and city finals are going to be held on the same day. Another problem facing all the athletes is that they have to finish in the top two in Cities to go on to Provincials.

Rugby is one tough sport made for guys who can handle pain. Actually, rugby isn't that bad; to be truthful, it's fun and exhilarating. Rugby is the original football, only without protective pads. The basics of the game are as follows: All of the players join together and scrum. The winner of the scrum then passes the ball sideways to his teammates, and the team moves up the field. They then keep moving up the field to try and score, while dodging the opponents. At the time of publication McNally's rugby team haven't played any games, but one look at their practices and you can see the Tigers will have a successful season. They plan to compete in the Ross Sheppard Inter-Provincial and the International Tournament in Victoria, where teams from England and Ireland will be competing. The guys should do well in all their games, and with a first ever Junior team, more athletes will have a chance to compete in McNally colors.

Due to publication deadlines, some teams have not been chosen. These teams may not have started league play before we went to press, but they have started to practice.*

'TIL A TEAM IS PICKED

Teams

Soccer

TO BE OR NOT TO BE

There is TO BE a girls soccer team this year. The team will be starting their practices after spring break (so we don't have pictures of the interested girls).

Now this is the question!

At first, there was no boys' team — no coaches. (Dr. Salmon, Mr. Gilbey retired from the coaching ranks.)

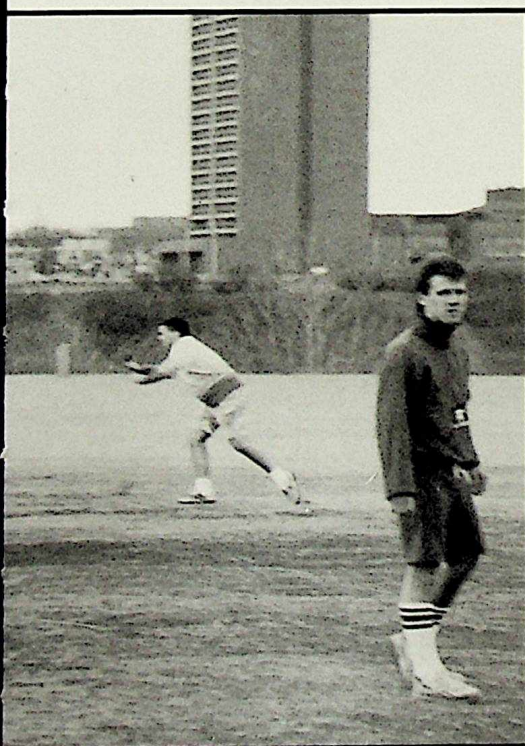

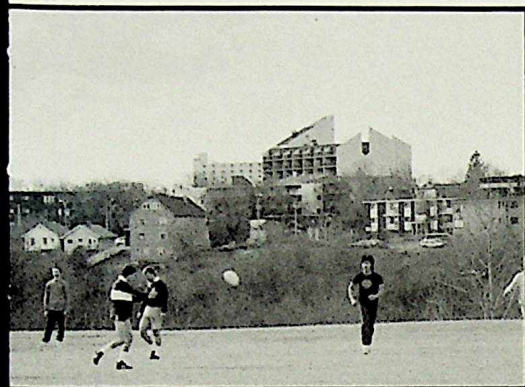

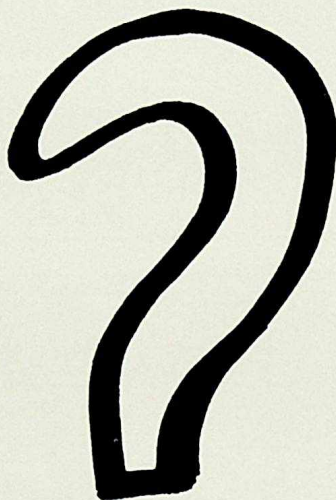

Then there was a senior boys' team — found a coach!

Then there wasn't a soccer team — no teacher advisor.

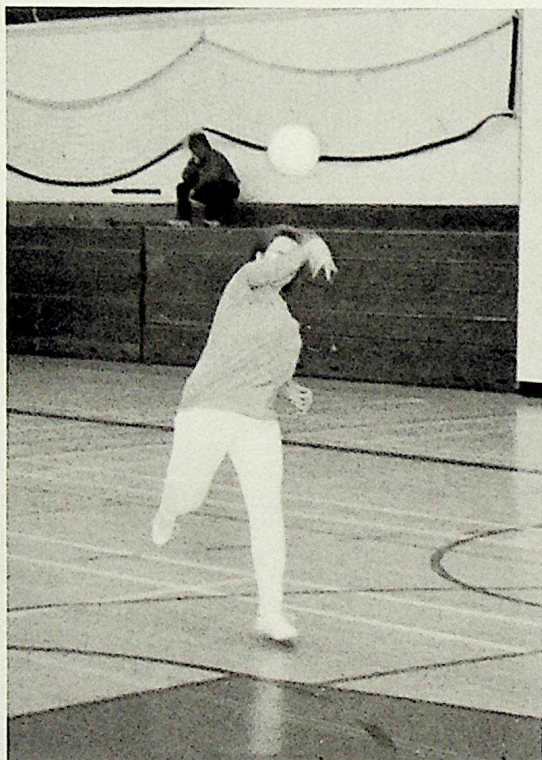

Then there was a teacher advisor, but was there going to be a soccer team??

It has been a very difficult spring for the 40-50 enthusiastic boys at McNally that would like to play soccer. A group of students, led by some dedicated grade 12 soccer players found a person willing to coach, organized a meeting and had over 30 boys sign up to play soccer. The names have been presented to those in charge but at this time (March 25, 1988) no decision has been reached.

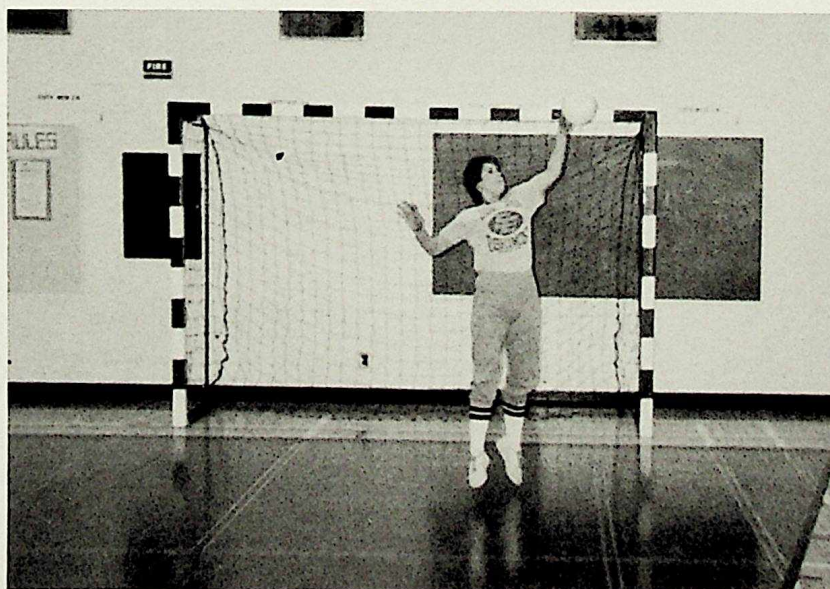

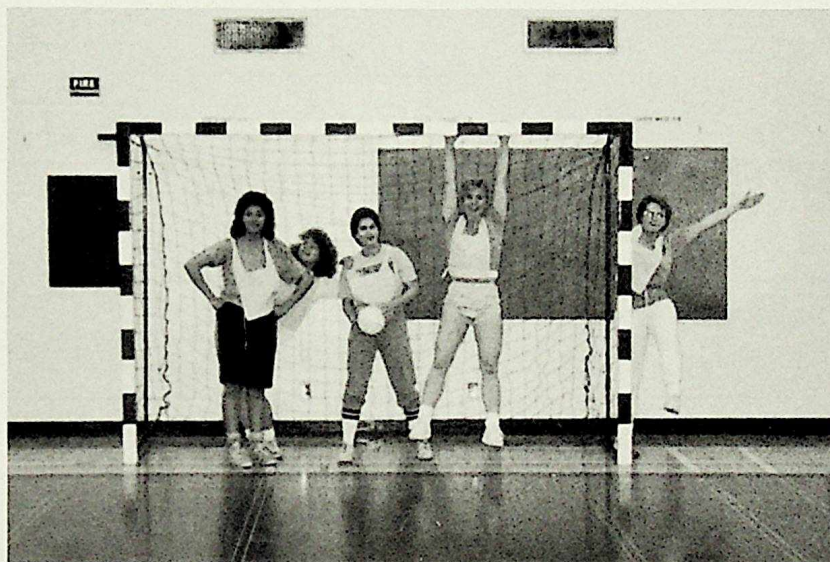

The Trend hopes that there will be McNally Tigers representing us in soccer competition.

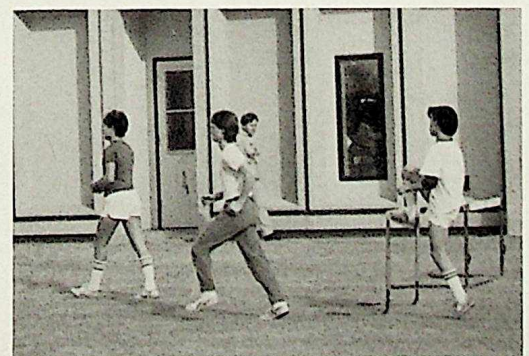

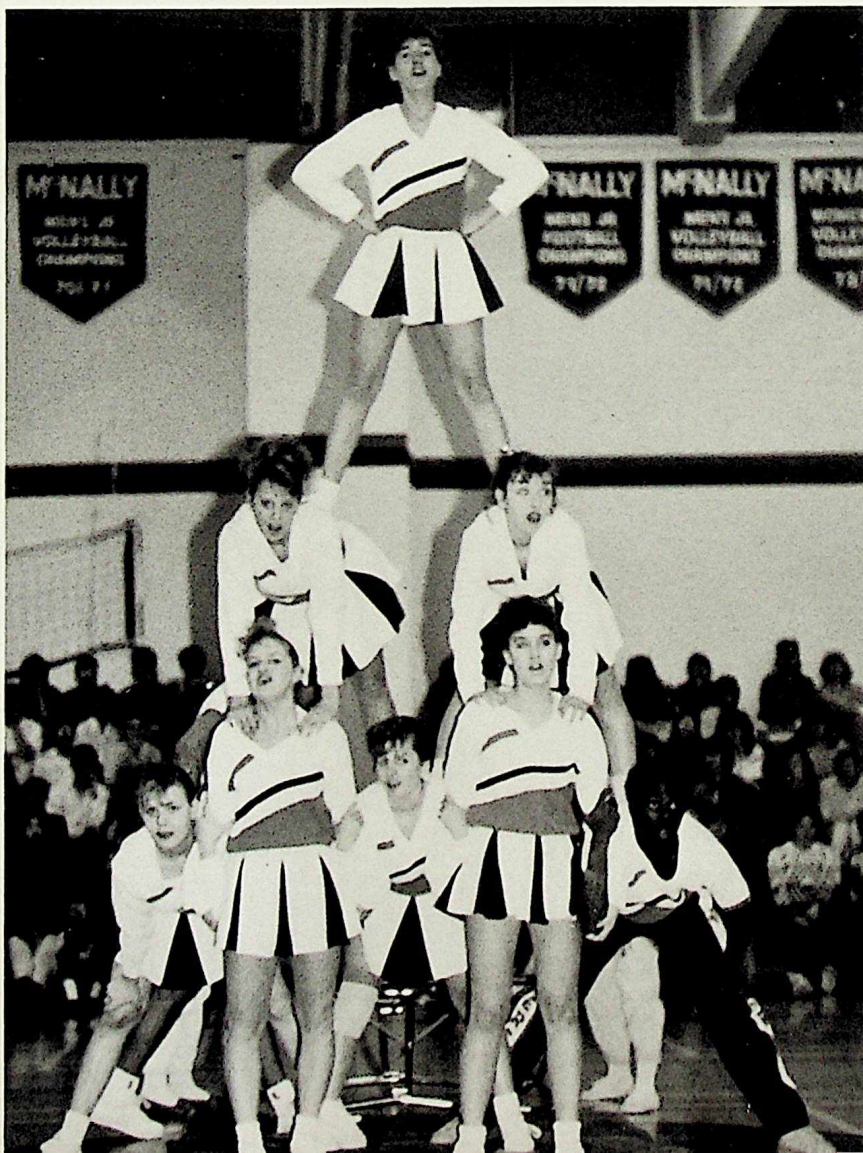

Intramurals

As a McNally tradition, intramural games were played at noon. This sharpened the skills of the participants and gave them practice for their gym classes or teams. Many different games were played. These include volleyball, basketball, handball, wrestling, and a few others. This excludes the interesting sports like rumbles, fist fights, and drinking contests (root-beer only of course) which are not school sponsored. Despite the exclusion of these events (officially anyway), intramurals was a great success this year.

SCIENTIFIC UPDATE

Hair of the Scalp

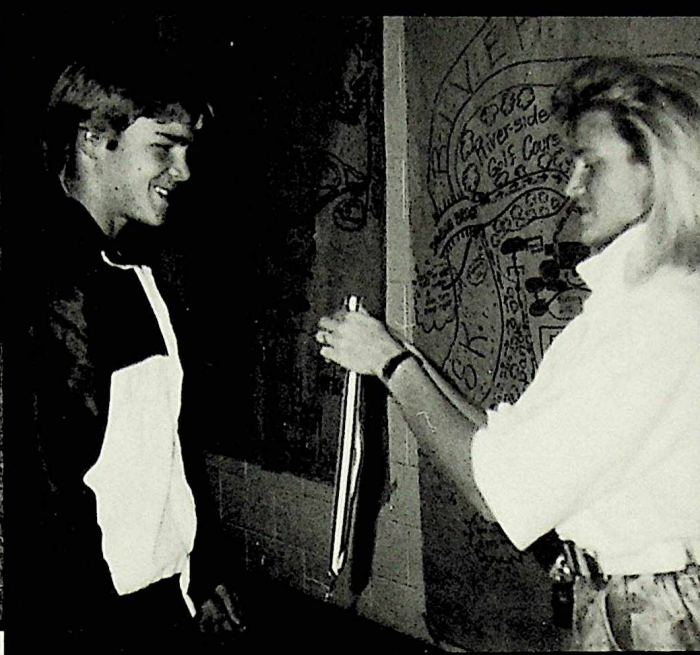

(everything you ever wanted to know or didn't want to know about hair)

Did you ever wonder about hair? If you didn't, you're going to find out anyway. Hair is stuff primarily found on the head. One good point about hair is that it keeps your head warm in the winter. It also prevents accidents from the glare off bald pedestrians. One of its bad points is that it shelters microorganisms causing diseases of the scalp. An example of such a microorganism is the cyclicmonostabletrincus virus that causes perforations in the epidermal layer of the scalp. Extensive and accelerated evaporation of the moisture and precious oils in the epidermis can occur. The result is tiny fragments of dried skin that fall off the scalp and are the major source of household dust. Another microorganism which adores living on the scalp is the white infectious parasite. Lice, as it is otherwise known, can be seen jumping from head to head, especially when an infected person gets on a crowded bus. The few "jumpers" turn into many, and by the time the person gets off, the interior of the bus looks like a winter blizzard. A cure for these two problems is synthetic hair. That's right, a wig. After all, no hair, no lice.

SPORTING DEFINITIONS

ATHLETE – A person who has a thing for pain. (See RUGBY)

AUTOGRAPH – An athlete's undecipherable signature.

BADMINTON – A game that raises a lot of raquets.

CHEERLEADERS – Often watched more than the game.

CROSS-COUNTRY RUNNING – Punishment, pain, and torture.

FANS – Sports observers who are steadfastly loyal to their favorite sports team, unless the team is losing.

GOLF – Low activity sport played by many clubs.

HELMUT – A piece of protective equipment worn by teachers while in the hallways.

HIKING – Very slow running.

INTRAMURALS – A group of sports activities held captive inside a high school.

JOCK – A macho athlete that can play any sport without equipment.

KNEE-PADS – Something a Jock would never wear.

LOSER – The person slaughtered by the end of the game by the winner. RUGBY – A thing for pain. DOWN-HILL SKIING – Strong verification of the laws of gravity. SWEAT SOCKS – Effective anti-personnel weapon. SPECTATOR SPORTS – Sports in which the participants try to be as passive as possible, i.e. Televised baseball. STAR – A person whose accomplishments are almost as great their ego. SWIMMING – Something done by people who are all wet. TRACK & FIELD – A series of sports events in which the winner is determined by seeing who has the most number of points and can still stand at the end.

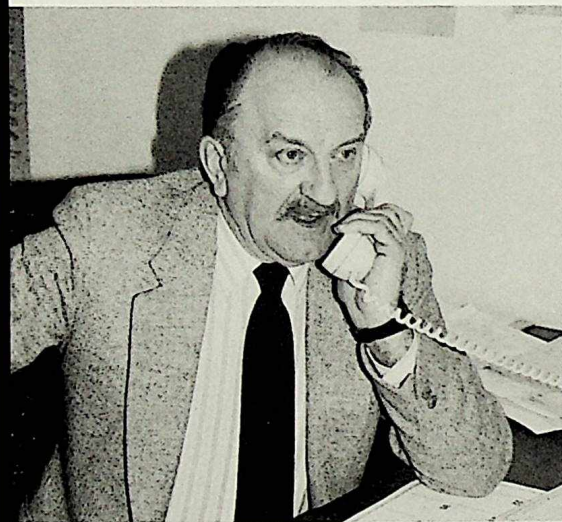

WINNER – The person/team that did the slaughtering of the other person/team in a sport. (See LOSER) WRESTLING – The sport that lets you throw your weight around.

Principal's Message

"Life's a game." This statement, when first looked at, implies that life is all fun, that it is filled with pleasure and does not have to be taken at all seriously.

However, upon more careful analysis, you can see that games do have other dimensions. Through participation in games, you can learn to control aggression and anger by developing self-control and skills related to discipline; you can develop organizational and analytical skills thus expanding your capacity for leadership. You are also given many opportunities to expand your intellect, to expand your ability to work with others, and to expand your circle of close friends. All of these make it possible for you to function better as an individual and to accept your role in cooperating with others. Imagine, all of this accomplished with pleasure while playing games!

Games are important. Participation in those games is more important. How you participate is still more important. You will be remembered not for winning or losing, but for how well you played.

Who's It?

Alright! This is going to be great! This is a game that involves you. On the next few pages, there are pictures of teachers. Yes, those people who attempt to teach you things which you forget as soon as you finish your final exam. There are also clues that go with the teachers. The catch is that you have to match the right clues to the right faces. They look so innocent, staring at you from the page, but you know better! The best thing about this game is that you can laugh and giggle and snicker without fear of inspiring the teachers' wrath. We have even made this simple for all of you who can't seem to get it together after working so hard in school (and for those of you who have allowed cobwebs to grow on your textbooks). The clues appear on the same page as the teachers they describe so that you don't have to keep flipping the pages in a desperate panic! Try a few and you will see how fun and exciting it can be!

A. My name is related to an early French explorer, but I am thinner than he (and am a she).

B. I am a man and the head of the English department. (Don't ask me why.)

C. I may be short of body, but definitely not of scientific knowledge.

D. I never go off topic in biology class . . . Where were we now? Oh yes, we were discussing how typewriters are related to muscle control.

F. Would you like me to tell you a story? Perhaps Lenin, Magellan or Prince Ferdinand?

G. Computers are my friends (that is, until something goes wrong with them, which is quite often).

H. Are you fit? If not, join my Phys. Ed. class and lose your flab (if you don't drop from exhaustion first).

I. I won a conference which was named after me. Pretty neat huh?

J. I am often "short" of breath teaching you Social and Psychology.

K. I was married over Christmas. (Men find French women irresistible!)

L. If you have me for Social or Sociology, I guarantee that you'll not waste your time. (I love letting people go early.)

M. I am male and I teach math and don't ask me any more questions or I shall blush.

N. Volleyball anyone? How about balancing an equation? (Maybe?)

O. Numbers is my language, Calculation is my game, and Silence is golden.

E. I speak Pascal, Basic, Cobol and Pussy-Cat Language.

M. Where are my safety goggles again? Oh, there they are on top of my head!

B. My eyebrows defy the laws of gravity. Don't forget, one mark for the work, one mark for the answer, plus a bonus for your name.

F. I can do your accounts and I can type for you, but I can't work an overhead. (Boy, is that an understatement!)

D. I'll let you puzzle over this one - I work with numbers and I can throw chalk better than anyone in the school (city? province?).

O. Alright, alright, alright. I'm a măn, I'm a man, I'm a man.

E. Do you like your mother-in-law? If not, come to me and I'll show you how to get rid of her.

H. I've discovered the magic words to keep my class quiet. It goes like this, "Order in the class!"

I. I am a biology teacher who decided to create new life. So far, I've had two successes. Does that make me eligible for a Nobel prize?

J. My social and math classes are not boring, so don't even think of falling asleep while I'm teaching!

K. Art is visual poetry . . . Poetry is artistic English.

G. I have no hair (to speak of), but my eyes are soooo nice. Come to my chemistry class and we'll chat about molecules, my very active friends.

L. I came from Harry Ainley to teach French at McNally this year (or so I thought).

A. I was involved in a city championship this year. Open the champagne everyone!

P. If you need a volleyball referee, or even if you just want to talk, come down to my office and see me.

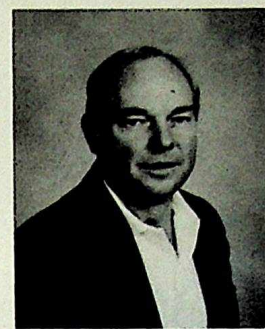

C. Ho, ho, ho! I celebrate Christmas twice a year (English and Ukrainian).

F. I am the resident car doctor. If you have any car problems, just come to me and we'll fix it up as good as new (or almost?).

P. If you would like to play ladies basketball (sorry Mr. Kunyk), come try out for the team.

J. No, no, no!!! I am not involved in the fishy scandals surrounding the Mulroney government.

C. Sure my friend, I do prose. I also do fingernails, make-up and toes.

I. Here I come with ancient math exams (still unmarked), and an Oiler ticket in my hot little hands.

Q. I am a self-declared intellectual snob with a Mercedes. If you don't get this, it just proves that I am better than you.

N. Aaaaarrgh!!! I'm being flooded by new English students. Bring in the life preservers!

H. So far, all my students have made it through my class without dying from food poisoning.

A. Don't you dare drool in my class! If you must spit (or do anything similarly unsanitary), please do it out of my sight.

B. I am blond and wonderful. I guess that makes me perfect!

M. I spend much of my life working with my pal Mac in room 219. (It's all very innocent really!)

G. Make an appointment to see me, and I'll schedule your classes for you (or your life if you prefer).

K. Nine Lives is my favorite. (Very nutritious and not bad tasting either.)

O. God said "Let there be music!", and allowed me, a mineral-man to conduct the music.

D. I am a friend of slime molds, eight-legged creatures and Miss Middleton.

Teachers

B. I believe in being physically active and mentally fit. If you are neither, then your chances of survival in my classes are slim (not that I want to scare off prospective students).

E. Join me at my farm some day and we'll take pictures of the countryside while living like hippies.

H. I am new and teach English, two good reasons for a nervous breakdown.

D. I'll teach you about the laws and the courts of this country (which is useful knowledge, whether you are a law-abiding citizen or not).

F. I aid the mineral-man in his musical teachings.

C. You weiner! Do you believe in the three finger law of physics?

A. Having children now at two, I teach only math in the mornings to you.

F. Don't disturb me. I'm deep in thought, contemplating the origins of the Universe and the mysteries of Knowledge.

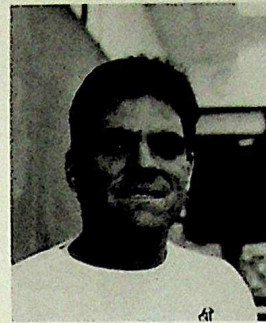

I. Shall we read Shakespeare? Perhaps a game of golf instead?

On Your Mark, Get Set, Go!!!

After two carefree months of Summer, dazed students wandered through the hallways, wondering if they would ever be able to find their classes through the mess of construction work and confused students. Events of the much feared Registration Day included the Mad Dash for lockers, the Dreaded Photo Session, the Homeroom Treasure Hunt and last but not least, the Rap Session with friends. Start the year off on the right track. Get your buns in gear and go!

What a way to welcome the new school year! At first, students were quite hesitant to enter any of the contests. Homeroom teachers were soon hard at work trying to persuade students to join in the activities. Those who were daring enough to participate were in for some good Old-Fashioned McNally Fun. Music was the backdrop scene for events including the Rootbeer-Chug-A-Lug, the C-E-N-T-I-P-E-D-E and the Tug-of-War.

Jeff Sutton really got his buns in gear during the Balloon Toss. Next time Jeff, try not to slide into home base with a water balloon!

What a splash! And that's exactly what one of the Fay twins made when the dunk tank dock broke! Which twin was it? I don't know, but what a cool way to enter a competition, eh?

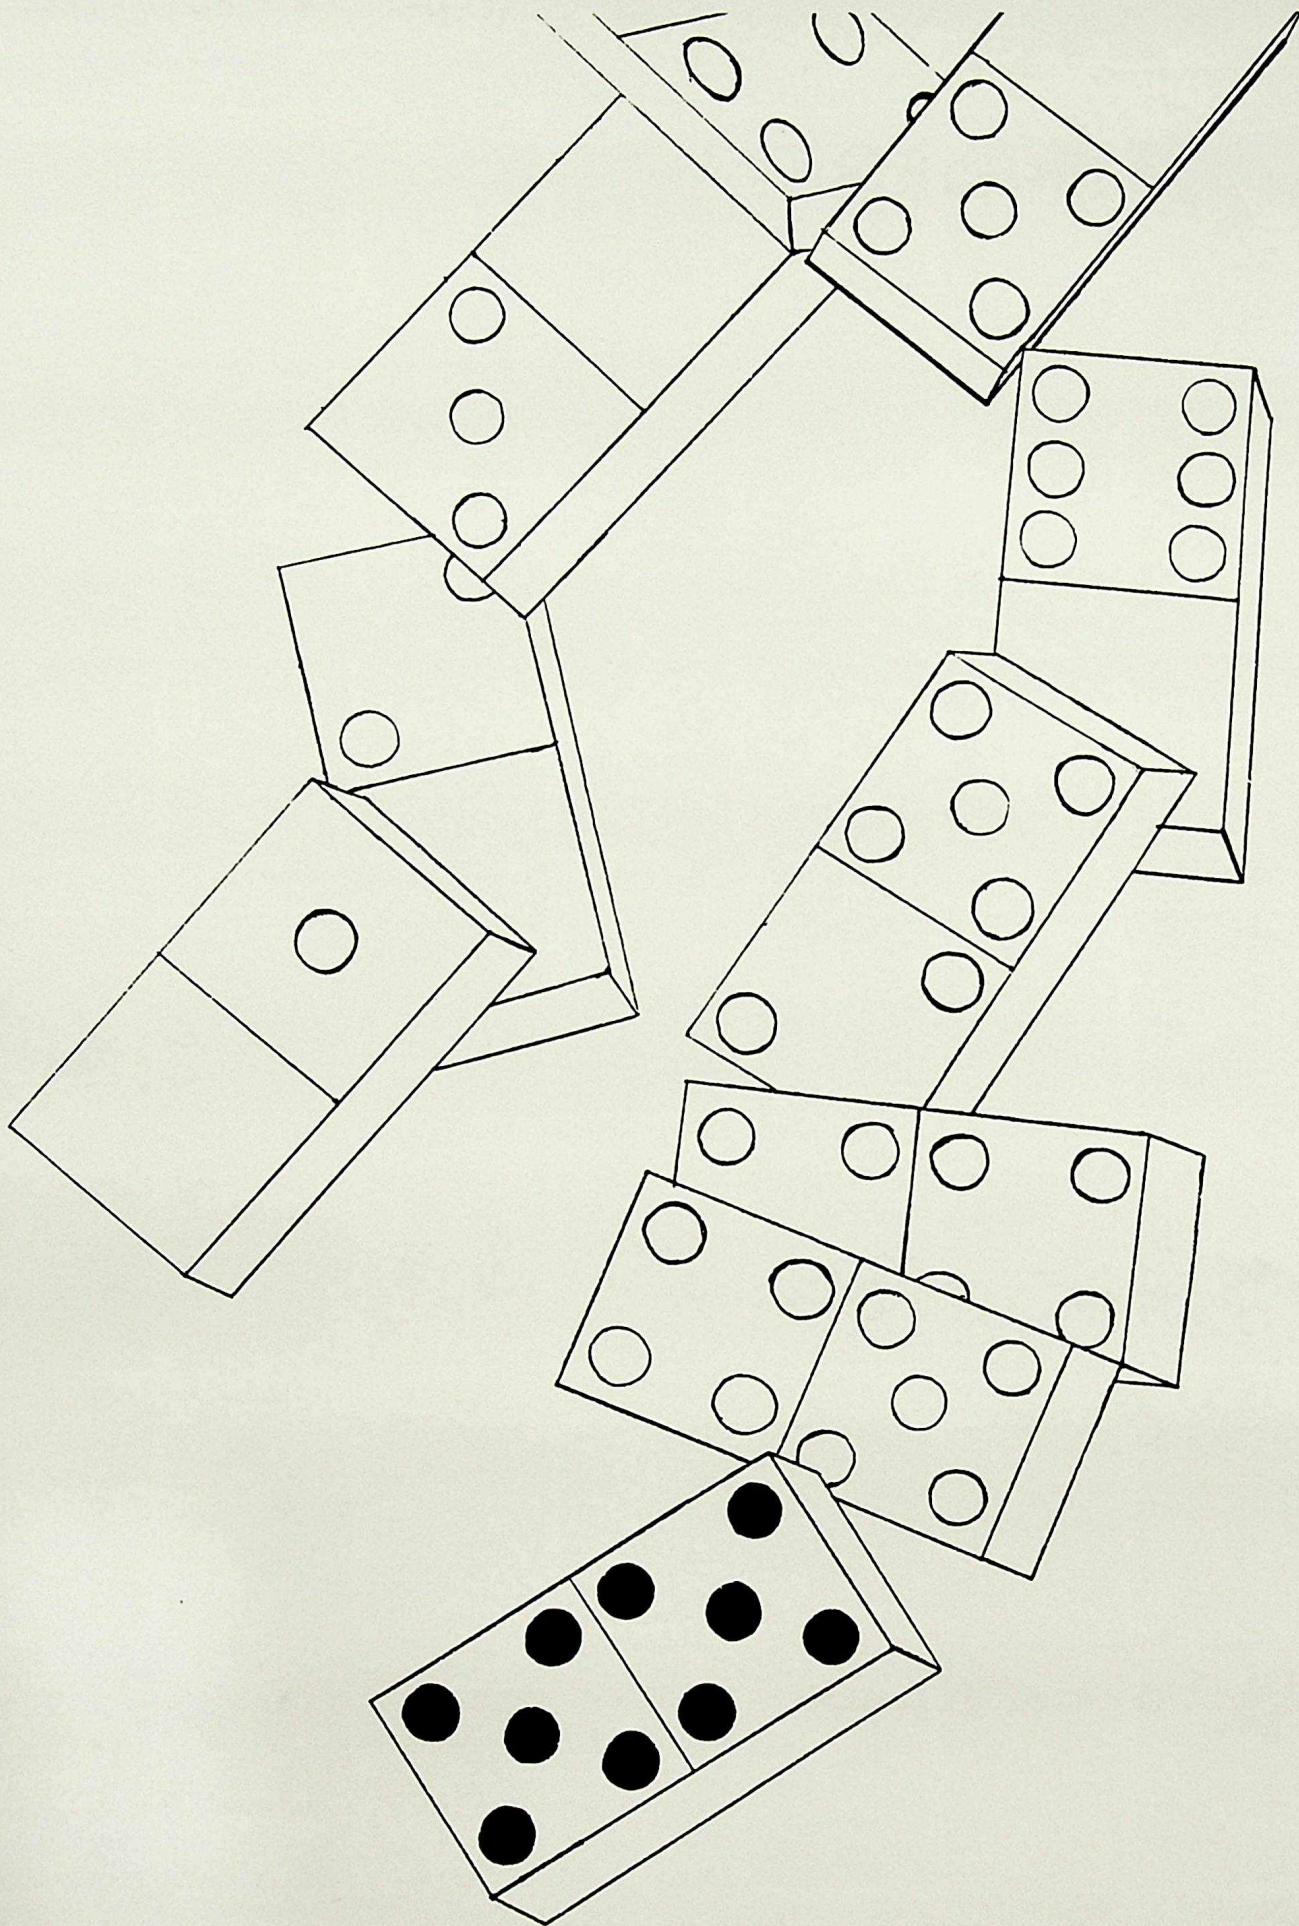

Embarrassing? No! Absolutely Thrilling!!

Welcome Daze!

This coin is for the Birds

On July 1st, 1987 the dollar coin entered our currency, replacing the dollar bill. The present design of the coin however is not the original one.

The original design of our eleven sided dollar coin was to have the voyageur on one face and the Queen on the other. Plates for the coin were sent to the Royal Canadian Mint in Winnipeg via Canada Post Courier. The plates never arrived (oops!). New plates with a new design were soon drafted to replace the missing plates. These new plates have the Queen on one side and the Canadian loon on the other side. Because of the loon, the new dollar has been dubbed "the LOONIE", a name that I feel appropriately reflects the coin's somewhat unusual come about.

I hope I have enough Loonies to pay for this.

Black Friday

Friday, July 31, 1987 – this is a date that will long be remembered in Edmonton's history as Black Friday. On this fateful day several tornadoes cut through the river valley, southeast Edmonton and the surrounding area. The hardest hit areas were the Strathcona industrial park, and the Evergreen Mobile Home Trailer Park. The Trailer Park was almost totally destroyed and suffered the loss of many lives.

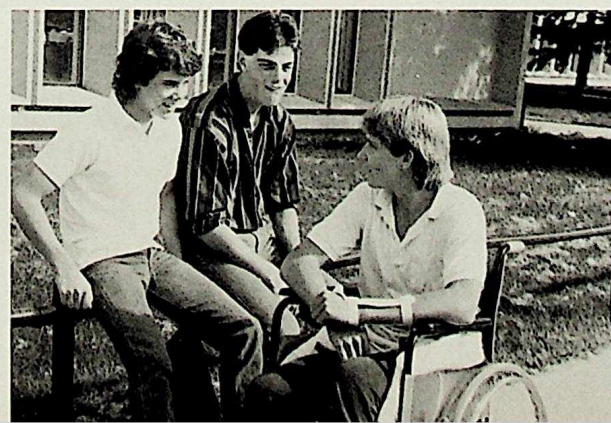

Environment Canada issued a tornado advisory as soon as they found out that there was a danger of funnel cloud formation. During the storm, the local television stations kept the population of Edmonton and the world updated on what was occurring.

After the storm was over, the amount of aid that came from the people of Edmonton was overwhelming. This aid came in the form of volunteers, donations of food, money, clothing, furnishings, appliances and everything else possible, that would help the victims of that Friday's tragic storm. There were warehouses literally filled to the rafters with donated items.

That tragic day will long be remembered but so will the quick response of rescue and medical teams who searched for survivors in the trailer park for forty-eight hours straight. The Edmonton police department, should be commended for keeping order during and after the storm.

Through all the terrible destruction and loss of life, we also saw that in times when we need each other the most, we are there to help out a fellow human being in every way we can.

I'll never forget the moment I heard about it. I wasn't even in Edmonton; I was in Spokane on vacation with my parents. I wondered with shock and disbelief, "How can this happen in Edmonton?" As far as natural disasters go, Edmonton has always seemed so safe. To know that I had been having fun all day on Friday while my friends and relatives were there living through the tornado was awful. I wondered if everyone was okay, if our house had survived, if my dog was all-right.

SNAPPING UP!

*Seatbelts are important
Effortless to wear;
Any situation requires
Tenderness and care,
Because we are human
Equal in every way;
Let's be careful,
Taking care by
Snapping up to stay!*

On July 1st 1987, a law was passed in Alberta which made it mandatory for motor vehicle drivers and passengers to buckle up.

Drivers are responsible for making sure that passengers under the age of 16 wear seatbelts or infant/child safety seats.

However, as usual, there are some exceptions: a) You own a car like Mr. Obe's 1961 caddy, which did not originally have seatbelts. b) You're making deliveries or pick-ups (including girls? guys?) and not driving faster than 40km/h, but not as slow as a turtle either. c) You're backing up (remember not to speed). d) You have a medical reason (which doesn't mean that you can be excused if you have a cold). e) You're a cabbie (passengers however must buckle up). f) There are more people than seatbelts (in which case you'll be squeezed together so tightly that you won't be able to move an inch anyways).

Seatbelts save lives. If you do not wear them, you are three times more likely to be killed and you are one and a half more times more likely to be in a collision because you are more alert when wearing them. It is dangerous, however, to strap more than one person in the same belt.

Even though seatbelts are a bit uncomfortable, they save lives. Isn't the few seconds it takes to put on a seatbelt worth saving your life?

Time to buckle up!

ODE TO THE CAFETERIA

"The cafeteria – that lovely room: a) where people rub shoulders (literally) in a vain attempt to get some watered-down soup. b) where the human density is approximately ten people/meter squared. c) where people spend at least half an hour waiting (and waiting) to buy Erna's special, deluxe, not-to-be-found-anywhere-else, gravy and fries. (Delicious? You bet!) d) where you can't hear yourself think, and where the sound level is a wall-breaking 1000 decibals. e) where one wonders how so many people manage to pile so many trays without them falling.

However, beyond all the noise and interesting smells, the cafeteria is a haven for the game of the "catch", where the guys eye the girls over their salami sandwiches, and where the girls whisper and giggle about the guys with the "GORGEOUS BODS!" between chews.

Yes, the cafeteria ... what would a high school do without one? Probably order pizza.

The Typical Grade 10 Student

You can tell right from the start who are the freshmen and who are the seniors in this school. Certain characteristics of these first year students immediately identify them. These characteristics remain until the students reach their second year of high school, at which point they suddenly develop symptoms of the typical Grade 11 students (see page 71). The typical grade 10 student: 1. can be seen carrying a multicolored map in the first weeks of school. 2. is often seen screaming and yelling down the hallways (a habit carried over from the Junior High days). 3. dreads to hear his/her name called in class (who, me?). 4. usually has matching coloured socks and easy going clothes (so as to draw as little attention and shock as possible). 5. are generally midget-sized (students have to be particularly careful not to trip over them in the hallways). 6. is a groupie (collective security?). 7. has a friendly open nature (before he/she learns how to act snobby like a Grade 11 or 12 student).

Gordon Cutting

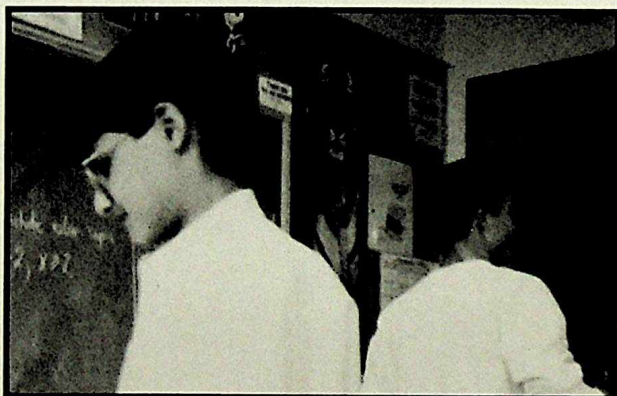

This year's lucky winner of the Typical Grade 10 Student Award is Gordon Cutting. His name was selected from a list of 374 grade ten's. For winning the award, he receives special recognition in the yearbook (round of applause).

Girls' Washroom Talk

"Guess what? Mike likes me!"

"Are you really serious Susie?"

"I'm positive Di, Steve told me so."

"That's so cool tell me more..."

As if a hurricane hits (after the bell rings) all the girls rush into the girls' washroom. The gossipers, consisting of the preps, the heads, the nerds and the norms associate as a whole group in the washroom. Everyone has one thing on their minds besides school. It's GUYS! They talk about the latest couple, the most gorgeous guys, who is taken, who is not, and the latest fads in fashion. Trying to achieve the perfect look, so that they can impress Mr. Right, they talk and gossip while their hair is brushed and hairsprayed upside down. Just before leaving, they take extra caution to make sure that their make-up is perfect so the hunk will notice or will give them the eye. The bell rings and everyone (in their own group now) rushes out to impress their guy. Classes start and the cycle repeats during the next class change.

Boys' Washroom Talk

No comment. Unlike girls, guys do not use the washroom to gossip!

Computers – a step forward or a step backward?

Computers are interesting machines made up of 80% metal, 20% plastic, and errors thrown in on the side. You know what computers are, the things that never work when you want them to. They eat your disks, give you nasty shocks, and quit working once you get that stubborn program that always evades your logic to work. These buckets of bolts are the things that teachers make you work with in computer class, but we get back at them by playing games behind their backs in class. The only problem with this type of revolt is that you're always caught doing it. There are some positive aspects to computers, however. For instance, they help you in tedious courses like English and Social. The essay writing in these courses is endless. Therefore, some brilliant programmer created programs to help you do these tasks. These programs include word processors that check spelling and have pop-up thesauruses. Another useful program that has been made is one that checks over formal documents like essays and resumes for grammar and sentence structure errors. The program that I'm waiting for asks for the topic of the essay and the references that are to be used in it, then spits out the essay on computer paper afterwards. Since we are not this far advanced in computers and not yet in the era of Max Headroom, this is wishful thinking.

A Breath of Fresh Air

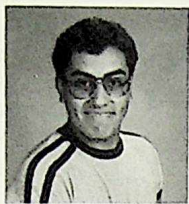

On the first day of school this year a new and exciting piece of school board legislation came into effect. Smoking was prohibited in all public schools. This decision will benefit all persons who frequent the public schools.

Students have been heard grumbling about how this rule infringes on their rights, "cause, like, it's a free country y'know." The smoking ban really does not affect those students who choose to smoke. Prior to the ban they had to leave the building anyway. Smoking is not a right, either. It is a privilege. Clear air and a safe, healthy environment are rights. By banning smoking in school, the rights of all people in the school are protected without changing the situation for student smokers.

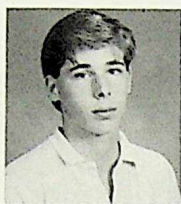

Teachers and staff are the ones most inconvenienced by the smoke-free policy. Up to September '87, they had been permitted to smoke in the staff room. Now they must join the students outdoors. The permanent fog in the staff room has cleared and teachers can finally see what they are doing (and who they are talking to!). It is possible to breathe without choking in the halls; there is no more smoke to get into the ventilation system and pollute the whole school.

This new rule puts the Edmonton Public Schools at the cutting edge of public opinion. They have joined many hospitals, government agencies, and private businesses in the movement to protect society from those members who choose to endanger themselves and the people around them with their foul habit. It is about time for the opinions of the non-smoking majority to carry more weight than the tobacco companies and their money. Three cheers for democracy!

A Typical Grade 11'er

Two Typical (A typical?) Grade 11'ers?

*A typical grade 11'er
Is a hard thing to find.
They're not all the same;
Each is one of a kind.*

*But when you look closer,
There are similarities.
They look more alike;
Have less irregularities.*

*They like the grade 10's (to sneer at that is).
Grade 10's are so immature,
And act like such kids.*

*Grade 12's on the other hand,
Are perfectly fine.
The grade 11'er can't wait
'till they're next in line.*

*Grade 11'ers bum rides
Off their driving friends,
And speed like maniacs,
Before the cops put it to an end.*

*Don't know what homework is,
Nor do they care,
The grade 11'er tends
To create temporary spares.*

*They're nice to teachers,
Especially when they're failing,
And are good at sucking up,
When their marks are ailing.*

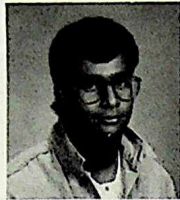

*The typical Grade 11'er
As you can see,
Is not quite so typical
As we would believe.*

*Grade 11'ers are great,
They're not all a bunch of goofs,
But the principal would disagree,
And he's got an ulcer as proof.*

STUDENTS' UNION

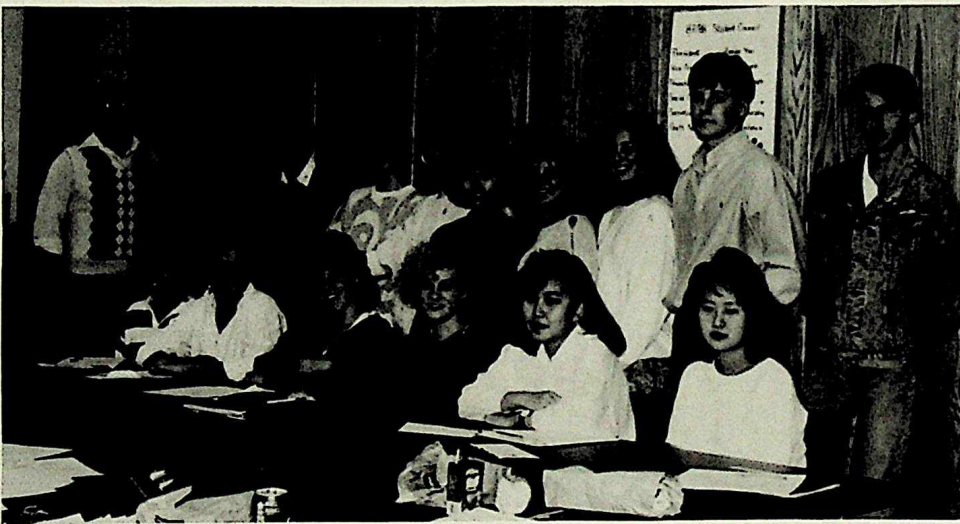

President's Message

McNally is definitely, "Nothing but the Best!" As a result, it has been a great pleasure to serve on the Student Union Executive Council this year. I would like to personally thank the Student Union Executives for their endless McNally spirit and dedication, and Mr. Johnston, our advisor, for his understanding and abundant support which turned even the most hectic times into enjoyable moments. Most of all, thanks to everyone for making the 1987-88 McNally year, through their involvement and pride in their school. I consider myself very fortunate to be a part of it all, and hopefully I have helped create some fond memories for many, through my role as president.

I wish everyone the best of luck in the coming year.

You know a guy who's on your mind all the time. Does he really like you, or are you wasting your time? To find out if a guy likes you or if he's right for you, answer the next ten questions.

- (1) When you're at your locker, does he acknowledge you?
 - (a) Yes, all the time
 - (b) Sometimes, when he remembers my name
 - (c) No, I'm not even sure he remembers my name
 - (d) I don't know, I'm too shy to look
- (2) When you're with your friends, does he try to impress you?
 - (a) Yes
 - (b) Yes, and I think it's stupid
 - (c) No he's too mature for that
 - (d) Are you kidding? He doesn't even say hello!
- (3) Does he phone just to say "hi" or just to talk?
 - (a) Sometimes
 - (b) Yes, when it's not the football or hockey season
 - (c) Yes, and then we talk until my parents threaten to disconnect the phone
 - (d) Are you crazy?
- (4) How much older or younger than you is he?
 - (a) Same age
 - (b) One or two years' difference
 - (c) He still sucks his thumb and wets his bed
 - (d) He can't see straight and he needs a hearing aid
- (5) His personality is . . .
 - (a) Great (humorous yet mature)
 - (b) Okay (he has his days)
 - (c) Terrible (he's so conceited)
 - (d) I don't know, I really don't know him
- (6) Does he remember your birthday?
 - (a) I don't think he knows when my birthday is
 - (b) If I remind him a week ahead
 - (c) Yes, and he surprises me with roses or chocolates
 - (d) What? He can't even remember his postal code
- (7) Does he ever compliment you?
 - (a) Sometimes
 - (b) Yes, all the time. What do you think — I'm ugly?
 - (c) No, he's shy and he doesn't say much
 - (d) Never, he's too busy talking about himself to notice
- (8) Does he casually ask to get together with you?
 - (a) Wellllll, sort of
 - (b) All the time
 - (c) Once in awhile
 - (d) Are you pulling my leg?
- (9) At dances, does he ask you to slow dance?
 - (a) Yes, always
 - (b) Yes, but he asks other girls too
 - (c) No, he doesn't go to dances
 - (d) Are you out of your mind?
- (10) Can you picture yourself marrying this guy?
 - (a) Yes, I really love him
 - (b) No, I like him but not that much
 - (c) No, he's not the marrying type
 - (d) Not in a million years

Does He Like Me? Is He My Type?

25-40
He likes you and he's enough of your type. This relationship may be worth it. Have fun!
19-24
His feelings are unclear and you should keep your eyes open for other guys. Find out more about him.
18 and under
You deserve better than this! He's definitely not right for you. Go find someone else.

Does She Like Me? Is She My Type?

They say "some guys have all the luck" and usually they're not talking about you. Here's a little questionnaire to see if you're one of those guys and to see if the girl you like is suited for you.

- (1) When you see this girl, do you . . .
 - (a) fall on your knees just to get her attention so that you can say "hi"?
 - (b) make a big scene just to impress her?
 - (c) try to act like she's not there so she won't get suspicious?
 - (d) smile and give her a wave?
- (2) When this girl is with her friends, does she . . .
 - (a) say "hi" to you?
 - (b) ignore you?
 - (c) act really big?
 - (d) just kinda sits there?
- (3) If she phones you, does she want . . .
 - (a) your answers to your homework?
 - (b) to just say "hi"?
 - (c) to giggle hysterically?
 - (d) (Sorry she doesn't phone me.)
- (4) Do you think she has a nice figure?
 - (a) Y-Y-e-e-e-s-s-s-s-s!!!
 - (b) Kind of
 - (c) It's not important
 - (d) I've seen barrels with better figures!
- (5) Her personality . . .
 - (a) stinks! (but she still has a nice body!)
 - (b) great (she's humorous and fun)
 - (c) moody
 - (d) What's personality?
 - (e) I don't really know her
- (6) Does she ever compliment you?
 - (a) Yes, quite often
 - (b) Depends on what you mean by "compliment"?
 - (c) Are you kidding? She never notices me!
 - (d) Sometimes (once every blue moon)
- (7) Have you ever thought of asking her out?
 - (a) No, she's like a goddess to me
 - (b) No, she has a boyfriend who is a body builder
 - (c) Yes, but I'm too scared
 - (d) Yes, and I think I have a chance
- (8) Are you really "in love" with this girl?
 - (a) No, I don't think love means a thing.
 - (b) Yes, but it's mostly infatuation
 - (c) Kind of, I've never felt this way before
 - (d) What's love?
- (9) Does she ask you to dance at dances?
 - (a) Of course she does, don't be ridiculous!
 - (b) Get out of her! She's not the type.
 - (c) No, she's usually dancing with someone else
 - (d) I don't go to dances
- (10) Do you think you have a chance with her?
 - (a) Yes, of course
 - (b) No way!
 - (c) I'm crossing my fingers
 - (d) I wouldn't want to jeopardize our friendship

29-37 It sure seems like this girl is your type. You may hit it off with her. Good luck!

15-28 You may first try and discover her as a friend before you ask her out. Stay positive, you're on the right track.

15 and under Give it up, you're going to be hurting yourself. There are many other girls that are more suited for you.

THINGS THAT GO BUMP

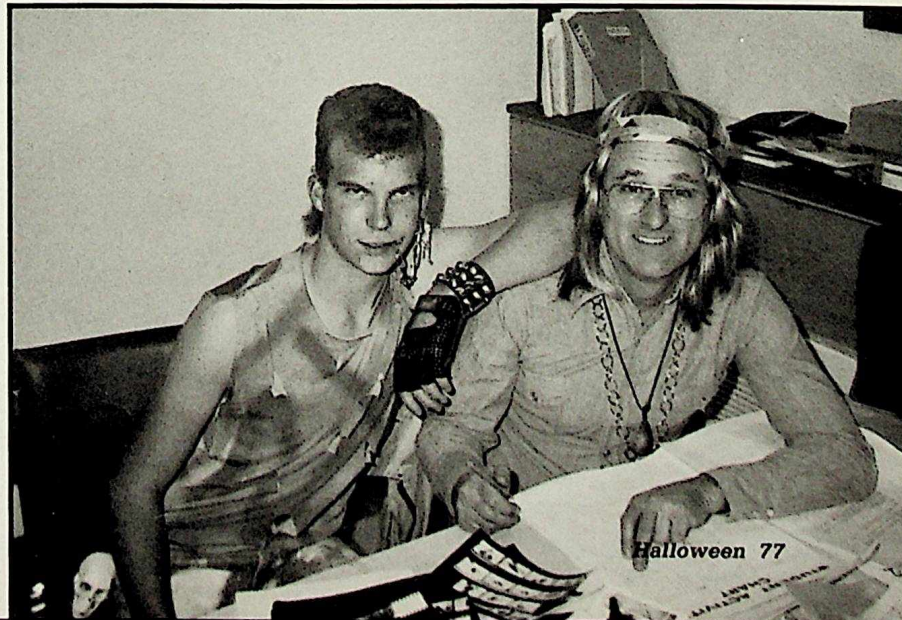

Halloween, a night when evil spirits walk the earth. On that day, however, something more terrifying walks abroad . . . McNally students!

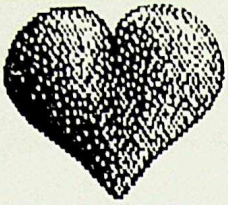

This year Halloween at McNally was one of the most colourful and interesting ones ever. Along with your usual assortments of ghosts and goblins there were beer cans, a cat, three crayons, and even a vacuum cleaner! Originality was in abundance this year, with so many different costumes that it would be virtually impossible to name them all. The pictures on this page show Halloween at McNally far better than any words can describe.

The pumpkin carving and costume contests brought forward some interesting and very unique entries. The pumpkin carving contest winner in the original design category was Mr. Silverman's period 5 class with their "Band Buddy" which incidentally is a full-time member of the McNally Concert Band. In the traditional design category the winner was Mr. Kachuk's period 5 class with their "devil" pumpkin. The winners of the costume contest were: Stephanie Maitson, who dressed up as a Aunt Jemima, and Shaun Thordson who dressed up as a "Lady of the Night".

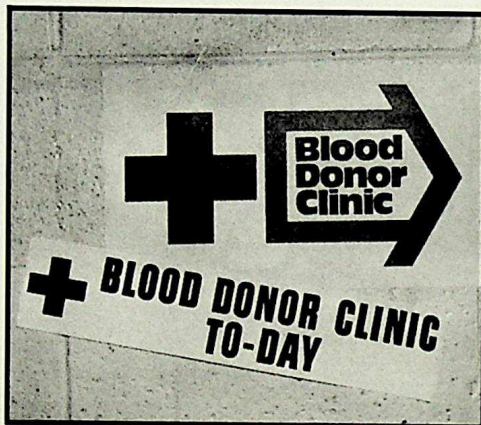

IN THE HALLS

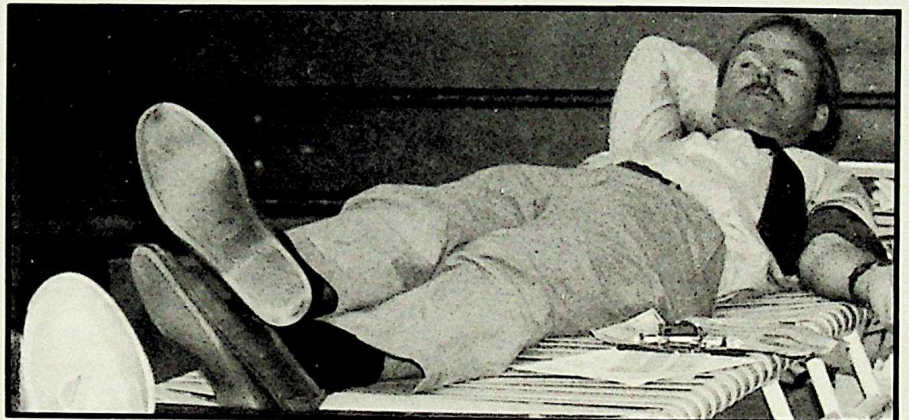

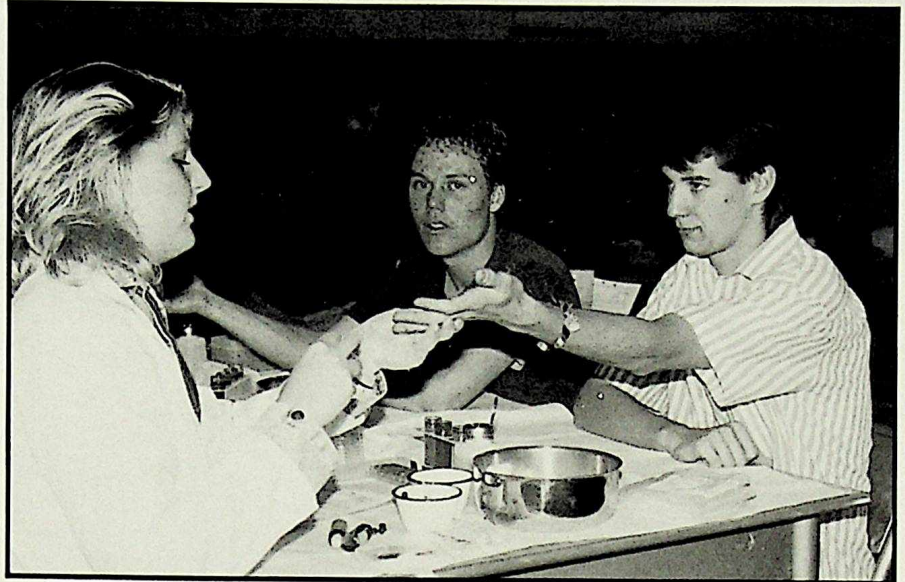

To Faint or Not to Faint

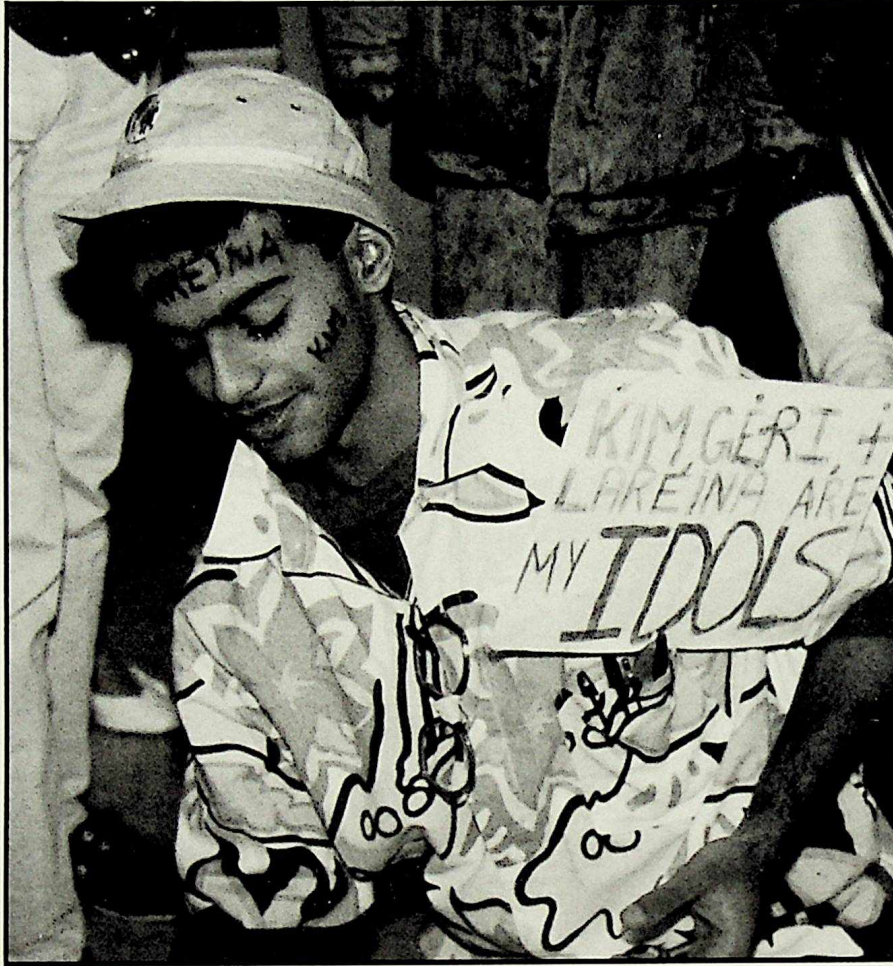

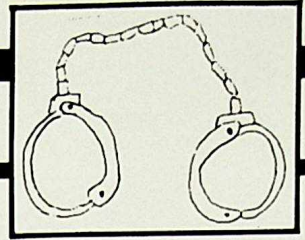

That was the question on November 25 when we got our courage up and braved the needle. Dozens of students gave their blood for other lives. Walking into the gym I found people crying, cringing and biting their lips, but basically keeping their heads up and bearing the pain. It couldn't have been so bad though, because afterwards, groups of friends were together, laughing and trying to scare those who had not paid their dues yet.

Nearly everybody, from artists and athletes, to teachers, turned out to give their 3 or 4 pints. If anything, it's a great way to get out of class for awhile and do something good at the same time!

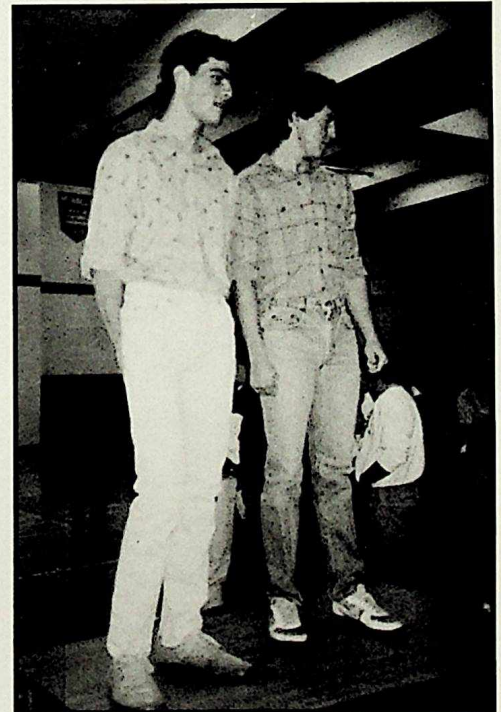

Ahhh! The Power . . .

In a lot of memories, December 3 will cause shaking, shivering, and shuddering. It was the day many lost their freedom for 24 hours. They were sold into slavery, with many of their masters being very cruel monsters. They were completely at the mercy of these beasts.

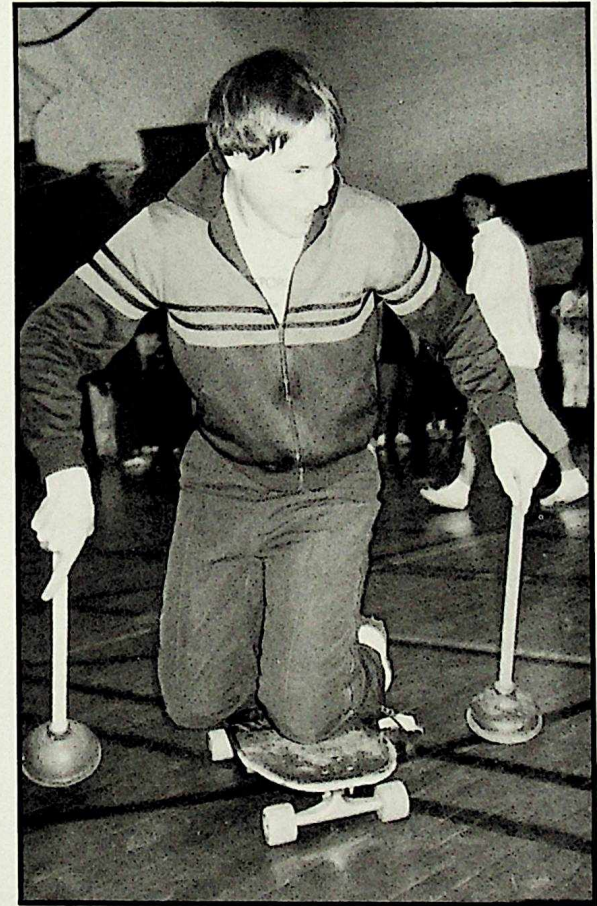

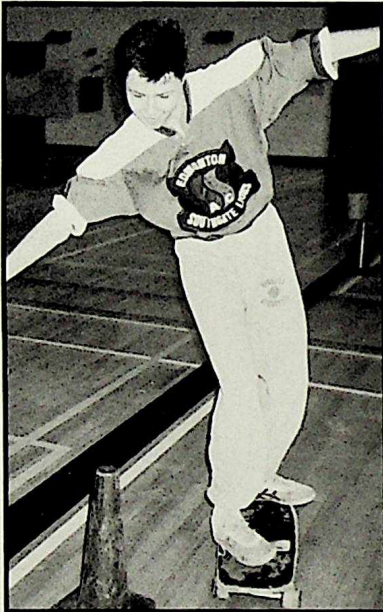

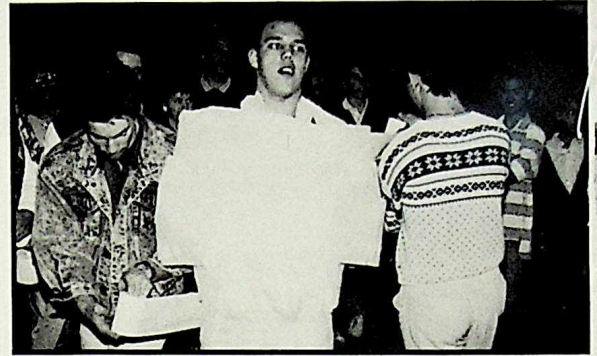

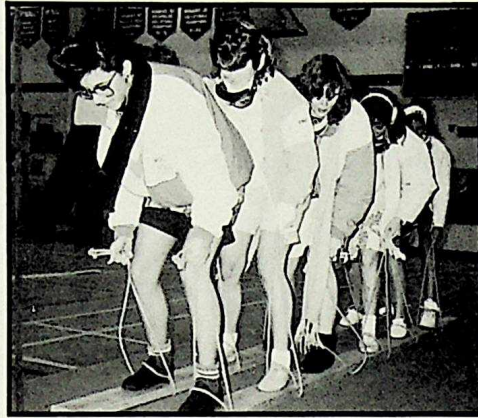

For the slaves it was a day they may never forget. In future years they'll remember the weird looks, snickers, and whispers they received walking down the halls in the goofy outfits they had to wear. Fortunately they'll also remember how much fun it was being in the spotlight. For the rest of us, it was great watching other people being controlled (as long as we were safely standing on the sidelines!). Who knows, maybe next year some of us who were laughing may be up there being auctioned off.

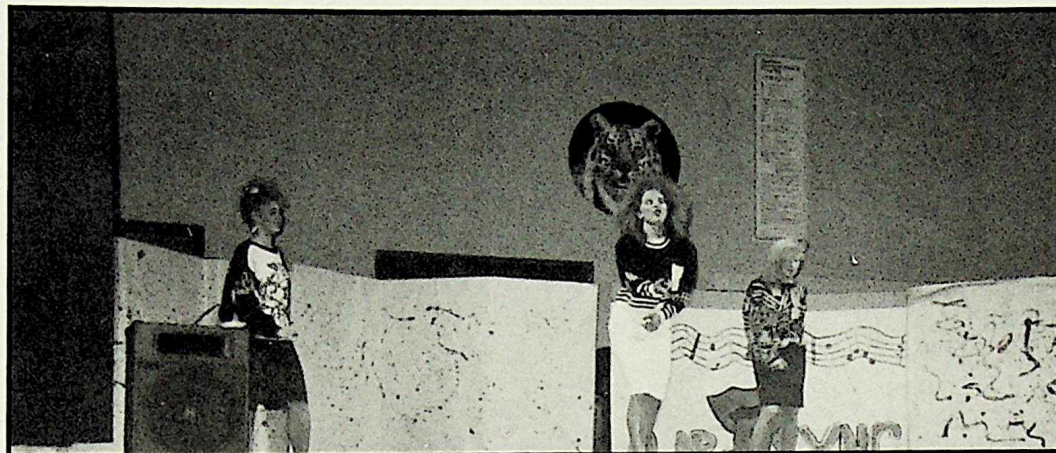

Dashing Through The Snow!

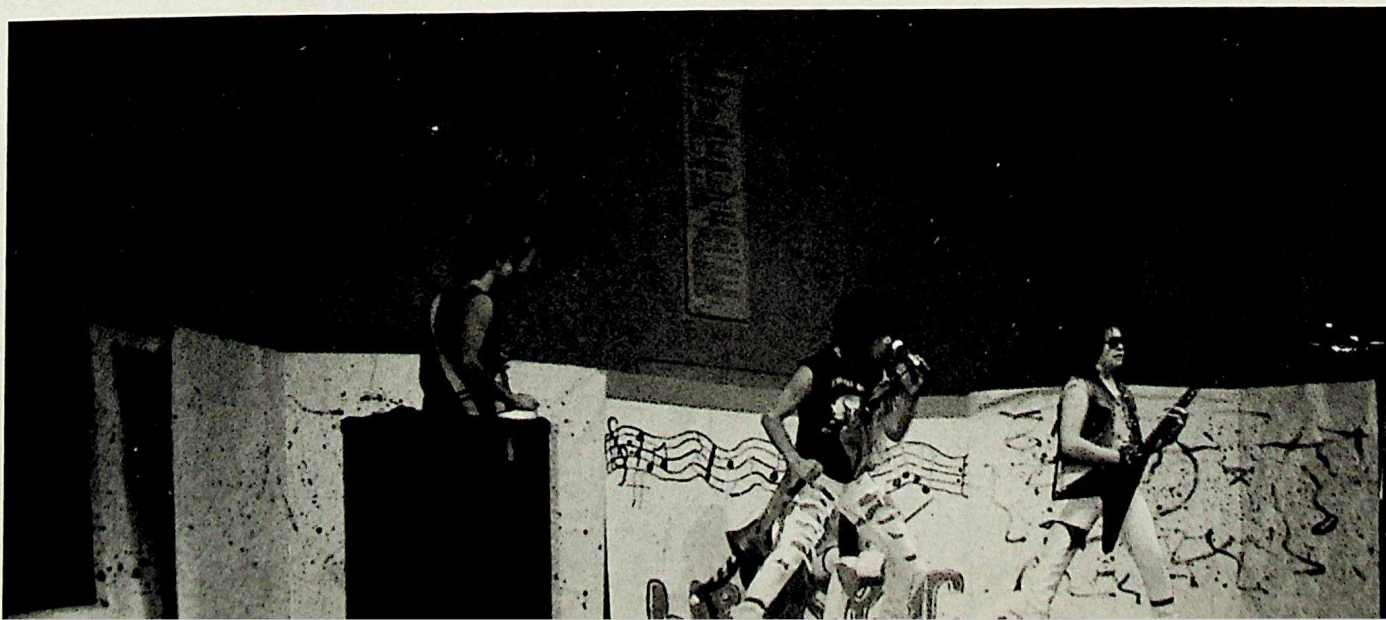

Winter: a time to dream of sun, sand and surf. Wrong! Such is not the case at McNally, because winter means fun times! Here we enjoy winter to the fullest! This refers to this year's Snowfest, including such events as Biathlon, Team ski, Giant slalom, Giant snowman building and Luge runs. All these activities were enthusiastically participated in. The Luge was probably the most successful event.

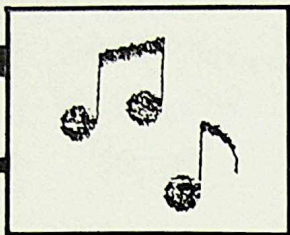

Show Times

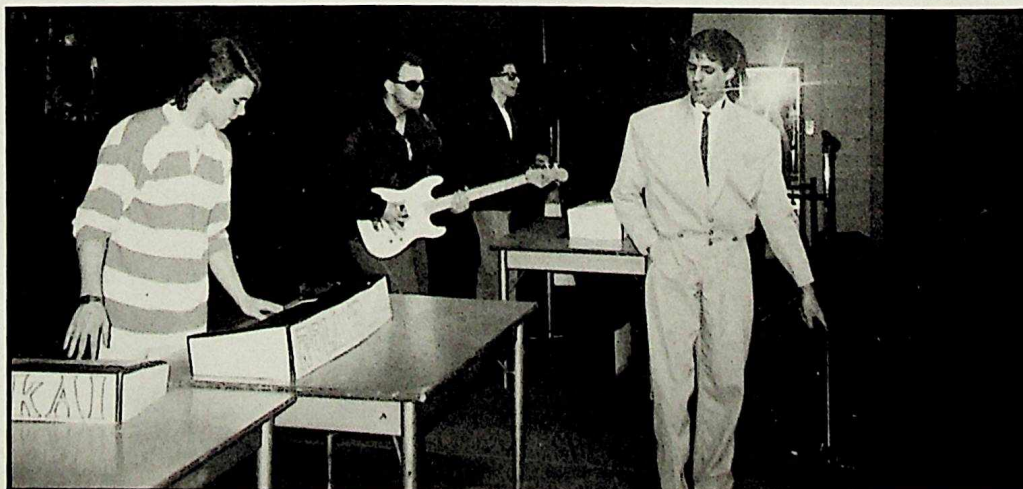

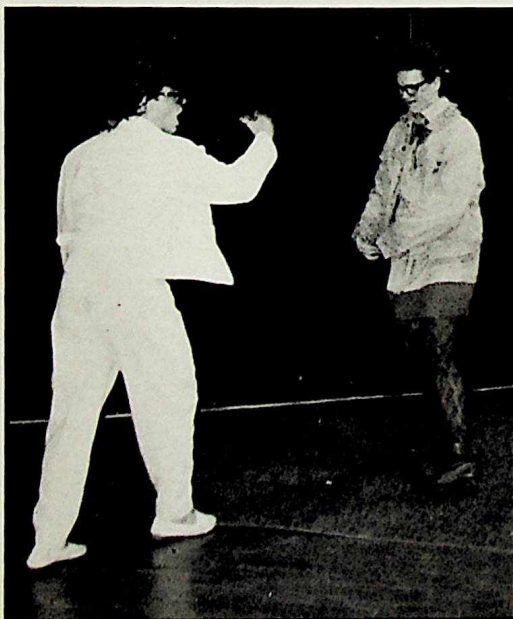

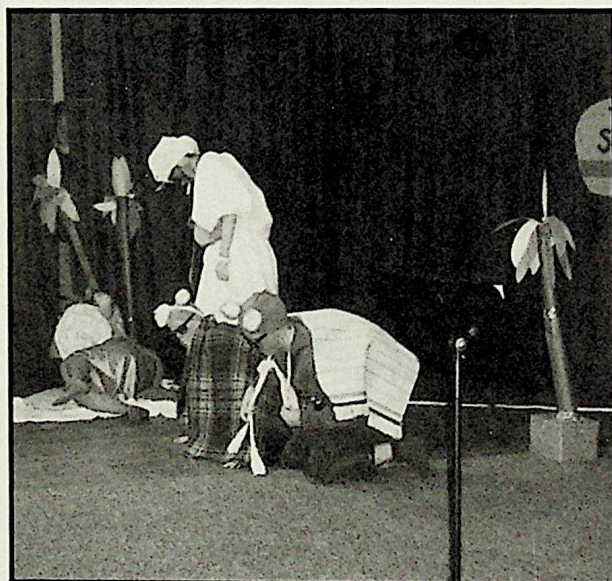

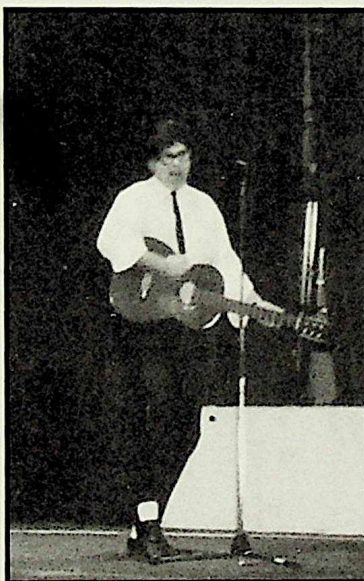

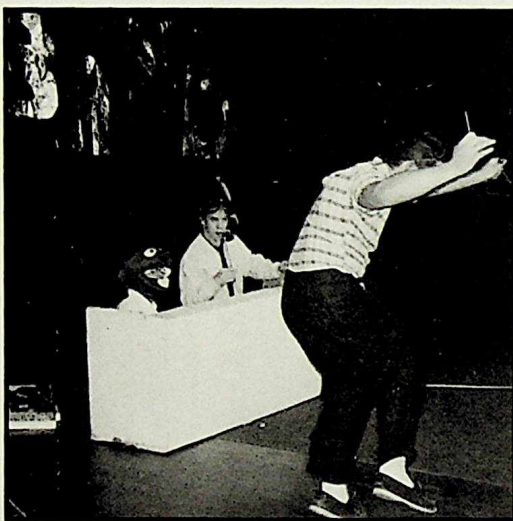

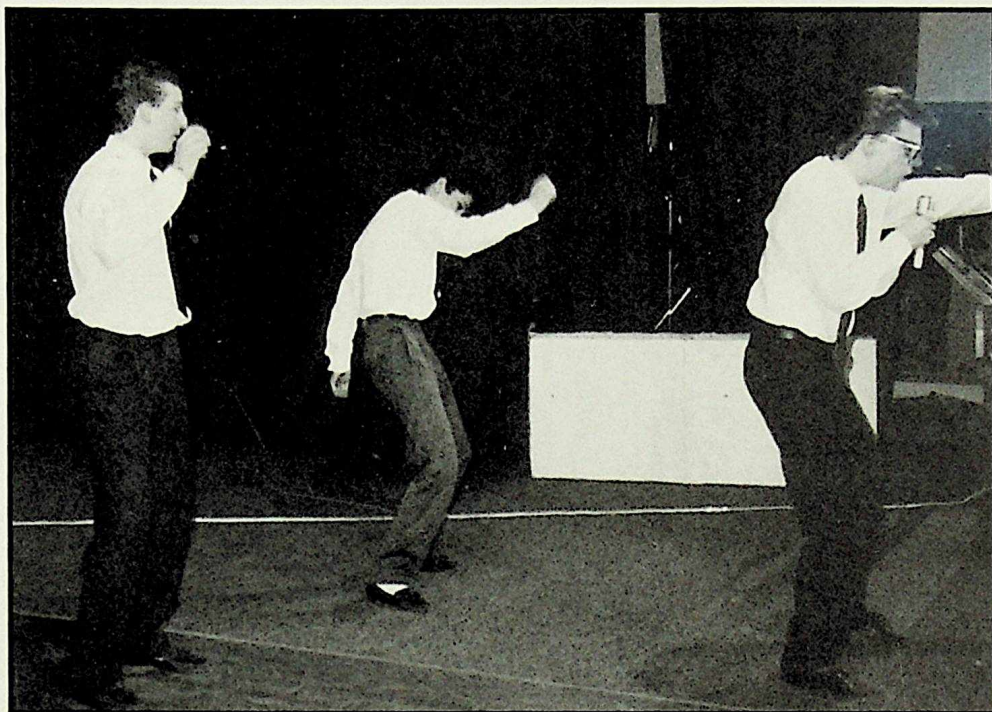

Have you ever had an immense urge to run around on a stage and try to act like a star, be lynched or have tomatoes thrown at you? All this and a chance to win money too! Yes, you say? Well then you should have been there on Nov. 18, when many of our own students and teachers did all this and more, as the pictures show.

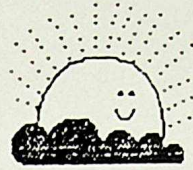

Pump Up the Volume!

Hundreds of screaming people, music, more music, and dozens of unidentified rock stars. Does this sound familiar? You bet it does, because I am talking about the McNally Air Band #2. This sequel to the first Air Band also offers participants a chance to gain fame and fortune. All those who participated did an excellent job but unfortunately only three winners could be chosen. The winning bands — Third place: "Six Pack of Sheiks", Second place: "The Jackson Three" (with special appearance by Joey Moss), First place: "The New Roy Orbison & K.D. Lang". Honorable mention goes to "The Four Heads".

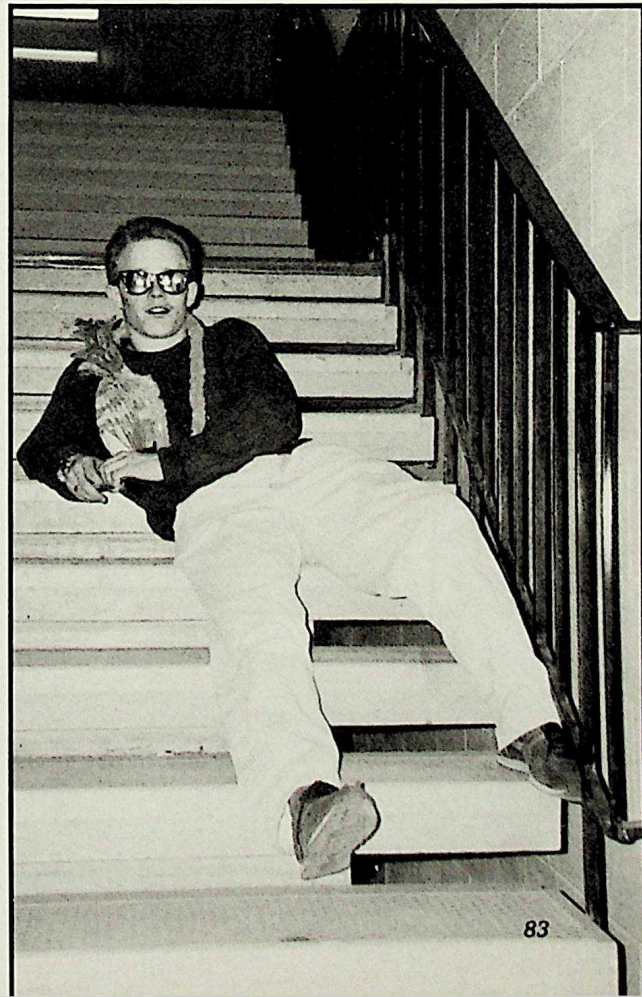

Paradise Found

Life's a Beach

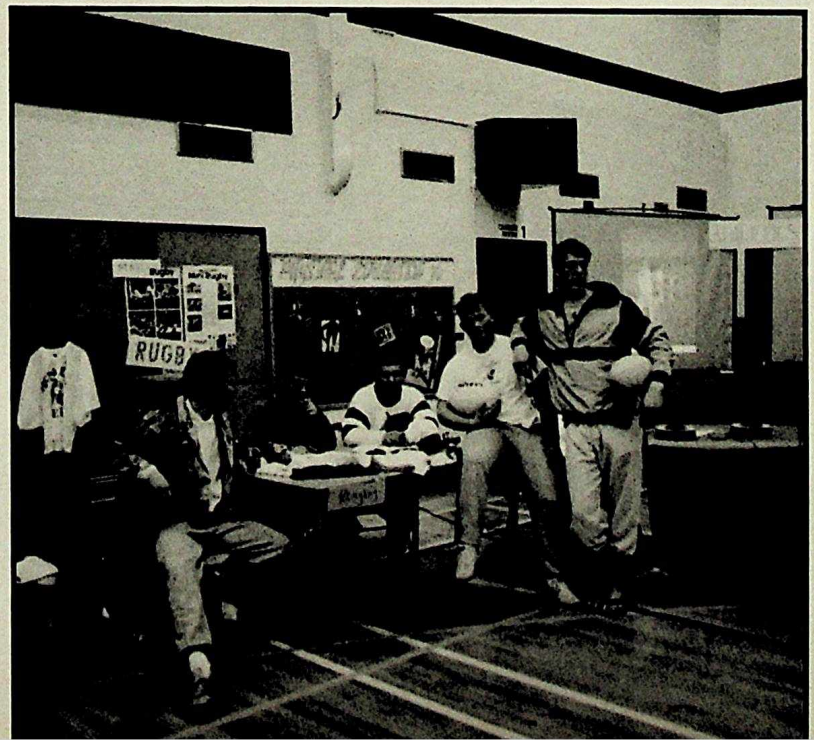

Have you ever found yourself sitting in class dreaming of such exotic places as Hawaii, Tahiti, Bermuda or Miami Beach? Then waking up to the realization that you have no way of getting to any of these locations? Well, if you can't get to a sunny beach, why not let the Students Union bring the beach to you? I am talking about Beach Day, that one time of the year when you can be the tackiest dressed inland surfer in the school, or if surfing is not your game you can be a tourist with the loudest shirt known to mankind. Beach Day is the one day in the year when you can show off your best beachwear and have a good time miles away from the beach. Next year when Beach Day comes ashore, go all out and cut loose with all the school spirit and tiger pride you have, dude!

Open to All

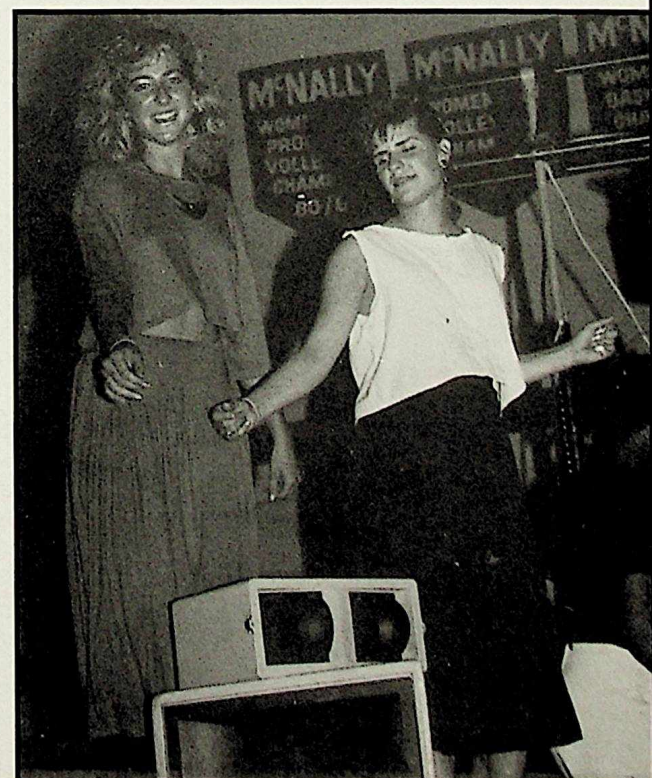

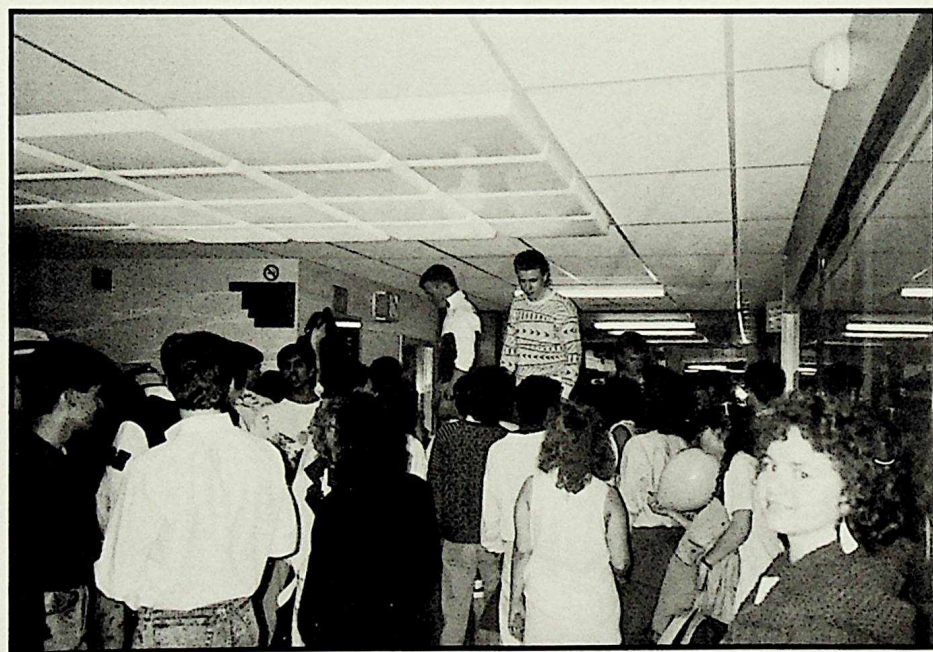

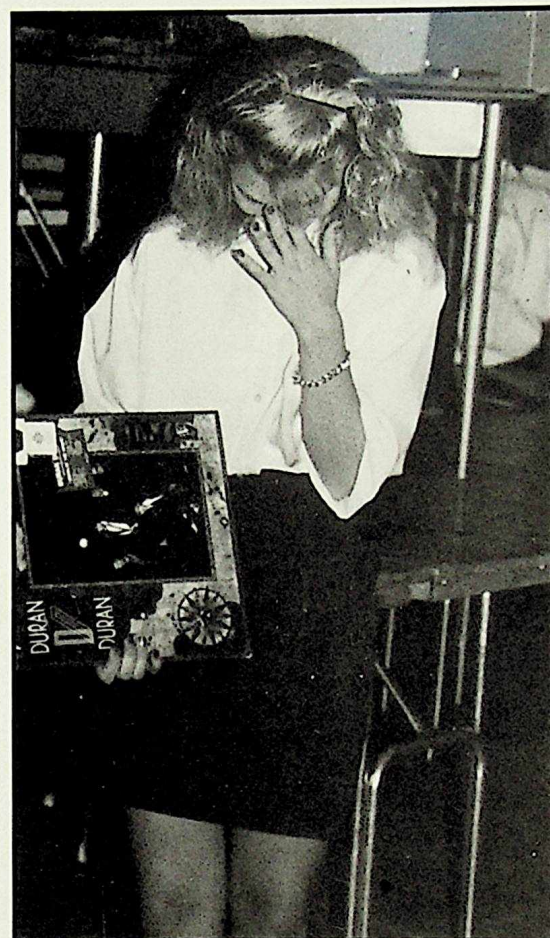

The McNally open house was a chance for our school to open its doors to all who wished to see what the school has to offer to prospective students. This year's open house had to be the best one ever, with an estimated 1200 people in attendance. Every display had a crowd of people around it at any given moment. There were some productions going on in the drama room, gymnastics and wrestling demonstrations in the large gym, a bake sale held by the grad council, and even a reaction test set up by the Drivers Ed. department. There is simply not enough room to list all the events that went on at the open house, so that if you want to see everything, go to next year's open house at McNally.

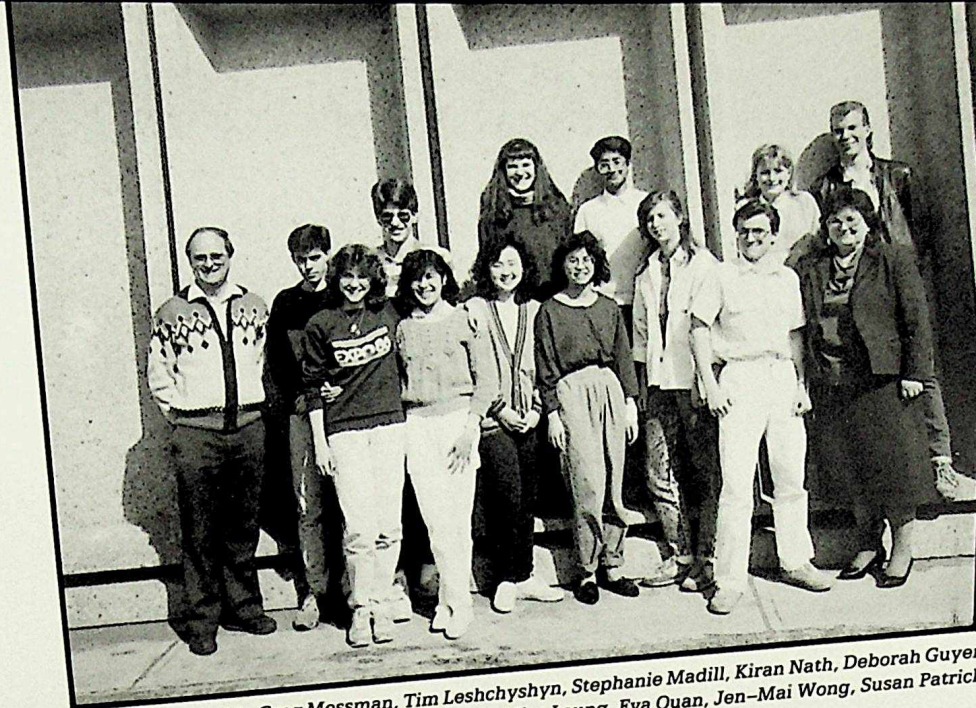

In The Midnight Hour

Long ago, in a land far, far away . . . Creatures arrived upon the empty benches where they waited, waited . . . their bodies swaying back and forth as steady approaches . . . The Midnight Hour. Onward the rhythm flowed through their bones as they screamed out into the dark night, "Get l . . . d, get f . . . ed!" Still closer comes . . . The Midnight Hour. Soon their rhythm becomes distorted and order returns . . . Suddenly, out of nowhere . . . Light! And the creatures fly for the first time to the dance floor, and onward, onward to (the coat check . . . In The Midnight Hour . . .

Acknowledgements

Until one has actually worked on the yearbook, it is difficult to imagine the tremendous amount of WORK required to put together a decent yearbook. For each page, people are needed to take photographs, to identify the people in group photos, to count every single character in the write-up (so that we know how much space it will take up on the page), to do the lay-out (which means placing the photos and copy in some semblance of order on the page), and to check (and re-check and re-check . . .) it all. Trying to keep track of all the various jobs to be done and the people who are doing them is mind-boggling (as we soon found out). Thanks to the students who stayed with us through the sunshine and the storms, you now hold this yearbook in your hands. As well, we wish to thank Mr. Granger, the Friesen Yearbook representative who extended the deadlines when we were desperate, and to Miss Marika, who gave us advice when we were confused. This yearbook means a lot to us, and we hope that this yearbook means a lot to you as well, so that five, ten, or even twenty years from now, you will still cherish it.

Yours sincerely,

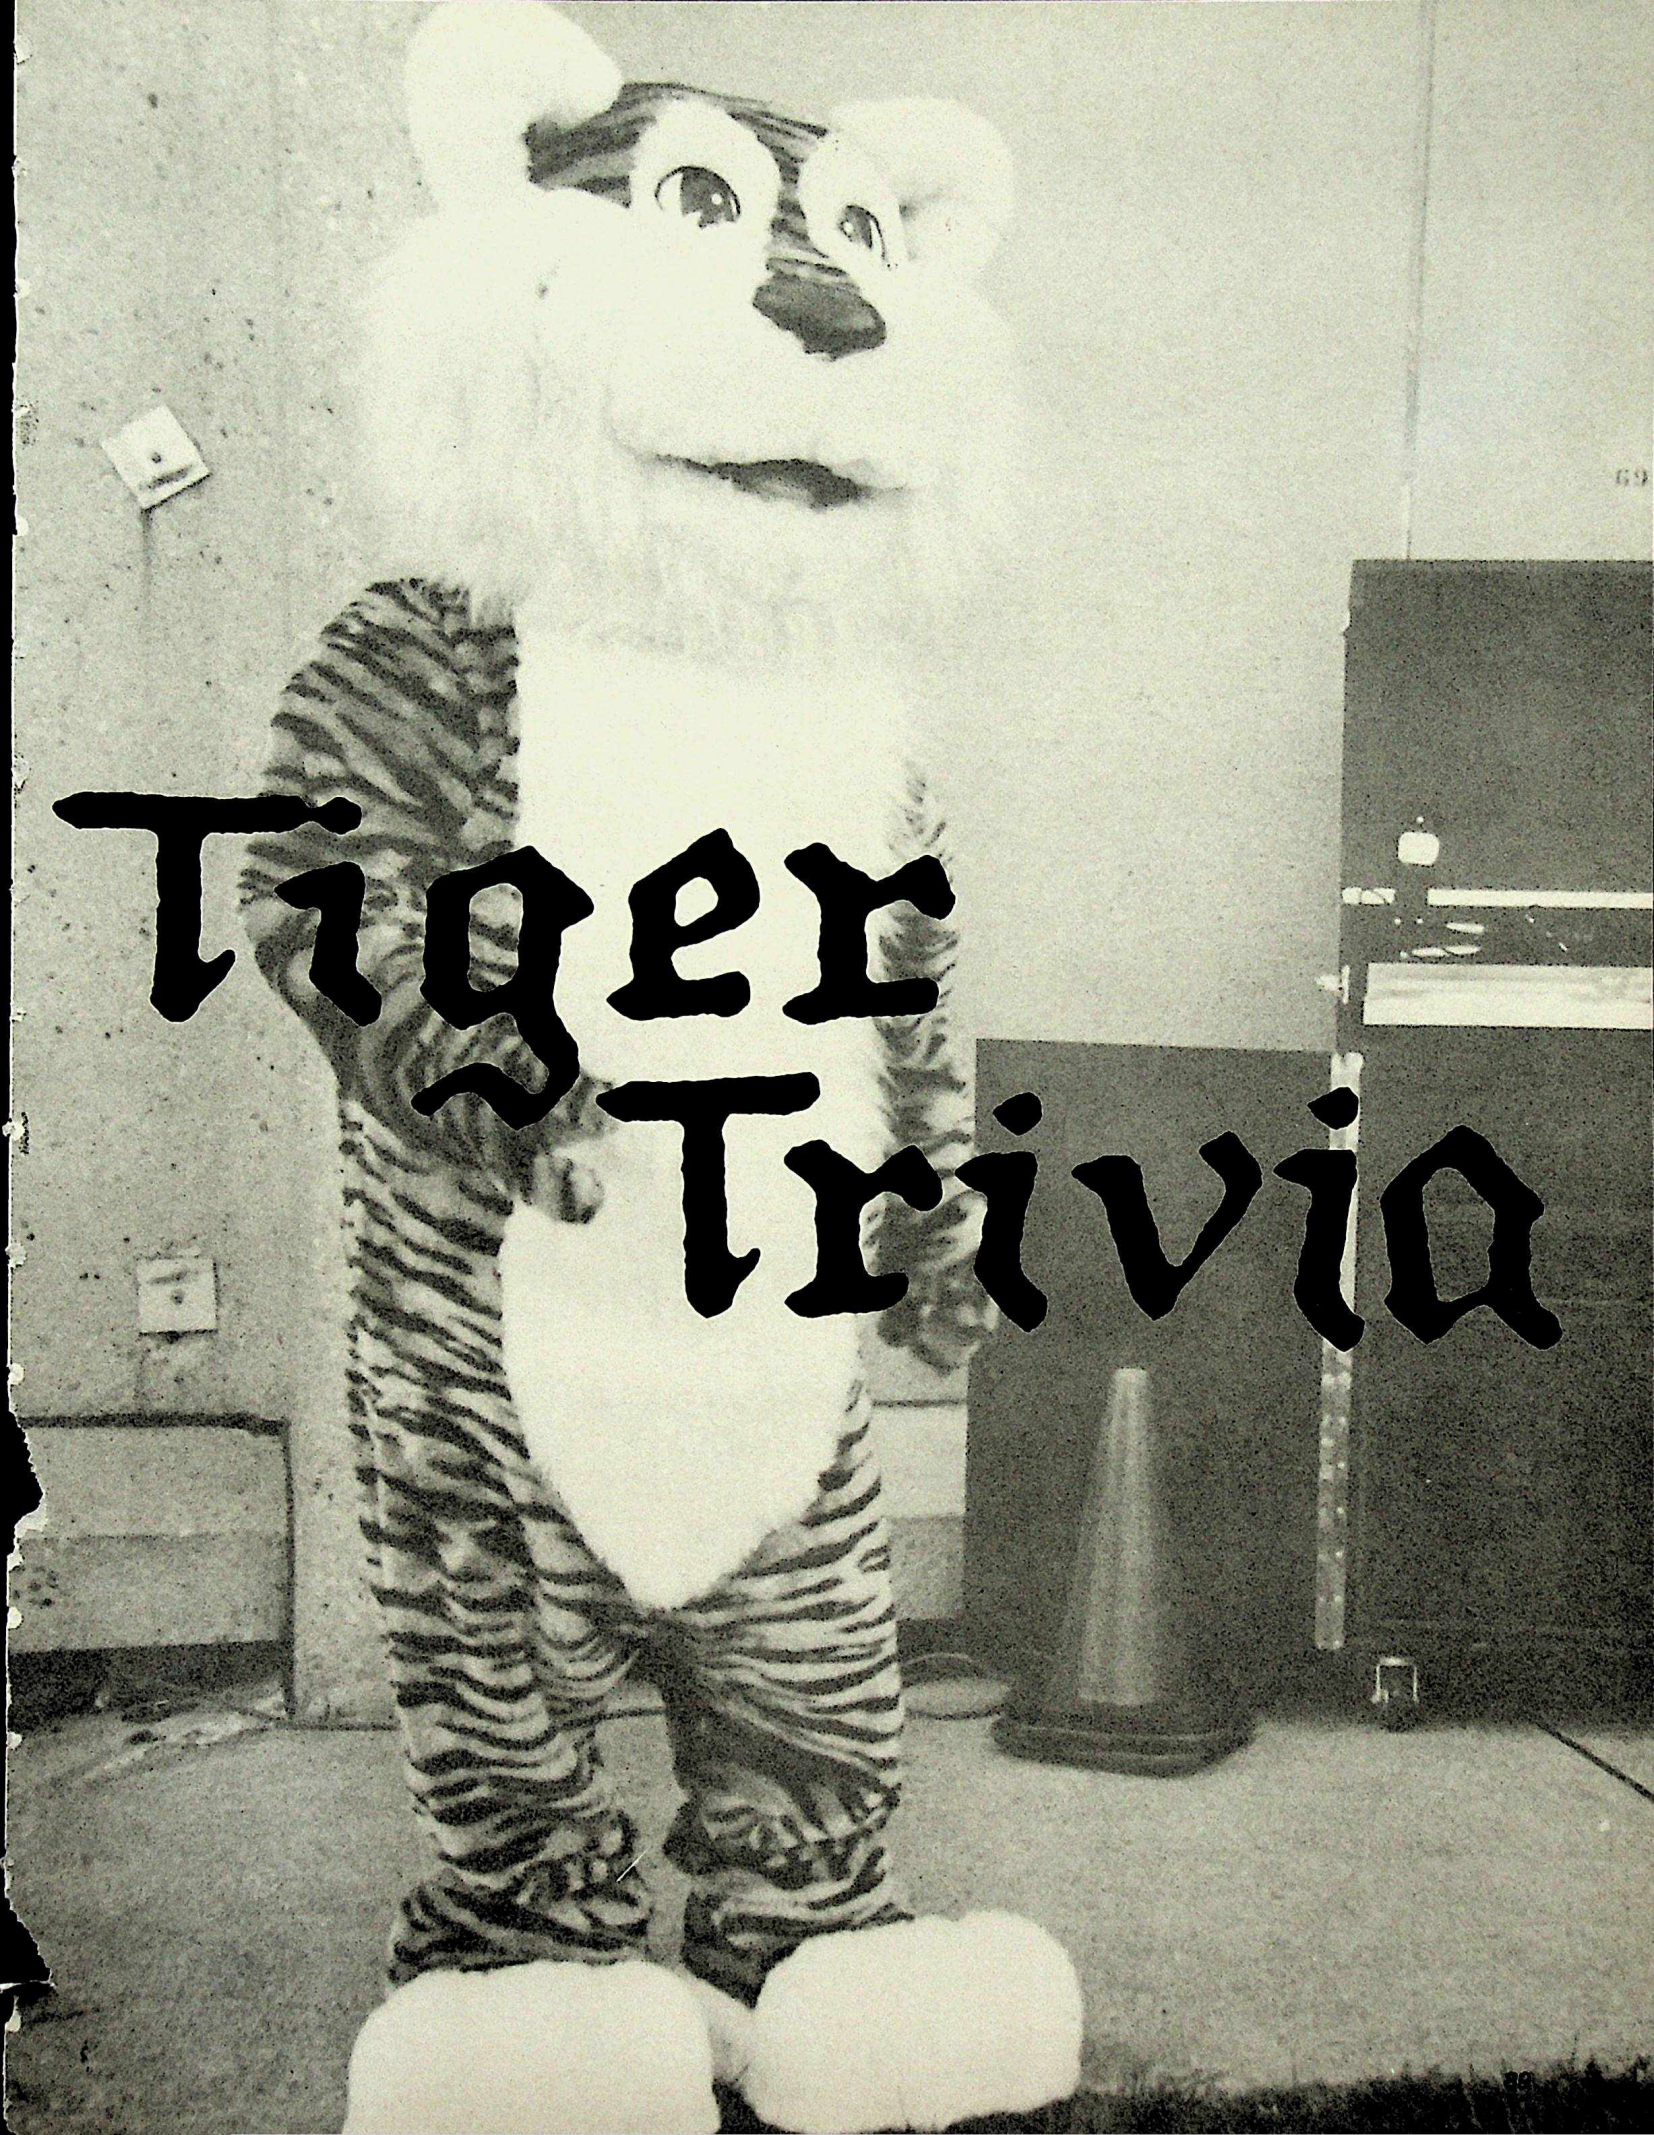

The Yearbook Editors,
Alice Leung and
Sandra Fishburne

A special thanks to our typists, who spent countless hours deciphering and typing chicken-scratch:
Teresa Abram (who came in when we desperately needed typists)
Lisa Clisby
Sandra Fishburne (who taught the typists how to use the Mac system and answered countless pleas for help) Jessie Layman (who skipped numerous lunches and suppers while while typing)

Mrs. Leadbeater's Block 1 and 2 — Semester 2 Typing 30 class (who typed the grad memories, saving us from having to spend weeks [months, years?] doing it ourselves)
Tim Leshchysyn (who helped during the final rush)
Alice Leung (who typed just before deadlines simply because there was a shortage of available bodies to type)
Bill Mannerfeldt (who typed here and there)
Greg Mossman (who practically lived in the yearbook room)
Kiran Nath (who sacrificed lunch hours to aid us)
Nahid Pathan (who came in to help in the frantic hours just before the FINAL deadline)
Eva Quan
Diane Wild (see Teresa)
Amanda Wong
Jen-Mai Wong (without whom much of the typing would not have been done)
A special thanks also to our photographers, (who spent so much time getting photos of events and scheduling (and rescheduling and rescheduling . . .) group photos:
Tim Leshchysyn
Mark Lindeneau
Bill Mannerfeldt
Mr. Al Smith (who took the most gorgeous photos and was practically attached to his camera)

Tiger Trivia

Guide to Choosing the Right Club for You

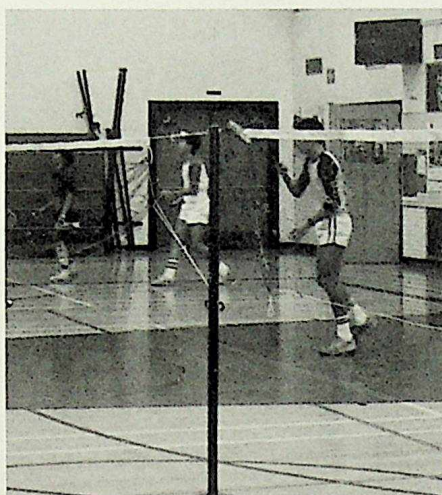

Faced with wide assortment of school clubs, have you ever signed up for a dozen of them in a mad panic at the beginning of the year, (after being convinced by the club canvassers on Club's Day that their club is the "right" one for you?). Later you find that you can't stand any of the clubs you joined. Of course by that time, it's a tad late to reverse your decisions since you have already paid the non-refundable club membership fees (which range from absolutely nothing to an arm and a leg). To save you from the hassle of jumping from one club to another and from wasting your money on clubs you attend only once (giving you the chance to throw away your money on something more rewarding such as junk food and trashy movies), the following descriptions of the available clubs have been provided.

Clubs Day — when club canvassers prey on unsuspecting students

Badminton Club

Do you have super-good eyesight? Do you act before you think? If your answers to both questions is yes, then the Badminton Club is for you. The object of the game is to hit a nearly invisible birdie across an almost transparent net with a racket full of holes (which is why you need keen eyes). Since the birdie is usually flying at about 100 km/h, if you think before you act, you'll never be able to hit it.

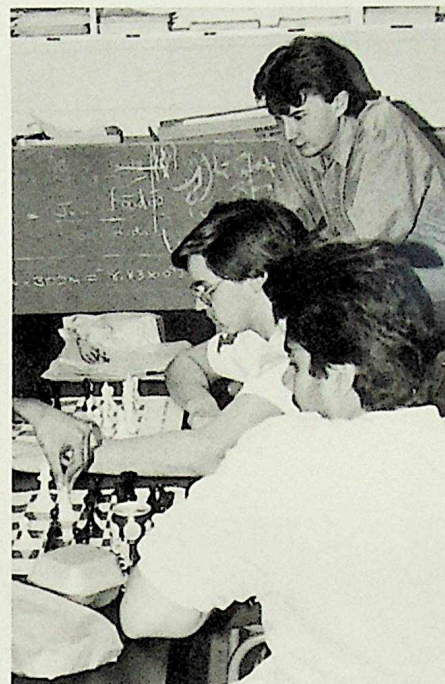

Where's the birdie?

Chess Club

Is your brain in shape? If not, you should stay clear of the Chess Club, in which the brain is required to perform intense mental acrobatics. Trying to juggle around a wimpy king, an over-aggressive queen, moving castles (which is what rooks look like to non-chess players), zealous knights and confused pawns is a mind-boggling feat. This is shown by the deeply furrowed brows (you could almost see brain cells jumping around in there), glazed eyes, and sweat pouring down from the faces of hard-core chess players (which disproves the myth that chess requires less exertion than wrestling or football).

Mr. Glasel, deep in a Chess-Player's Trance

Chess, a game in which every move counts

Curling Club

If the thought of moving stones on ice with a broomstick appeals to you, then you should join the Curling Club. However, if you do not like participating in team sports, you are advised to avoid this club as your disgruntled team mates might accidentally (or on purpose?) drop a stone on your foot.

These curlers evidently get along.

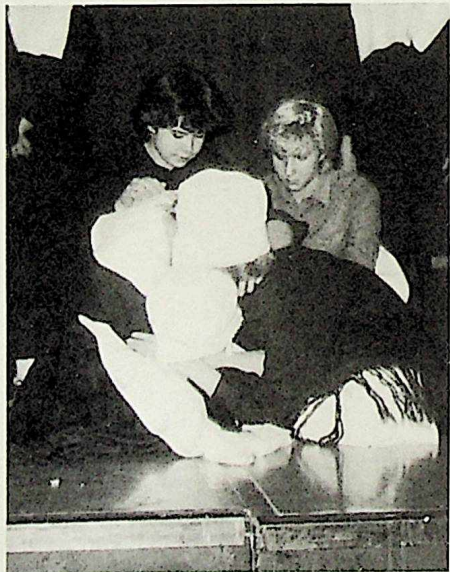

Debate Club

Do you have strong opinions concerning everything from Canada's free trade policy with the U.S. to your favorite McDonald's food? Can you shout down everyone within a two-mile radius? If so, you should join the Debate Club, which gives you the unique opportunity to test your vocal skills with an opponent. The one who makes the most noise and who can come up with the most outrageous figures under pressure wins.

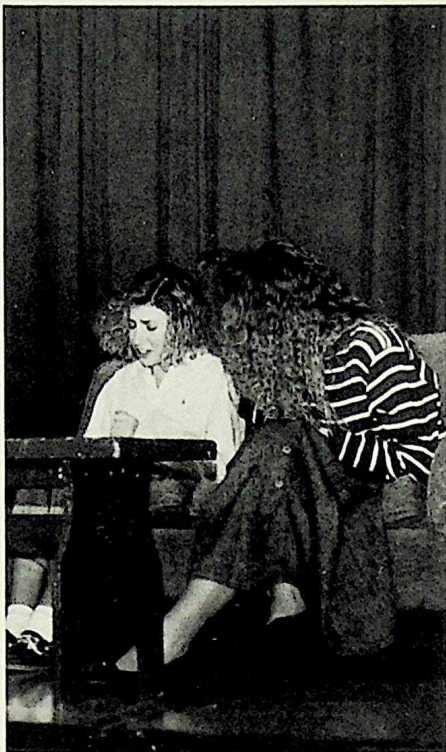

Drama Club

If you have a flair for acting (meaning you can lie to your parents with a straight face), this club is for you. This club is not recommended for those of you who get embarrassed easily. In other words, you blush even when the teacher calls out your name in class. You might end up with a permanently red face.

"Her claws, she's stretching her claws!" (The Crucible)

Waited upon hand and foot by electronic gadgetry

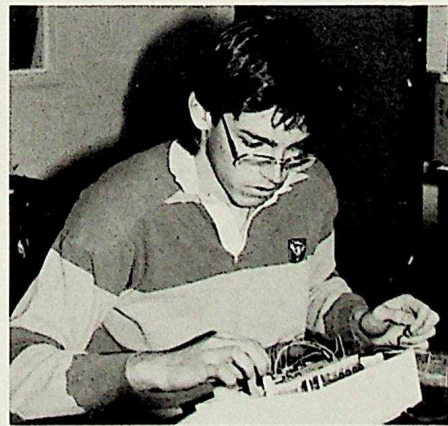

Tituba backstage

Electronics Club

When you were a kid, did you like playing with Lego? Do you still play with Lego? For those of you who enjoy building complicated gadgets out of millions of pieces of odd-shaped bits and multi-colored wires, the Electronics Club is for you. Those of you who panic when anything goes wrong with your walkman or calculator (only to discover that the batteries are dead) are definitely not recommended for this club.

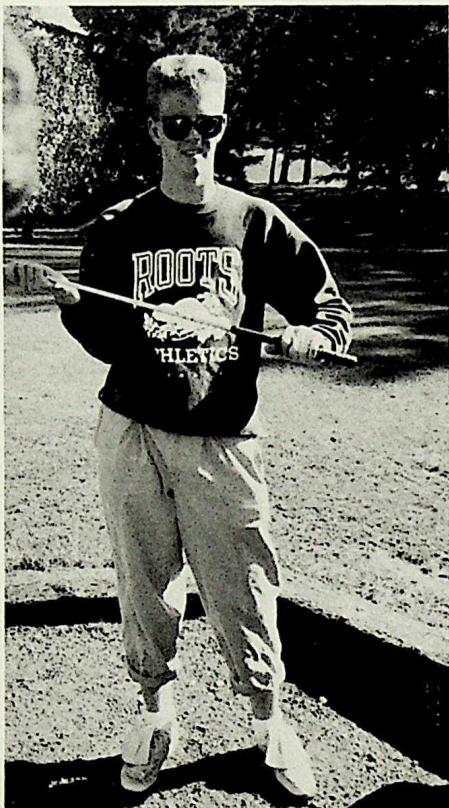

This looks great, but does it work?

This plug doesn't work here. Maybe it'll work there. Then again . . .

Golf Club

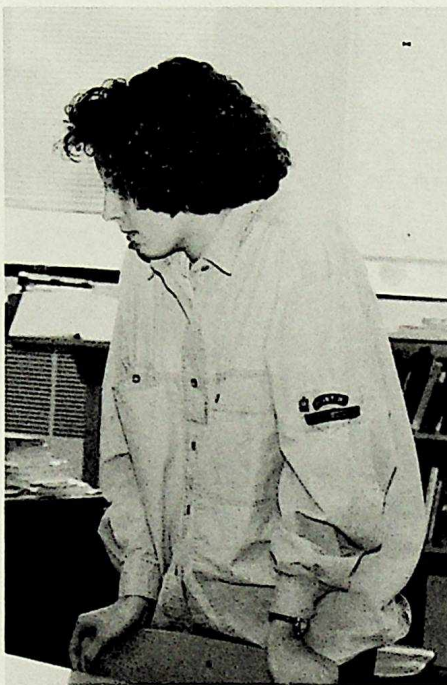

How good is your hand-eye coordination? If you're one of those people who can't hit a baseball if your life depended on it, then you should not join the Golf Club. You might end up spending most of your time trying to find your golf ball amongst the bushes, the water traps and sand pits so that after a game of golf, you'll look like you went through the Vietnam War.

Hiking Club

Are you a couch potato? If you are, you shouldn't even think of joining the Hiking Club. You'll only pass out part of the way through the first mile.

However, if you think that you might enjoy the challenge of marching on rocky trails for hours without any end in sight, then you should consider joining this club. After all, a few dozen itchy mosquito bites and swollen blisters is a small price to pay for the marvelous experience of seeing nature up close, isn't it?

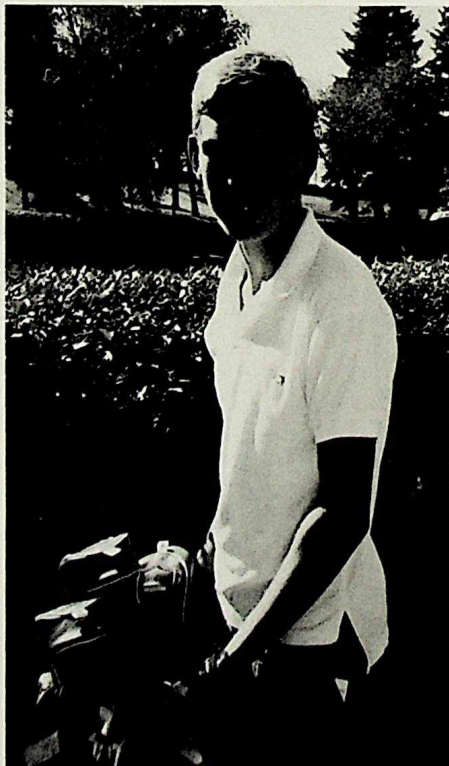

Being inspired for Literary Arts?

Literary Arts Club

Do you spend countless hours writing corny poetry or doodling during class? If so, you should join the Literary Arts Club, where you have the opportunity to put your thoughts and feelings down on paper to be distributed to the unwary general public so that they can puzzle over the deep hidden symbolism of your work (which even you aren't too sure you understand).

Newspaper Club

Have you ever watched the news (especially after you have flipped through all the other channels and found that the shows on at that time are as appealing as re-runs of Three's Company?) and wished that you could lead the exciting life of a reporter? If so, the Newspaper Club offers you the golden opportunity to become a roving reporter. All you have to do is to be at the right place at the right time with your eyes and ears open, with something to write on as well as something to write with. The lack of any one of these factors could lead to somewhat less than brilliant reporting, which could be why most of us avoid reading or listening to the news.

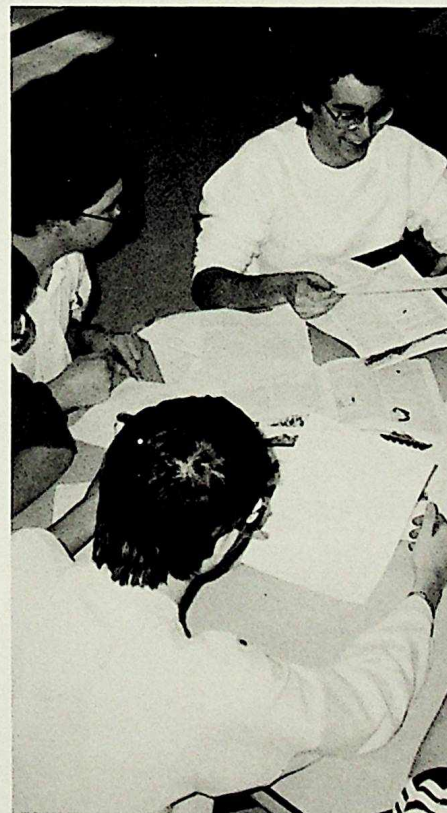

No-Show Club

This club is the perfect one for those of you who would rather vegetate in the hallways during lunch hour, or who are so out of it that nothing less than World War III would wake you up.

Role-playing taken too far?

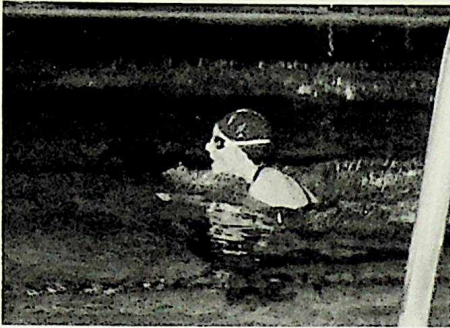

Creation of a new fantasy world

Role-Playing Club

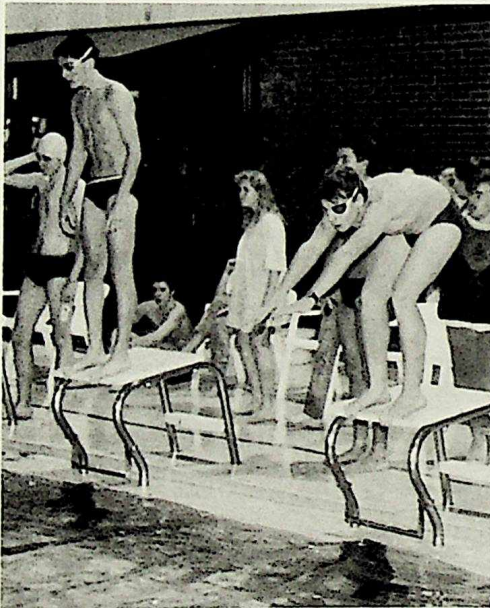

Do you long to be someone else? Well, the Role-Playing Club offers you the golden opportunity to be whomever your heart desires, whether it be a bumbling magician or a dim-witted warrior. The added advantage of this club is that if you are accidentally (or not accidentally?) killed during a game, you may always be reincarnated into another character.

Swim Club

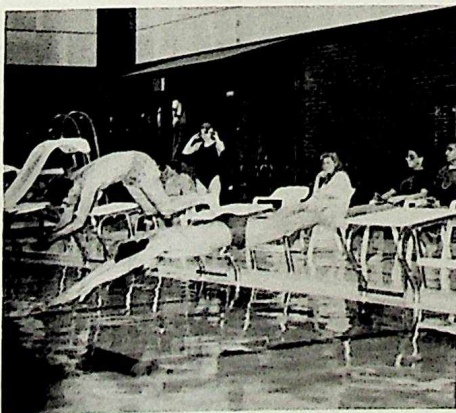

If you like spending countless hours soaking in the bath tub (much to the annoyance of your family), or if you like taking long showers (so that halfway through washing your hair, the water has turned from luke-warm to ice cold), you should consider joining this club. The added bonuses of this club are that you can drink all the chlorinated water you want (or even if you don't want to) and that you will never have to worry about body odor since you'll end up smelling permanently like disinfectant.

Gulp! Gaspl

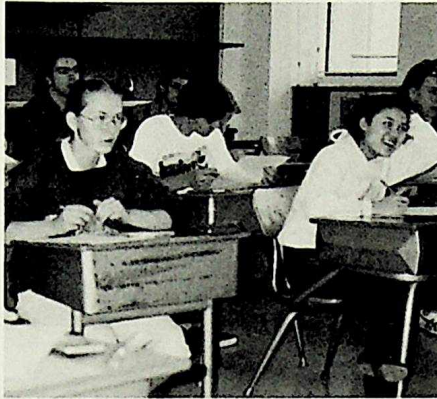

I sure hope the water isn't freezing!

Here I go!

Travel Club

At school, do you dream of roaming the streets of London or sight-seeing in Paris (or for that matter, any place as long as it is outside the classroom)? The Travel Club can make your dream come true! There is one small catch (You knew there would be one, didn't you?), which is that you must either have more than a thousand dollars stashed in your piggy bank to pay for the cost, or have parents who are willing to part with their cash in return for their peace of mind during the entire time that you are away.

Do you daydream in class?

Yearbook Club

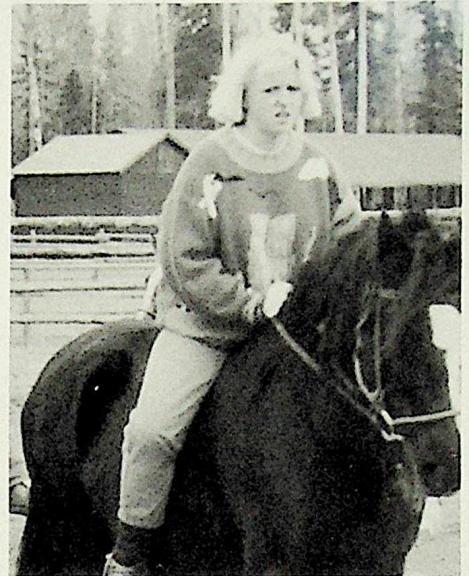

Can you write almost coherently, type faster than three words per minute, take photos with an auto-everything camera, or draw a straight line with a ruler? If you can do any (or all) of the above, the Yearbook Club can use you. In return, you get the opportunity to work in a most confusing and panic-ridden environment (trying to meet deadlines that passed a week ago) so that when you get out into the work force, you'll feel right at home.

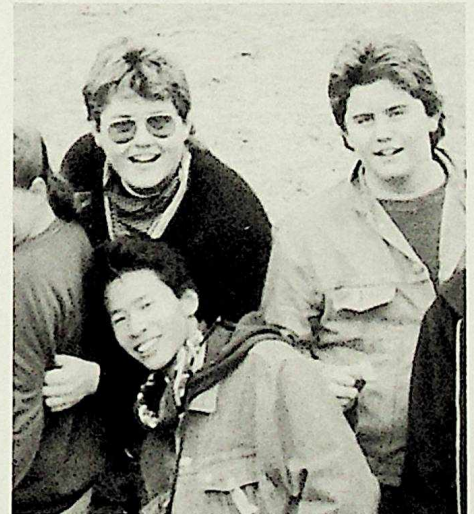

Yearbook typists trying frantically to meet the deadline.

Young Life

Are you alive? Are you young? If you are one or the other (preferably both), you are welcome to join this club. This Christian-oriented club does a variety of activities each week so that you can be quite sure that you won't die of boredom and you can even meet other people at the same time.

Young Life on horseback

Definitely young and alive!

As the sun broke over the horizon, light fell upon a rag-tag group. The time . . . early spring in the year 2000. The place . . . remains of war-ravished Poland. The group . . . remains of the once mighty armies fighting, no longer for their countries, for survival in the wastelands. The world as we know it has passed into the vague obscurity of a forgotten memory.

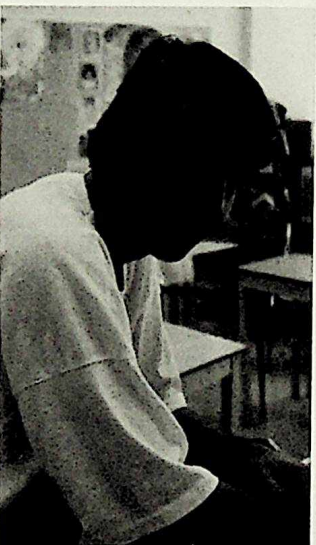

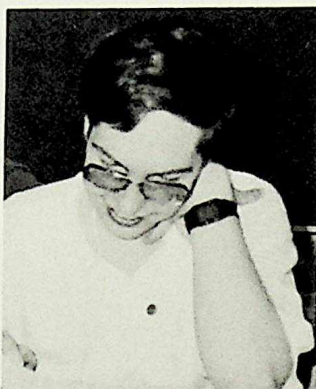

The group passed into a clearing. Suddenly the air erupted as the bullets from an M-60 sliced through the crisp, morning air. Almost mechanically, the group scattered, dropped to the ground, and began to return fire. Then, from the hand of one of them, a grenade sailed off into space. Where it landed was where they had hoped, for, as the dust began to settle from the explosion, the bullets ended their burrage. Another beautiful day had started in the world of Twilight 2000.

Meanwhile . . .

In the skies above, an elite group of the American Naval Air Force made a routine patrol of their airspace. Suddenly their radar flashed up 5 unidentified blips closing fast. This was it, as the onboard computer identified the blips to be Russian Mig-23's, their months of training would now be put to the test. Now was the time that a simple roll of the dice would be the deciding factor between life and death for their characters.

The grade twelve McNallyite leans casually on his dull green 1972 Firebird, to him the most beautiful vehicle of transportation on the face of the earth. He dons his dark sunglasses and runs his fingers through his hair, scanning the surrounding terrain.

Grade 12 perpetuates his thoughts. This is his year. Complete with pictures and ceremony — real official stuff. Finally and at long last he will enter the real world. Who shall he ask to the Prom? He takes out his black book and fantasizes about who would agree to go with him.

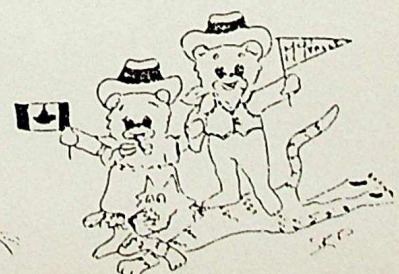

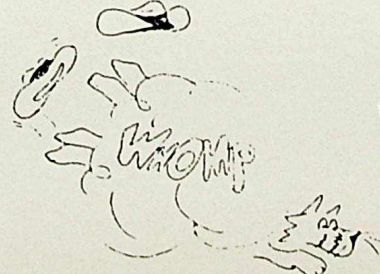

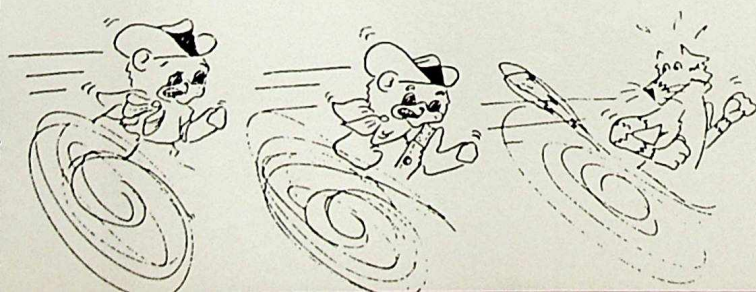

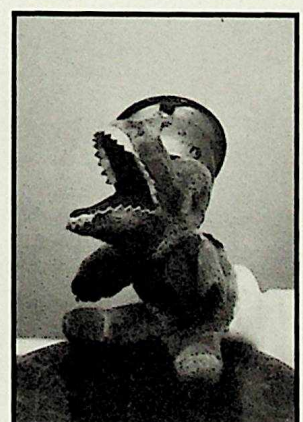

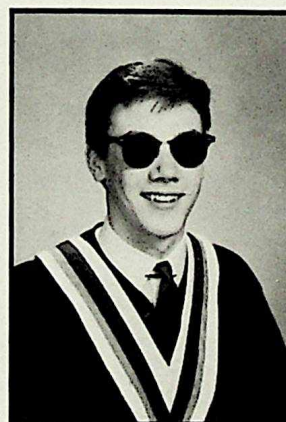

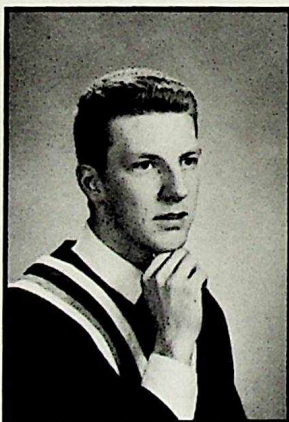

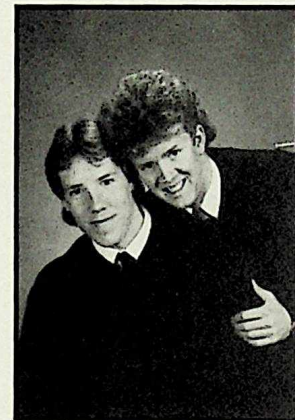

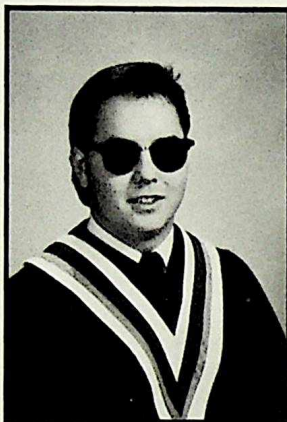

He joins his legion of friends and strolls nonchalantly into the school. The cool group. McNallyites of three years.

Throughout the first class he sleeps soundly due to lack of sleep that near-obsolete activity the night before, the result of a 10 million word essay he traditionally left until the last moment.

Noon hour, he takes off to McDonalds with some friends, sporting ghettoblasters and walkmans. They then hang out in the hallways and cafeteria, acting superior in the presence of "the lower grades" and regressing when the coast is clear.

The afternoon holds a spare during which he jokes with his peers and attempts to impress the girls with his accumulated knowledge of 18 years.

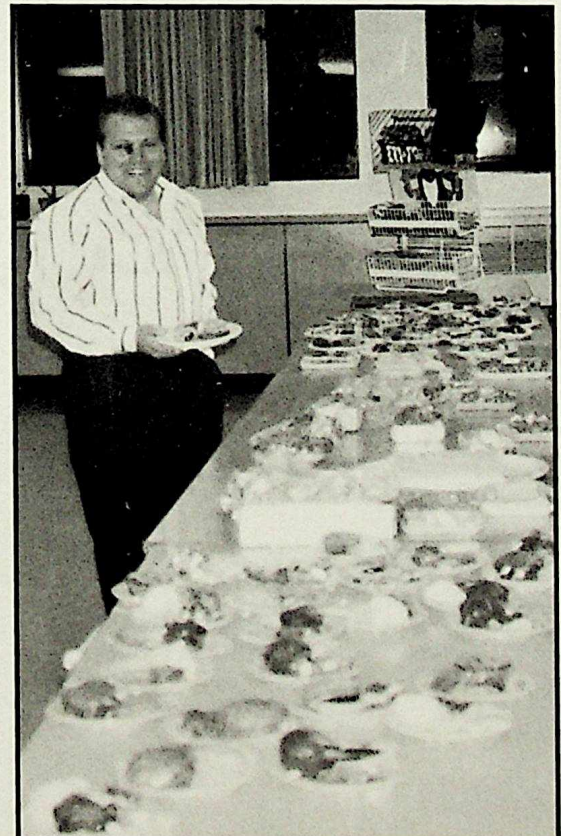

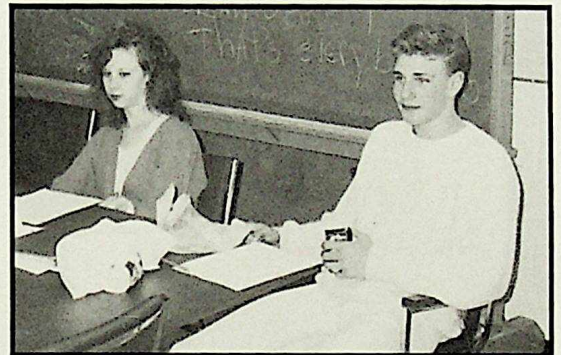

2:50. He saunters over to his locker, and then towards the doors to the students' parking lot. He's at the top of the school now, a towering figure to cowering 10's and 11's. The school is his. Oh, hi, Mr. Sheppard . . .

Everyone wants their grad year to be the greatest! After surviving twelve years of being in the school system, the grads are ready to go wild and celebrate. Grad photos, the Prom, the Ceremonies and the Banquet are all major events of the Grade 12 year. Working behind the scenes to make these events happen are dedicated students who spend countless hours making sure that all the annoying details are taken care of so that the events don't flop. Of course, money is needed to fund these events, and thanks to the grad fund-raisers, the Grade 12 students don't have to go into debt just to attend the graduation ceremonies and banquet. (The costs for grad dresses and suits are devastating enough for most students.)

Awards Board

The Tigger Award is what the Awards Board is most known for, but did you know that the Awards Board organizes the McNally awards night, advertises external scholarships, is in charge of trophy cases, is responsible for the pins and certificates as well as chooses the major award winners, service awards, outstanding service awards, the Cheryl Gibson award and the G. Fred McNally award. Now that's a lot of work!

Tigger Awards

The Tigger Award is a small replica of a tiger which for many years has been used to typify the spirit of our school. This award is given, based on the recommendations from the students of McNally. This award is a way of giving public recognition to an individual who has performed valuable services for the student body and boosted school spirit.

CAUTION!

Every student has one (or maybe two, or three, or four, or five . . .); they all look the same on the outside (except during birthdays and pranks). But every locker is uniquely designed on the inside. Usually the interior depicts the person's personality, but don't bet on it! Inside these locker's you'll find balloons (10 to 1 birthday balloons), stickers which are new or have been there for years, mirrors of assorted shapes, sizes, and colors, magnets, posters, pictures of just about anything and many other things that are beyond human description (ie . . . two year old lunches!).

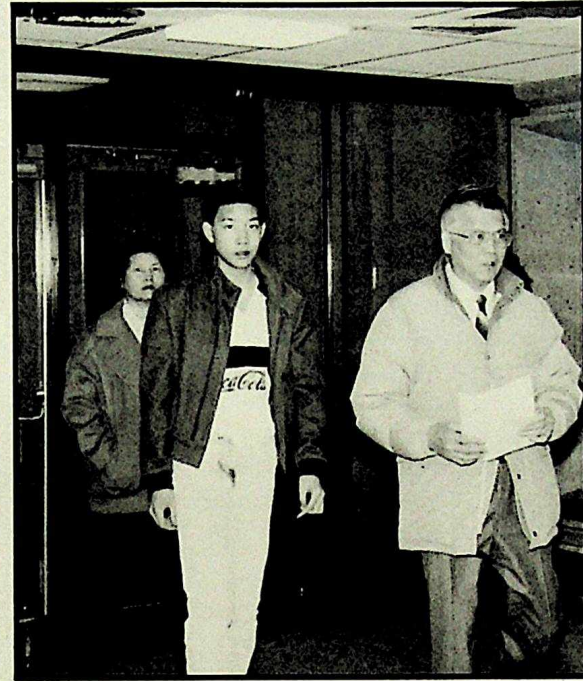

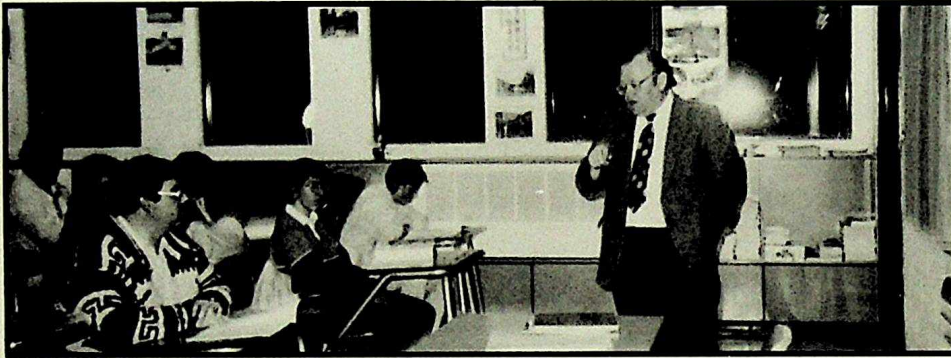

Lockers ahead!

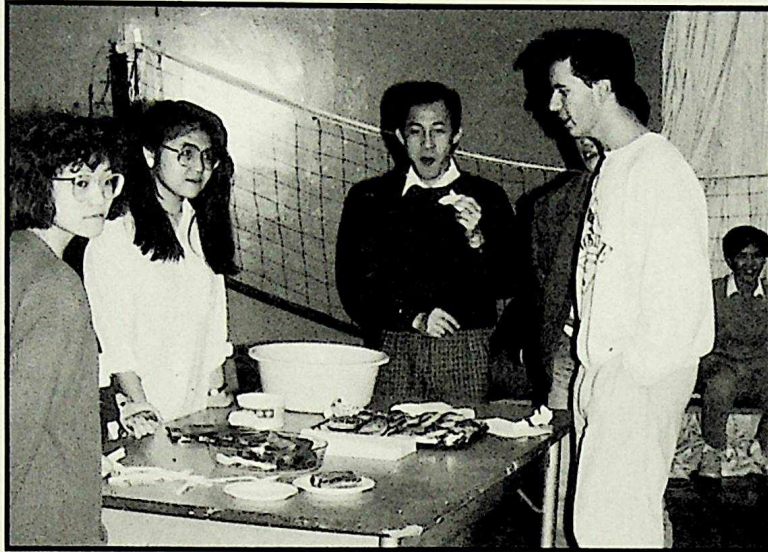

"Where am I? What am I doing here?"

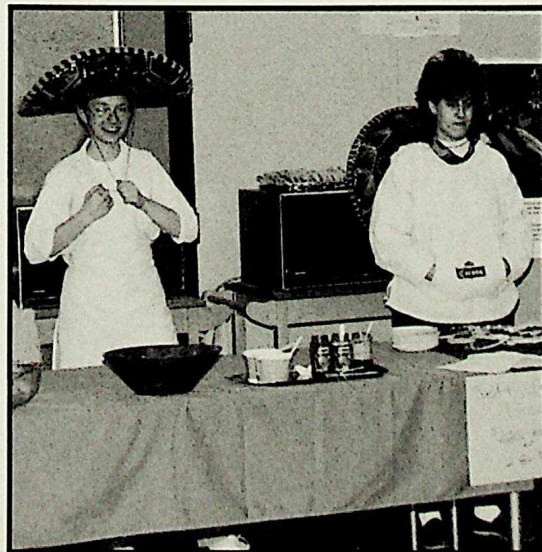

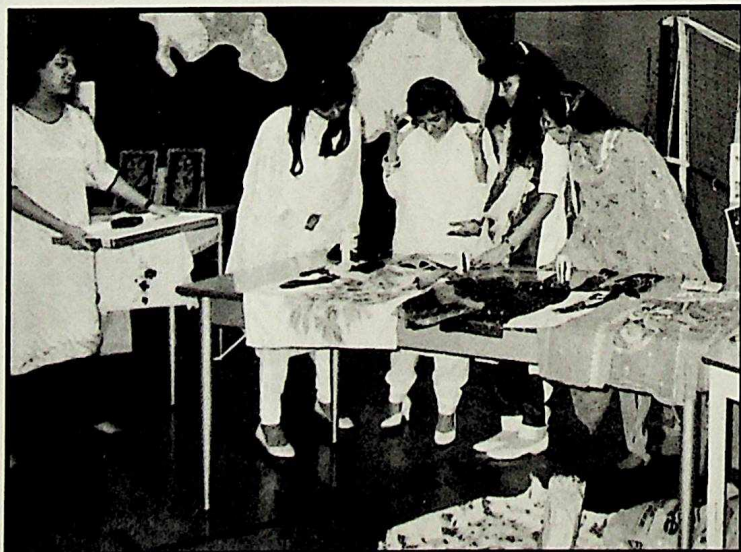

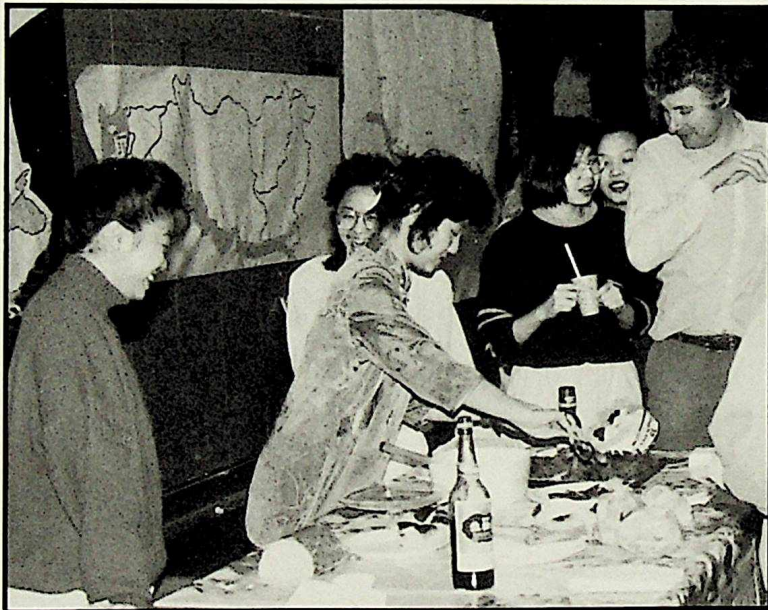

Orientation Days on March 15 and 16, gave next year's McNally Grade 10 students a chance to have all their questions answered, and to reassure their parents that their precious child had not made some horrible mistake which would ruin his or her life. (Parents tend to be perpetual worriers, particularly about their teenage children.) During the information sessions in the classroom, students and their parents who hadn't sat in a desk for years, listened as teachers presented the various subjects offered at the school. After Orientation Days, students who attended had a better idea of what to expect in high school, but like the rest of the students (old and new), they are not immune from occasionally asking "Where am I?" and "What am I doing here?", particularly in the tense moments before a major exam which they aren't ready for.

A Multicultural Feast

It's a cliché to say that Canada is multicultural and that the U.S. is a melting pot, but fortunately for us Canadians, it's true. The students at McNally had a taste of Multiculturalism when students dressed up in ethnic costumes, and food displays from variety of countries were set up in the gym on March 25. Food representing such diverse countries as Greece, Germany, Holland, the Soviet Union, Mexico, Korea, China, Vietnam, and the Ukraine, were offered at reasonable prices (students tending to have budgets which limit them from running out and buying such necessities as a Lamborghini, a new wardrobe or a state-of-the-art stereo system). Generally the food was very palatable (no twitching frogs' legs or hot spices that caused steam to rise from your ears) and in fact, some foods were sold out by the end of the lunch hour. With a brave smile, and curious taste buds, trying out the foods displayed was sure to be an enjoyable (and interesting, if nothing else) experience.

McNally composite high school is known throughout the city for its music program. The program itself boasts three concert bands and two stage bands. There is a brass and percussion class, as well as a separate woodwind class. There is also a combo put together by a few of our students on their own time. The main concert band has been invited again to attend the national festival, held this year in Calgary.

THE BANDS

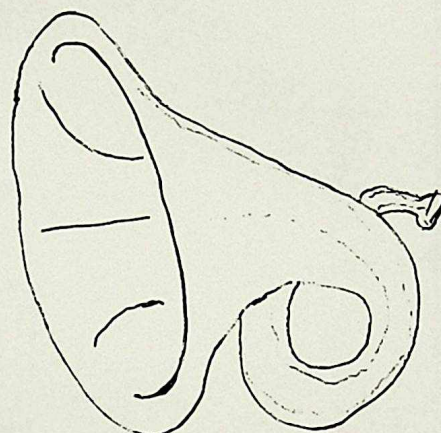

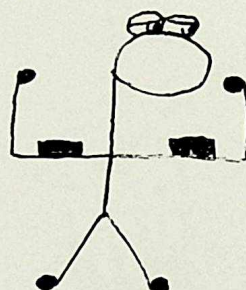

Beginning Band

With respect to music appreciation the trouble is that people are taught to have too much respect for music; they should be taught to love it instead. For those that have never played in the world of music, there is beginning band. This year we have ten students.

The students learn to read music and develop the skills necessary to their particular instrument. Fingerings, facial muscles, notes, dynamics, tone, to mention a few. Sometimes even developing arm muscles too if there are new players crazy enough to take on the tuba, euphonium (baritone), bass, or baritone saxophone.

Intermediate Band

Players from the beginning band can move up to the advanced or intermediate band, which is the equivalent of senior programs in the junior high school level. We have thirty-seven students in intermediate band this year. This band has performed at all the school concerts, as well as McNally's open house. The band hopes to attend a festival in Red Deer in the last part of the year.

McNally's seventy-four piece concert band is a ten credit program. The added class which breaks the ensemble into sections, is one of the main reasons for the band's success. In these classes, difficult sections of pieces are rehearsed, along with technical exercises and instruction for the individual instruments. The concert band participated in Musicfest Alberta 1988 and received a gold medal for its performance. Playing in the halls of Edmonton's Convention Centre is quite a change from stuffing everyone into McNally's miniscule Music room. Storage space! Elbow Room! Breathing Space! (Hint, hint, Mr. Sheppard). Ms. Miller's drama room may be invaded in the near future if the plans for our new band room do not come through soon! Nationals were in Calgary May 17-27.

JAZZ BANDS

Jazz and Classical forms of music are as different as soft rock and heavy metal. Tone, style, articulation, ensemble size and set up are completely different. Jazz styles include rhythm and blues, dance rhythms like jives or sambas, shuffles, swings, Bee-Bop and even rock. McNally hosts two types of jazz groups, stage bands (larger ensembles) and a combo (smaller group for individual performance).

The school has a new music director this year: Mr. Gordon Towel. Mr. T. works in the afternoons with the woodwind classes and the stage bands. Each stage band meets twice a week after school to rehearse. The stage bands have performed at the school concerts as well as the Big Band all and the Festival.

Approximately two months into school seven students started up a combo. Combos are small groups of jazz musicians that work on improvisation, or ad-libbing. Successful improvisation requires a secure knowledge of many types of scales and chords, and spontaneous creativity. Improvising is the art of creating your own music on the spot. No music, at least no specific notes are written in front of you to guide you. Combo pieces start and end in unison, creating unity for the tune. Within the music, each player takes their turn to solo over the accompaniment of the rhythm section, creating their own music. Gene Hochachka, Anand Ablack, Rob Worthington, Rosi Pfalz, Rob Mead, Kevin McKay, and Mike Sommerstad belong to this unique and talented group of musicians. McNally's combo also took part in the Big Band Ball, concerts and the Festival.

All three jazz bands received silver medals at the provincial level and the Sr. Stage Band is invited to Calgary with the Concert Band.

Big Band Ball

McNally's 10th annual Big Band Ball was held this year on Friday February 19th. The evening consisted of a meal served to the guests by the members of the concert band, and dancing while the stage bands played everything from jive's to waltzes. To celebrate ten years of BBBing, an alumni band was formed of 19 McNally graduates. The song "She Works Hard for the Money" was performed with Sherri Kerichuk as soloist. Sherri won McNally's Senior Stage a gold medal by singing this piece a few years ago. All of the stage bands (Jr, Sr and Alumni) as well as McNally's jazz combo with Brent Dunbar on drums worked together to provide dance, music and entertainment for their guests.

Congratulations!

To top off the school's year in jazz, the Alberta Foundation for Performing Arts presented the third annual Tommy Banks Award to McNally's music director, Mr. Garry Silverman. The award included the Tommy Banks Sculpture, designed by Mr. Roy Leadbeater and a cheque.

Mr. Murphy

Heart Breaks

The soft sting of tears can never mend the broken heart. No matter how hard you try, you will never forget how it felt to have him hold you in his arms. The one you loved has broken your heart and left you in tears. At first you are mad at him – how could he do this to you? Next you are mad at yourself for letting him hurt you. Then you feel sorry for yourself and it goes around in a circle. These are the thoughts of a lost love, a "broken heart, a shattered fantasy!

The feeling of absolute loss eventually tears apart even the strong of heart. You feel like you are floating in a void of sorrow, with no visible end in sight. As you walk through your daze everything is like an oblivious blur around you. You want to hide yourself, feeling that everyone can see right through you. On the other hand, you want to tell somebody how you feel. Not knowing what to do, you bottle up your emotions inside of you and there it sits, like a time bomb ready to explode.

Many a person has been devastated by the sudden explosion of these bottled emotions. Being depressed or crying for no reason are some of the effects of this explosion. The worst of all is getting angry at somebody for absolutely no reason. This strains the bonds of friendships; it does not matter how long you have been friends. When this has happened you are in danger of not only ruining friendships but also self-confidence.

The greatest known self-confidence ever achieved comes after you learn to communicate your feelings, before you end up hurting somebody else because of them. If somebody hurts you, do not hold a grudge against them; tell somebody how you feel and you will feel better. You will feel like a vice has been removed from around your heart.

As I see the faces passing by,
hurt,
anger,
frustration,
I can only think of the One,
who can mend their shattered lives.
If they only let Him.

War

Deep in the spring
when poppies grow,
I walk,
passing by the people.
They seem to talk to me,
but I cannot hear them.
I am thinking sad thoughts,
for I was in the war.

But...
you do not understand,
I do not understand,
No one will ever understand
Except for those who died,
But
they cannot tell us...
Can they?

Misting of the river captures bright September sun quietly trees flaunt
yellow, yellow, yellow orange, beet, green
Eternal sun
forever colour
together
The bus descends
deeper, deeper, deeper into riotous colour
silently descending forever
into transparent mist
visible only from above
Moments, eternity
together
one, only, alone
is September morning sun

It is hard to believe that this earth, my Earth
may not always be as it is now.

Music and Love are International

Look, at the faces of the children on the street.
Look, at the love
shown by your close friends.
Look, at the colors
of the people of this world.
Look, at the emotions
felt by every human being.
Listen, to the rhythm
of a baby's heart beat.
Listen, to the sound
that the bells of Christmas make.
Listen, to the love
swirling around the globe.
Listen, to the music
of the wind and the rain.
Look...
and Listen... and Feel...
There is an infinite number of things to see and hear
and feel and touch.
Take a brief moment,
to love another person.
Take a brief moment,
to listen to their music.
Take a brief moment,
to sing a beautiful song....

Because,
Music may be heard
And love may be felt
By the whole world.

H.E.

(Heroic Endeavors)

Despite occasional accidents such as small kitchen fires and mishaps such as radioactive food that was zapped too long in the microwave, the food classes managed to provide tasty goodies for events such as the school drama production of the "The Crucible". The clothing and textile classes must be praised for their "ingenious" creations. Ralph Lauren and Calvin Klein would raise more than a couple of eyebrows had they seen the exquisite tailoring in these classes. At any rate, the skills learned in the Home Economics classes would come in handy should the students ever tire of frozen pizza and/or can't afford to spend six hundred dollars on a pair of pants.

It's good for you. Honest!

Dare I try this?

(Inspired Activities)

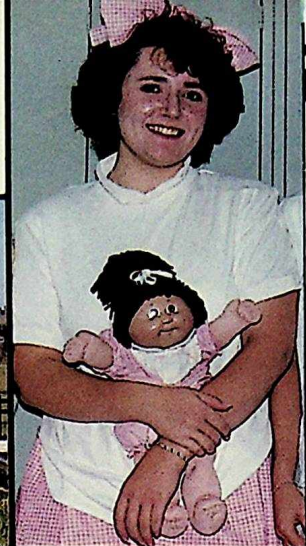

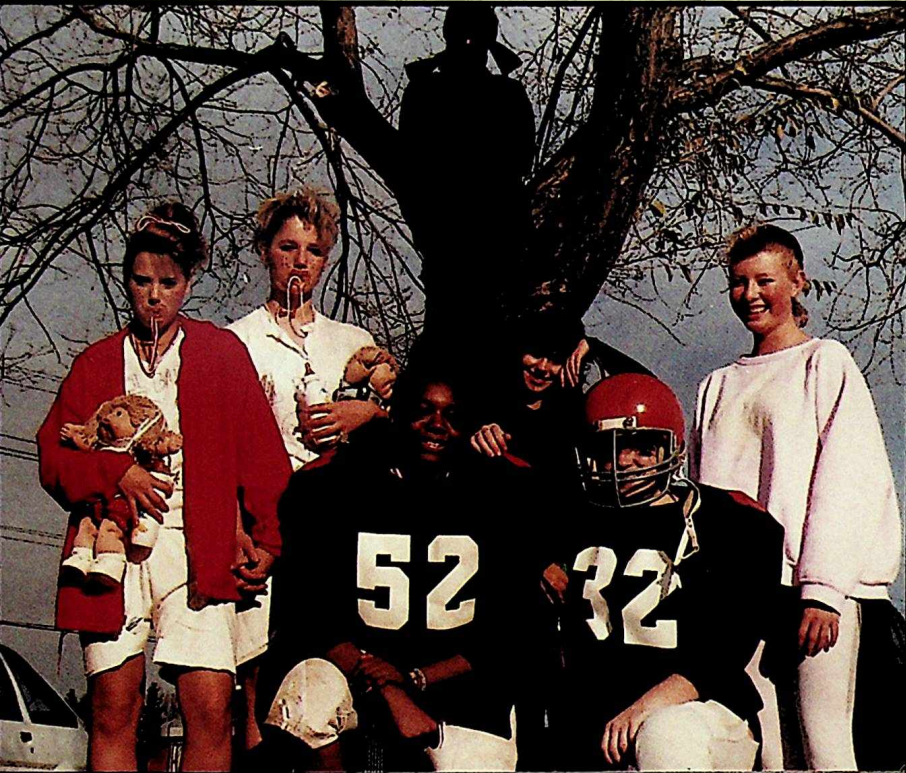

There were only a few obscene posters made in graphics and the shop classes managed to keep the grease fights down to a minimum. However, all jokes aside, the Industrial Arts classes did a lot of work this year (contrary to Mr. Smith's beliefs) despite having a lot of fun too.

Right Mr. Smith?

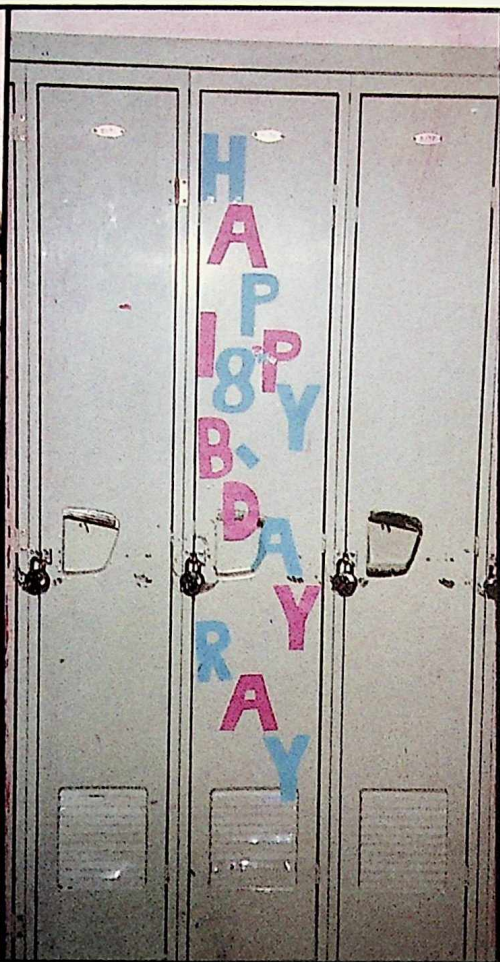

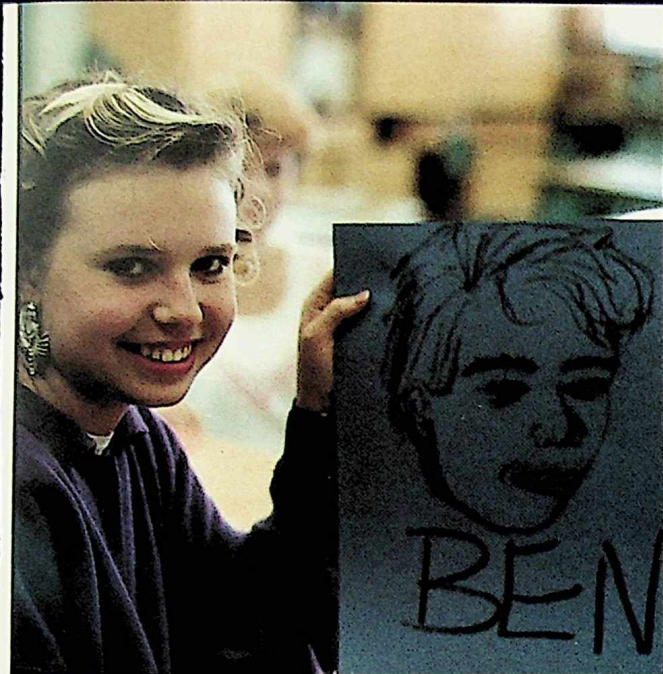

It just reached out and pulled him in.

Recipe for McNally Pot-Pourri

Method: Combine the following ingredients in a large school and mix well. Flavor with McNally spirit and Tiger pride according to taste. Bake in classrooms for three years. Serve to the world.

Note: This recipe varies each time it is made, so that you won't know beforehand how it will turn out. However, each batch has its own distinct flavor which has proven time and time again to please even the most fickle palates.

We wonder if they're still waiting....

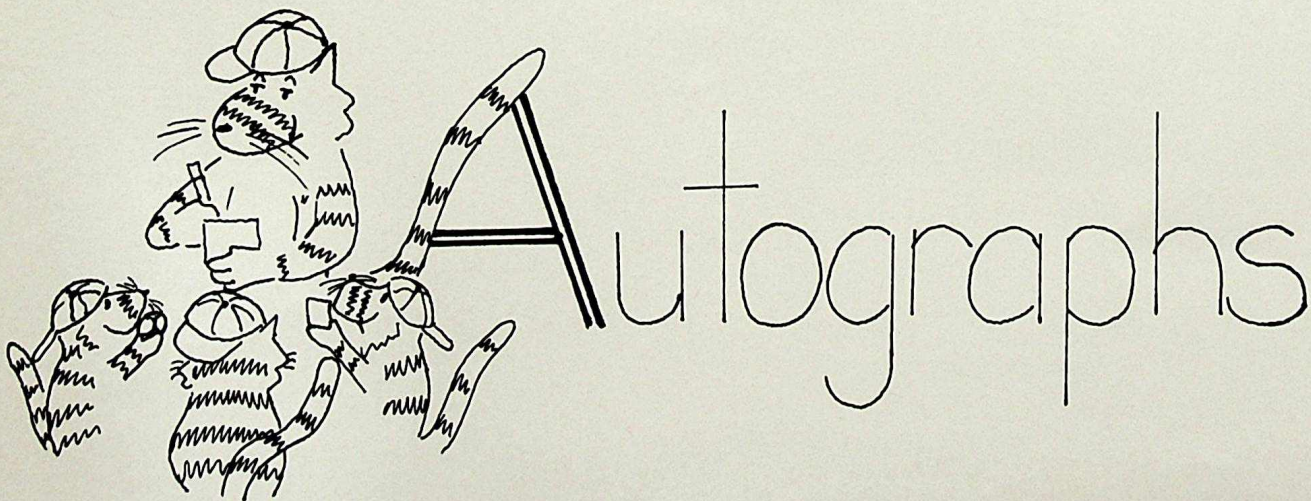

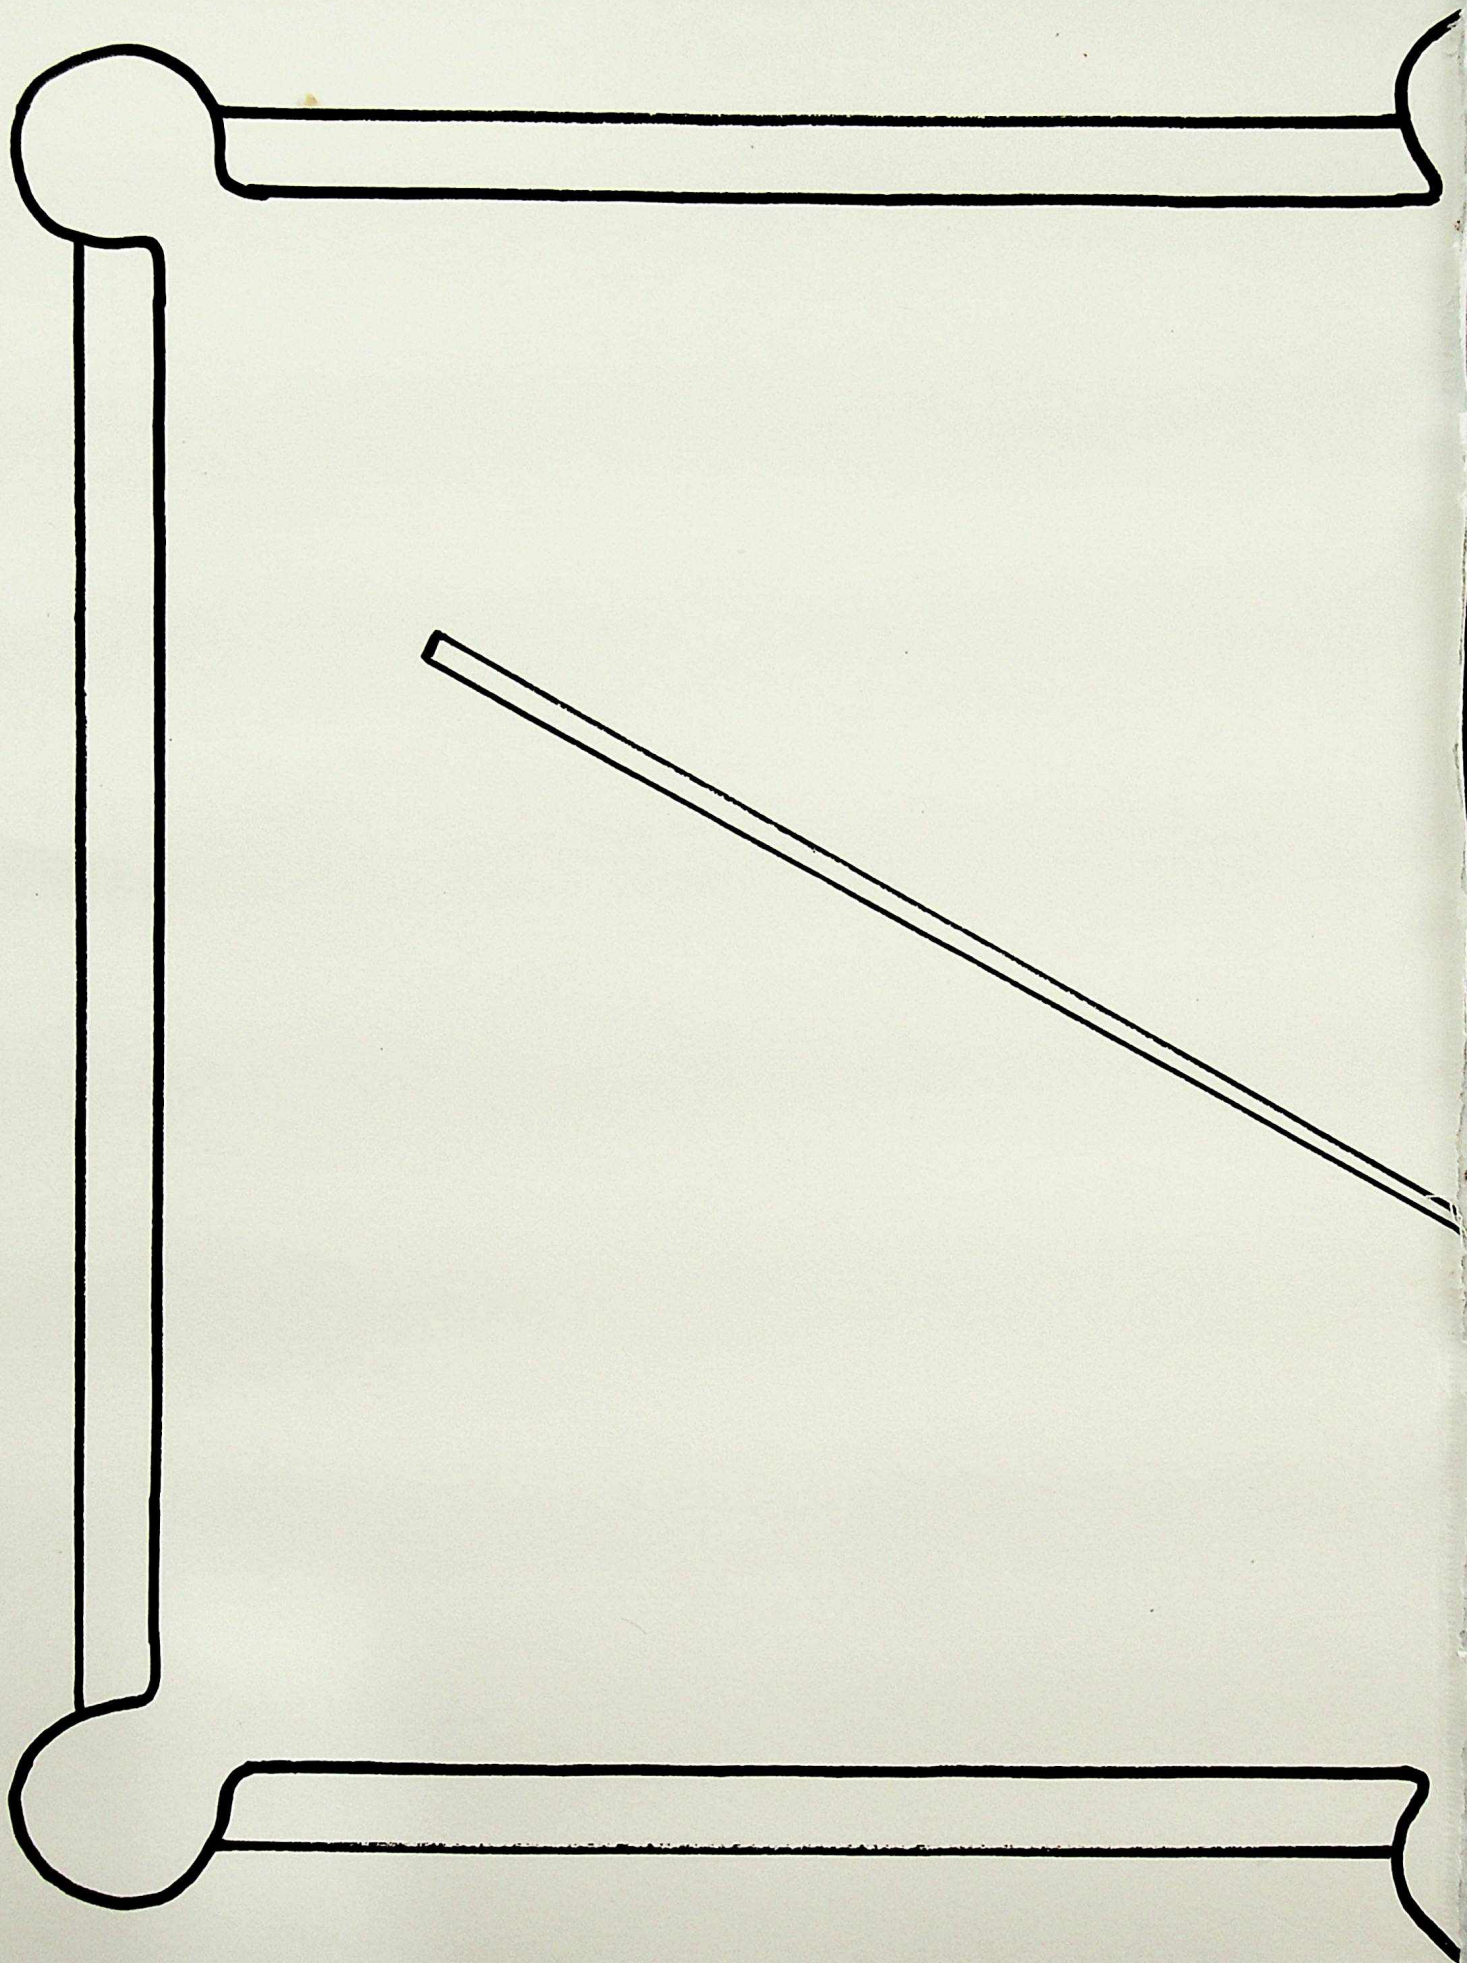

Closing Ceremonies

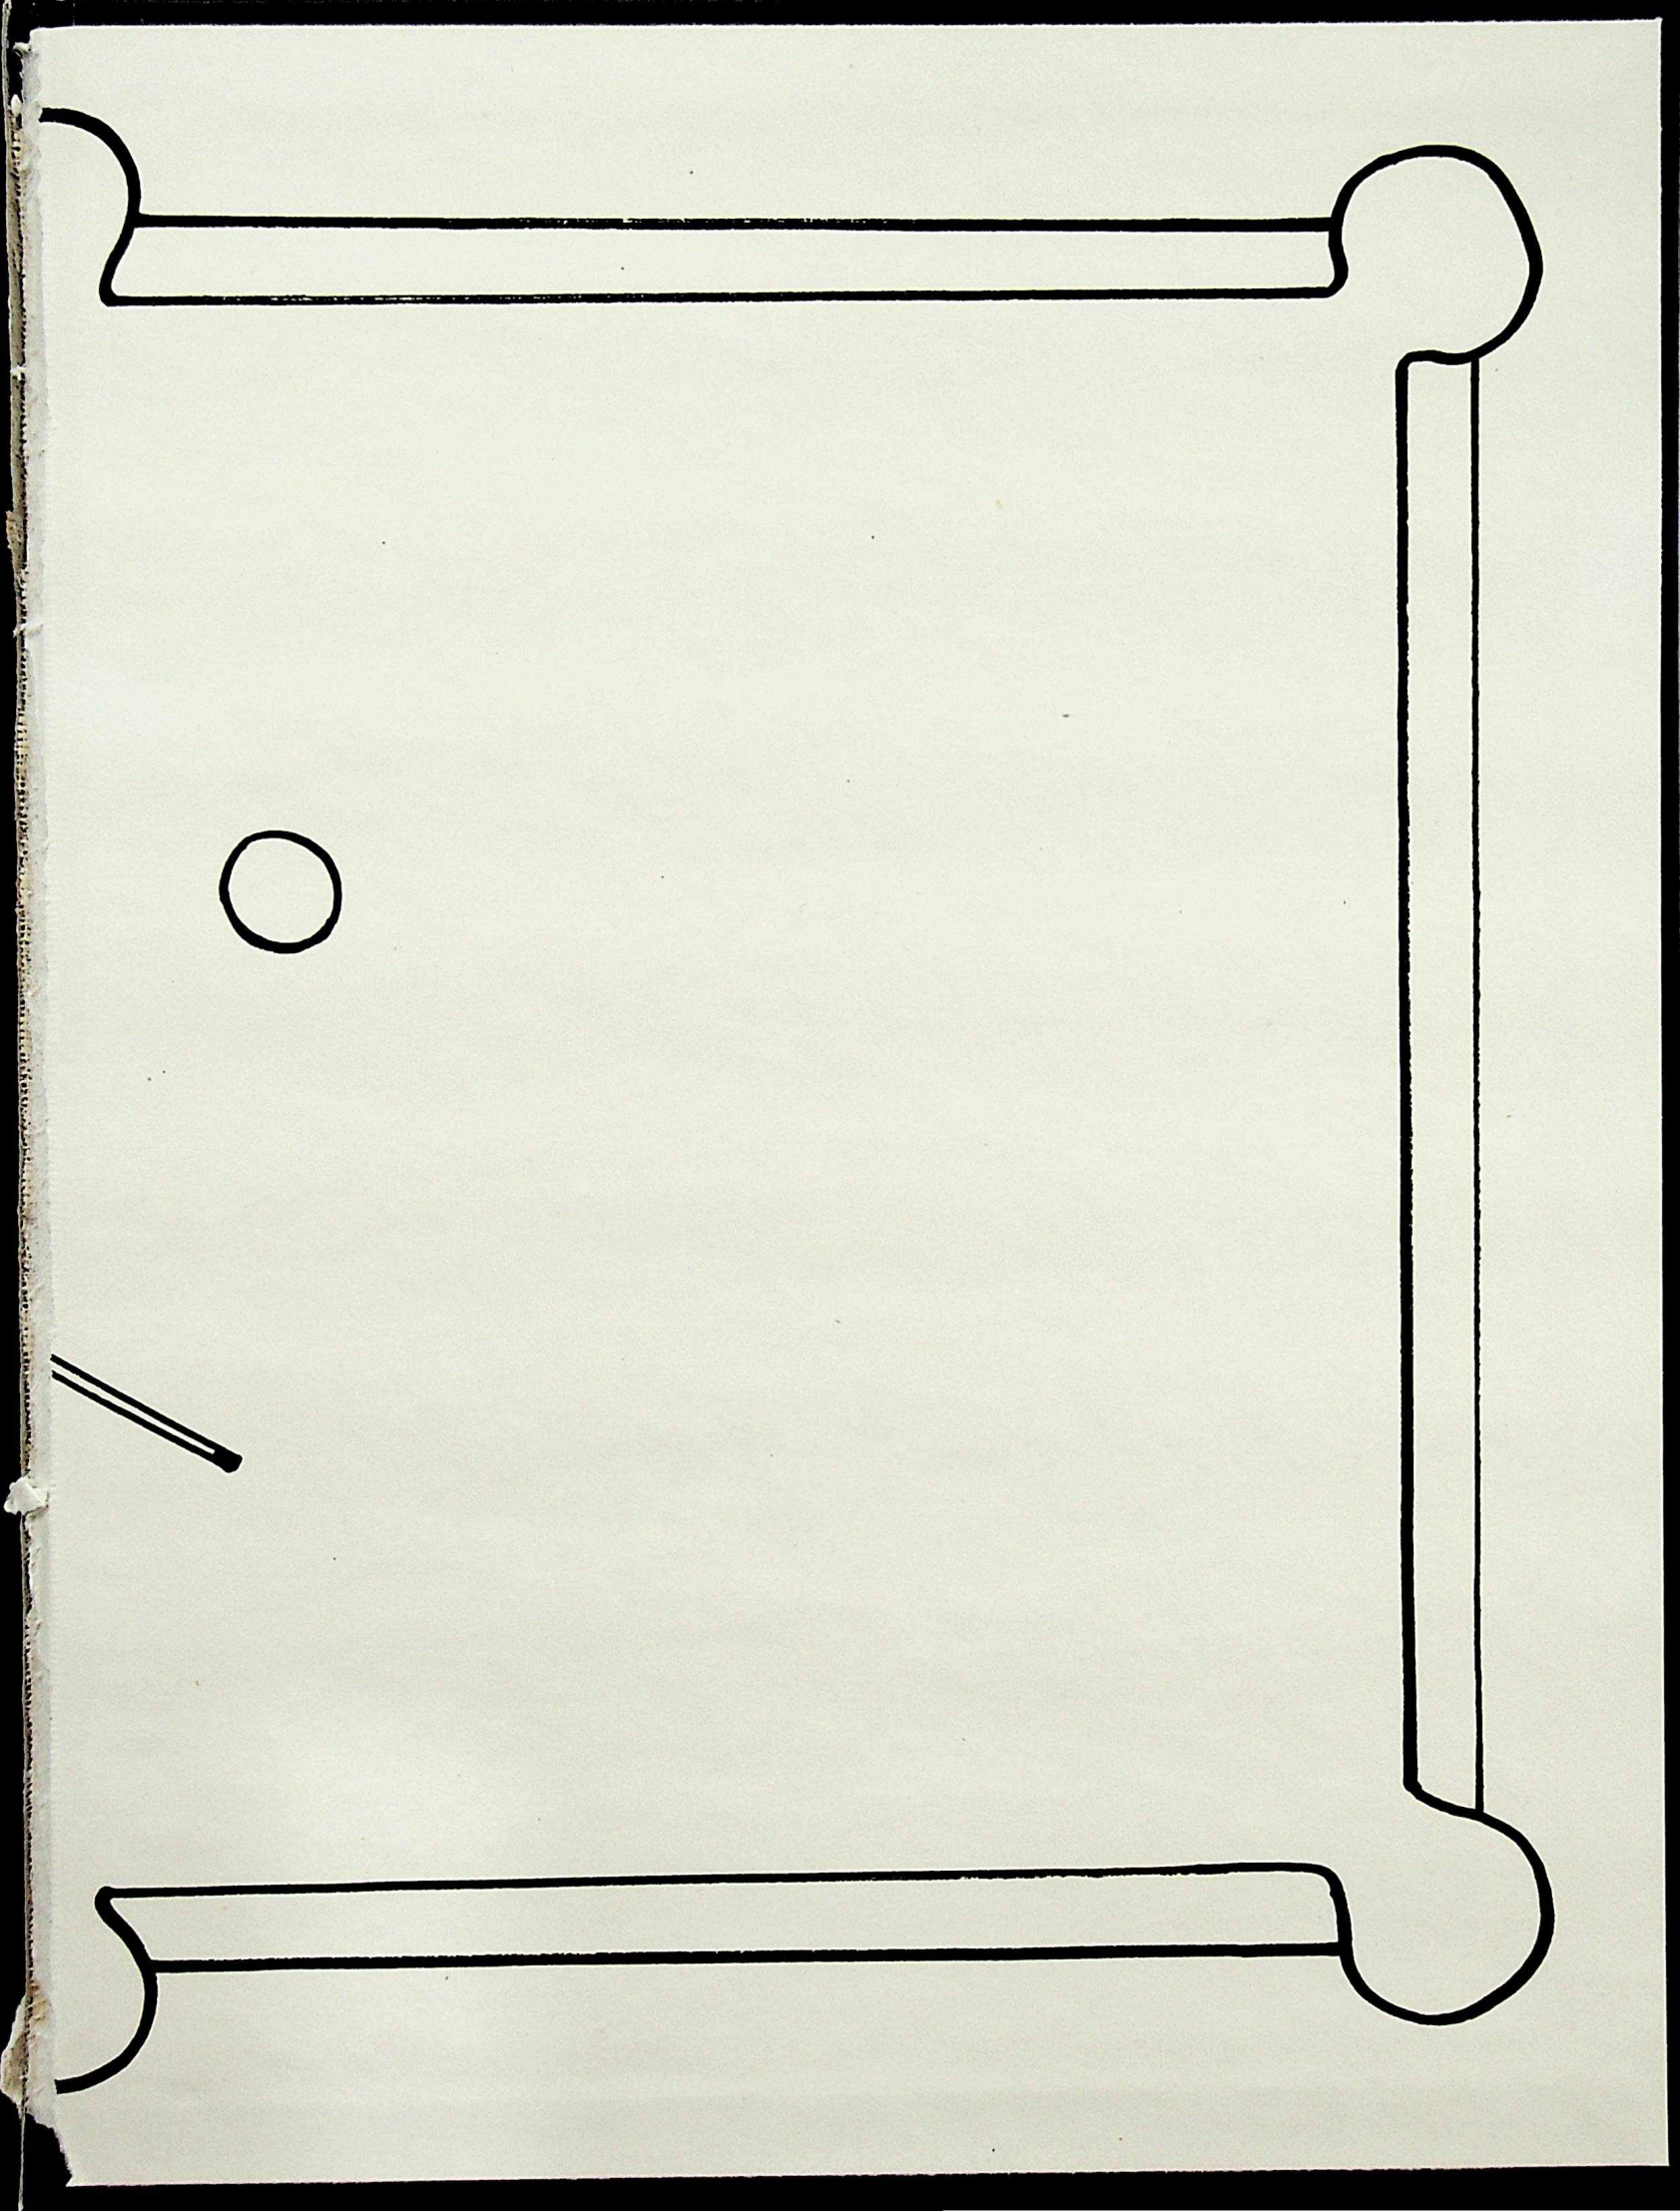

Tick, tick, tick...the hands of the clock move ever so slowly as the end of the last class of the last day of school approaches. Finally, RIIIIINNG!!!, school is over and you breathe a sigh of relief at having survived the myriad challenges of the school year. As you sign yearbooks and say good-byes, the memories of your year at McNally come rushing back....
